Schirra, Stafford Get Welcome From Cape

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. — Gemini 6 astronauts Walter Schirra and Thomas P. Stafford returned to Cape Kennedy today and said "thank you" to more than 400 people who made their space spectacular possible.

Waiting for them were members of the launch team, with a big white banner with red and black letters reading: "Welcome Wally and Tom from the Launch Team."

Escorted by astronaut Alan Shepard, who made the first trip into space for the United States, Schirra and Stafford walked to a microphone.

"It was the most perfect launch we ever saw," Schirra told the launch team. "Both Gemini vehicle and spacecraft did the job."

Stafford added:

"All I can do is re-emphasize what Wally said, that we can't thank you enough for the great support."

TO BERMUDA

Schirra and Stafford — two happy, healthy astronauts—flew to Bermuda earlier today from the prime recovery ship Wasp.

The Wasp's 2,400 men got ready for the wrapup of their double-header "Spirit of 76" down of the Gemini 7 craft torecovery mission, the splashdown of Gemini 1 craft tomorrow.

Schirra and Stafford, each flying co-pilot on a twin-engine Gruman airplane, were catapulted off the Wasp's flight deck at 7 a.m.

From Bermuda, an Air Force jet flew them to Cape Kennedy to continue debriefing on their spectacular rendezvous with Gemini 7 in space and their splashdown yesterday in the Atlantic almost within swimming range of this big aircraft carrier.

MEDICAL CHECK

Schirra and Stafford went to bed after going through a second heart and blood pressure check in the Wasp's sick bay, last night.

A shower and a short rest in their cabin had been followed by a candlelit dinner with the ship's officers, who were told by Schirra, clad like Stafford in aqua-blue overalls:

"Merry Christmas to all of you and thank you so much for giving us some of your hard earned holidays."

Full 14-Days Goal Assured For Gemini 7

SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP)—The Gemini 7 pilots — assured that the power-producing fuel cells of their space ship would not fail them—hurtled confidently onward today to the big goal of 14 days in space.

After a night of worry over the power system, flight directors determined that it would hold up, and gave the world space endurance champions Frank Borman and James Lovell a "go" for the full distance of 5,149,400 miles.

This would bring them to a landing in the Atlantic Ocean at 6:05 a.m. PST tomorrow, in the same area where spacemen Walter Schirra and Thomas Stafford brought the Gemini 6 down yesterday near the waiting aircraft carrier Wasp.

"There's no reason," astronaut Elliot See told Borman and Lovell in a statewide pass this morning, "that we shouldn't go straight on downhill from now on."

The Gemini 7 astronauts were so sure of themselves that they made a bet with Schirra and Stafford during their historic rendezvous in space Wednesday that they would make a more accurate landing. Gemini 6 missed the aircraft carrier Wasp by less than 15 miles.

The stakes were not disclosed but Borman asked today for accurate figures on the Gemini 6 splashdown point. "There's a lot riding on that," he told mission control.

Defrosting Is Forecast For Weekend

San Rafael, with a low temperature reading of 31 degrees this morning, was one of the warmest spots in Marin County, as a cold snap snapped colder.

But the Weather Bureau today said things should start to defrost tomorrow, as the winds shift, coming from the south and bringing clouds and possibly rain.

Holding the record for the county, as usual, was Woodacre, with 19 degrees before dawn today, two degrees colder than yesterday. Novato acme next with a 23-degree reading.

Inverness, Larkspur, Point Reyes Station, Tamalpais Valley and Terra Linda all recorded lows of 28, followed by Belvedere, Mill Valley, Ross and San Anselmo a degree higher and Bolinas and Fairfax at 30. Sausalito was scorching at 36.

Frost covered the ground at lower altitudes, and was especially thick near sea level, as the cold air froze puddles and ponds. There was a thin layer of ice across the east end of Belvedere Lagoon between Peninsula and Cove roads this morning.

Atop Mount Tamalpais, Lt. Jerry Wolfram reported that a pool of water, formed when one man washed his car, had remained frozen for the past four days.

Professors Debate Whys Of Viet War

By STEPHEN COOK

The United States position in the Viet Nam war was debated by four College of Marin instructors yesterday afternoon before an overflowing audience of more than 400 students in the college's Olney Hall.

Their only points of agrement were that war is bad and it is paradoxical that, in Viet Nam and other parts of the world, freedom-loving Americans support governments which are not the popular choice.

Donald Palmer of the Spanish department attributed this dilemma to "an anti-Communist psychosis which has reduced us to a negative foreign policy."

English instructor James Heig said a decision to support an unpopular government instead of one which is both popular and Communist is a "humiliating but necessary choice."

"A Communist Viet Nam would undermine liberty and make all other countries in Southeast Asia vulnerable. We must draw the line and fight somewhere," he said.

Palmer, who won student laughter several times with phrases such as "the comic book-inspired attitude of good and bad guys in American foreign policy," listed some actions he thought the United States should take immediately:

Cease bombing of North Viet Nam. State we are ready to negotiate with anyone. Propose a cease-fire. Recognize the right

Korea Hero Describes Asia Peril, Patriotism

A tall, silver-haired gentleman, who lived three years as wartime prisoner of the Communist North Koreans, then was awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor, spoke of patriotism and duty to a sparse audience of Redwood High School students yesterday.

Retired Maj. Gen. William S. Dean spoke to 67 students who met "to convey our moral support and the Christmas spirit to our men in Viet Nam."

Standing straight-backed before a podium in the Redwood High School little theater, the General first told of his ordeal as a prisoner of the communists from 1950 to 1953.

His captors told him daily that American youth "lacked courage, integrity and patriotism," he said.

He said when he returned to this country, he felt rather like Rip Van Winkle awakening after a long sleep.

"It certainly was heartening to see that the youth were finer than ever before."

The general cited some activities of the Viet Nam Day Committee as traitorous. "If something is wrong, there is a way to correct it—we have the vote. We don't take matters into our own hands," he declared.

Dean told the students this is not the time for debate. "It is so important that we show our support to soldiers in the field and close ranks behind the administration," the General said.

At the start of the meeting, rally coordinator Sandy Allman explained to the General and the audience that the purpose of the assembly was to lend support to American troops during the Christmas season.

Following his talk, the General and the students signed a large Christmas card which will be sent to troops in Viet Nam.

Terrorist Bomb Injures U.S. Men In Saigon

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A teen-age terrorist tossed a grenade into a truckload of U.S. soldiers in Saigon today, injuring 12 GIs.

It was Saigon's fourth straight day of terrorism marking the fifth anniversary Monday of the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front.

The would-be assassin, about 15 or 16, fled in the confusion on the busy street. Only one of the Americans was seriously injured.

In North Viet Nam, Communist MIGs took to the air — but cautiously — during another day of heavy bombardment.

American pilots reported sighting seven Soviet-built MIG-17s which kept a discreet distance while apparently trailing the U.S. jets. An Air Force spokesman said the American planes were too short on fuel to take on the Communist jets.

Two U.S. planes were lost in other operations.

Carpenter Describes Life In Space, Sea

By ALAN P. CUNNINGHAM

Astronaut - aquanaut Malcolm Scott Carpenter today thrilled an audience of Mill Valley seventh and eighth graders by describing his experiences in outer space and beneath the sea, and vowed that he still hopes to be among the first men to reach the moon.

Navy Commander Carpenter, the only man to go from a orbital flight to an experiment 205 feet beneath the Pacific Ocean, appeared at Edna Maguire School as 1965 chairman of the Christmas seal drive of the National Tuberculosis Assn.

As expected, however, most of the questions from pupils—and members of the press—dealt with his exploits in outer space and deep water.

After a brief press conference, which included reporters and photographers from the county's school newspapers, Carpenter appeared before two assemblies, first for eight graders and then for seventh graders.

To the pupils, he offered several admonitions, in addition to the plea that they and their parents buy Christmas seals:

First, he urged them to "not to lose sight of the fact that the next six or eight years of your life are the most important," and to study hard, even if it means missing out on fun sometimes.

Later, he said, "there is a growing tendency in this nation to get a little bit soft," some of which he blamed on school buses and television watching. He told the youngsters to "get plenty of exercise," and confessed that he would like to see gymnastics gain more popularity.

"I think that is the greatest sport there is," he said.

As for smoking, his message was simple: "Just forget about cigarettes and you'll be thankful some day."

Carpenter said he hopes to return to the Advanced Apollo Project, which will actually carry men to the moon. For the time being, however, he will stay with Sealab.

Next step in that project, he said, is a 450-foot descent (Sealab 2 went to 205 feet this year), scheduled for March, 1967. A later mission will go to 600 feet, and, in 1969, men are to be sent to 1,000 feet for up to three months at a time.

Carpenter said he found the underwater experiment much

Cushion Craft Whisks Supervisors Across Bay

By RICHARD LYTTLE

Marin County supervisors were whisked from San Rafael to San Francisco in 19 minutes this morning as a high speed hovercraft, being tested for commercial transportation, put on a VIP demonstration.

The 16-seat, Bell Aerosystems air-cushion craft loaded on the parking lot at Loch Lomond Marina and departed at 9:47 a.m.

At 10:02, with spray flying from under its thick rubber skirts, it skimmed under the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge. At 10:05 is passed the Tiburon Net Depot. At 10:06 it frightened the devil out of a loon, and at 10:07 it was midway through Racoon Straits.

Pilot Clifford Olivera of Dublin slowed the craft to pass across the wake of a tug at 10:02 and then brought the craft up on a small beach at 10:15. Wrong beach.

Olivera eased the hovercraft away and in a minute put it up on the beach at the St. Francis Yacht Club, much to the amazement of a lone surf fisherman.

The test craft, built at a cost of $275,000, gave a smooth ride

Ford Heiress Weds Shipper

ST. MORITZ, Switzerland (AP) — Automobile heiress Charlotte McDonnell Ford and Greek shipping magnate Stavros Spyros Niarchos arrived today to honeymoon at the same Alpine resort where her father honeymooned last February.

Charlotte

Miss Ford, 24-year-old elder daughter of Henry Ford II, and the 56-year-old Greek were married in Juarez, Mexico, yesterday by a civil judge one day after Niarchos received a divorce from his second wife.

The couple came to Zurich in a chartered Boeing 707 jetliner and immediately took off in a private jet for Niarchos' chalet overlooking St. Moritz, the winter sports resort where her father honeymooned early this year with his second wife, Italian-born Maria Austin.

Niarchos

The marriage of Niarchos and Miss Ford was announced in New York by a spokesman for Ford and his divorced wife, Mrs. Anne McDonnell Ford.

The wedding announcement said the couple would live in Europe.

French Chef Quitting White House

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rene Verdon, the French chef Mrs. John F. Kennedy brought to the White House to add some spice to state dinners, is quitting effective Jan. 1.

Mrs. Elizabeth Carpenter, press secretary to Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson, said today that Verdon was resigning for "personal reasons" and that his replacement would be announced shortly after the first of the year.

Verdon

The French-born Verdon was reported to be feuding with Mrs. Mary Kaltman, the petite blonde divorcee Mrs. Johnson hired to serve as White House "food coordinator" and housekeeper.

Mrs. Carpenter would not confirm that Verdon and Mrs. Kaltman were at odds. She would say only that Mrs. Kaltman, who formerly served as food coordinator at the Driskill Hotel in Austin, Hex., was hired to coordinate the White House's three kitchens for "economy" reasons.

Dotson Files

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — U. James Dotson filed suit for separate maintenance yesterday against his wife, Anita Oser Dotson, great-granddaughter of John D. Rockefeller and Cyrus H. McCormick.

Mail Rush Feared

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A last minute avalanche of Christmas mail is threatening to clog the U.S. Postal System, Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien said yesterday.

NATO Ends Parley—No Solutions

PARIS (UPI) —The North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) has concluded its 1965 review without solving any of its basic problems, leaving its future in a continued state of uncertainty.

Militarily strong, the Alliance remains in a state of political semi-paralysis, pending its reorganization which may be started some time in the new year.

With France continuing her go-it-alone policy, with most of the Europeans unwilling to increase their defense contributions and the threat of aggression shifting increasingly to the Far Eastern scene, NATO leaders have tacitly agreed to shelve their differences over the future scope of the Alliance.

France has made known she will present her plans for revamping NATO early in the new year, which could amount to virtual withdrawal from the joint defense posture. Britain, preoccupied with her east-of-Suez policy has told the Alliance she cannot meet demands for a greater contribution to NATO.

The United States has received little response from the Allies for support of the Viet Nam war, and may eventually have to withdraw some of her forces from Europe in the event of further escalation.

Reuther Backs Grape Pickers

DELANO (AP) — Walter Reuther, AFL-CIO vice president, pledged organized labor's support Thursday at the scene of a 101-day-old grape pickers strike in California's central Valley.

Strikers, many of them Filipinos and Mexican-Americans, shouted "Viva Reuther!" when the president of the United Auto Workers declared: "You've got to win this strike and we're going to stay with you until you do."

Reuther met with pickers in front of a packing shed in Delano, 300 miles southeast of San Francisco, after a personal tour of struck vineyards.

Santo Domingo Reds Take Over 40 Blocks

SANTO DOMINGO (UPI) — Communist-led mobs seized control of a 40-block area of downtown Santo Domingo last night in an orgy of violence recalling the early days of the abortive April revolt.

U.S. paratroopers and Dominican police cordoned off the mob-held area, but made no immediate effort to clear the streets.

The rioters blocked streets leading into their area of the city with barricades improvised from garbage cans, automobiles and the wreckage of smashed store fronts. In many cases, the barricades were set on fire.

The seizure of the downtown area climaxed a day of rioting during which a U.S. Army truck was burned by the mobs, which were exhorted by Communist street-corner orators to "fight . . . the Yankee invaders."

A U.S. Army spokesman said no American soldiers were injured.

Gas-masked U.S. troops with bayonets fixed used "riot control" gas to disperse one mob early in the rioting, but the attack was not pressed home.

Sporadic rifle fire echoed throughout the city. There was no immediate report of gunshot casualties.

Maugham Estate Speculation Topic

LONDON (AP)—British newspapers estimated today that author .W Somerset Maugham left an estate of more than $5.6 million.

Films, plays, television adaptations and reissues of his works are expected to keep royalties flowing into the estate for years.

SAFETY FIRST — Naval Commander M. Scott Carpenter, the nation's only astronaut-aquanaut, left Marin today with four souvenirs: safety hats for his youngsters, made by E. D. Bullard Co. of Sausalito and presented in this ceremony at Mill Valley's Edna Maguire School. more strenuous than the weightlessness of outer space, where "you could lift a mountain if you had something to stand on."

Value of the Sealab experiment, he said, ranges from data sought by submarine forces to solutions for the food dilemmas of the population explosion.

He also spelled out the significance of this week's much-heralded rendezvous between Gemini 6 and 7 space capsules:

"We demonstrated Wednesday that we have the radar, the ranging, the computers, guidance and tracking systems, and that we have well enough trained pilots" to achieve one of the key steps in the plan to dock two spacecraft in an orbit around the moon.

"Now, we can go to the Apollo project with assurance our ideas are sound," he said.

Carpenter scotched tales that the Soviet Union has not actually completed some of the space feats for which it has taken credit.

"This is a rumor which complacent people find comforting, but it is a dangerous thing to believe, because it is not so," he declared.

He said the Russians have good men and a good program, "and have not lost any men in space flight."

ed to applause of the newsmen. Earlier, when it was shown to flight controllers, they rose in a standing ovation.

They showed the Gemini 7 soaring gracefully through the skies, with the earth in the background and were comparable in quality to those taken of astronaut Edward White during his "epace walk" in the Gemini 4 mission.

The sun's reflections on Gemini 7 were bright gold.

The film was delivered before dawn after it was brought down yesterday aboard Gemini 6. More film is aboard Gemini 7 which is still in orbit.

Charles Mathews, Gemini program manager, said the first shots were of Gemini 7 at a distance of about 100 feet from Gemini 6. Both were speeding along at 17,500 miles an hour.

Gemini 7 came closer and the next shot showed the two spacecraft about 50 feet apart.

Then, in dramatic detail, the nose of Gemini 7 turned toward the camera and the two vehicles were face-to-face.

The capsule, in space at the time for 12 days, "looked brand new," a space agency official said.

Officials who had examined the film closely said there was "evidence" of smudges on the windows of the Gemini 7 craft. There was no explanation for them.

prevailed during the Gemini 6 re-entry will continue tomorrow, forecasters said.

A warning light, supposed to indicate fuel cell trouble although ground station monitors said the unit's power output was normal, flashed on yesterday. It finally flickered out about 2:20 a.m. today but started burning anew before completion of another orbit.

John D. Hodge, the overnight flight director, said the cell nevertheless would last at least 150 hours beyond the end of the scheduled 14-day mission.

Mill Valley School Sites On Agenda

Mill Valley School District trustees will hold a special meeting tomorrow to talk about values of existing school sites, getting an additional relocatable classroom and to take a field trip of existing and proposed school sites.

The meeting starts at 10 a.m. at Edna Maguire School, 80 Lomita Drive, with an audio-visual presentation of the Granada School in Reed School District. Value of existing school sites will be discussed at 11:45 a.m. and, following a noon recess, the board will take its tour.

Christmas Light Thief Returns To Get Rest

Joseph Wagner of 33 Birch Avenue, Corte Madera, who complained Wednesday that someone had stolen six Christmas tree lights from the front of his home, called police last night to report the vandals returned and took the lights they left behind the first night.

Meeting Postponed

A meeting of the Sleepy Hollow Homes Assn. scheduled for last night was cancelled for lack of a quorum. Next meeting is scheduled at 8 p.m. Jan. 6 at the Sleepy Hollow clubhouse.

Cong battalion badly mauled a government company 22 miles northwest of the capital, inflicting heavy casualties. The Reds fled before a relief column came to the scene.

In the South, American aircraft aimed at Viet Cong river shipping in the Mekong River Delta south of Saigon. Pilots claimed 24 sampans were sunk.

Terrorists struck twice last night. A traffic policeman and four Vietnamese civilians were injured by a Viet Cong grenade, and a Vietnamese police guard was shot in the stomach.

In Washington, the Johnson administration indicated it might accept the Viet Cong's offer of a 12-hour Christmas truce. Administration sources said there will be a lull of some kind in Allied war activity if the Communists do not try for military advantage during the cease-fire.

In a lull last February during the Vietnamese lunar new year celebrations, the Viet Cong stealthily moved in supplies and reinforcements, then killed eight American servicemen, wounded 62 and destroyed several helicopters in an attack at Pleiku. President Johnson immediately ordered the start of the air war against North Viet Nam.

The Pentagon reported that as of last Monday 1,496 Americans had been killed in Viet Nam since January 1961. Of these, 1,241 fell this year and most since midsummer.

U.S. Air Force officials in Saigon said the Communist MIG jets have been quietly testing American air defenses in Viet Nam and those of U.S. 7th Fleet ships in the South China Sea.

They said the prowling MIGs keep far enough away to avoid interception by U.S. jets and missiles. But the officials did not rule out the possibility of a Communist strike in the future. U.S. warplanes have been virtually unopposed by enemy aircraft over North Viet Nam, although ground fire has been heavy.

The officials indicated some concern that the Communist planes, although outdated by U.S. standards, might try a desperation stab at the big air base at Da Nang, 380 miles northeast of Saigon, or at the 7th Fleet off Viet Nam, which includes the nuclear-powered carrier Enterprise.

of the Vietnamese people to self-determination.

Political science instructor Robert Essig cautioned it is not practical to point to our country's past mistakes. Instead, he said, the United States should pursue its present policy and work for negotiations "which will obviously come about very shortly."

The negotiations, he said, must reach a compromise which will partially satisfy both our policy of containment of the Chinese Communists and North Viet Nam's desire for a unified Veit Nam.

An independent South Viet Nam, he said, is not practical. He proposed a federation of the two states.

Political scientist Samuel Schwartz responded that negotiations will never come if we continue our course of bombing North Viet Nam.

Schwartz recalled that when the United States embassy in Saigon was bombed, President Johnson said, "such outrages just make us more determined."

"I submit," Schwartz said, "that that is just the effect our bombings have on the North Vietnamese."

The discussion was sponsored by the Satyagraha Club, a college organization which "supports political change through non-violent means."

Tam Student Due To Study In Chile

TERRY COPPERMAN
People-to-People choice

Terry Copperman, a Tamalpais High School junior, has been selected to be the first student to attend school in Sausalito's sister city, Vina del Mar, Chile, under Sausalito's People-to-People program.

Copperman, 16, is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Copperman of 519 Browning Street, Mill Valley.

Leslie R. Wood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Wood of 20 Valley Circle, Mill Valley, was selected as alternate.

The choices were announced today by Ted Borla, selection committee chairman, who said he, Mrs. F. Conger Fawcett and Mrs. M. Justin Herman based their decision on grades, ability to speak Spanish, good citizenship and being a good representative to be sent abroad.

Borla visited Vina last year to meet with People-to-People representatives there who are arranging to send a student, yet to be announced, to attend Tamalpais next September.

Borla said young Copperman will leave in February, for the Chilean school year of March to December, and will reside with a family in Vina.

Copperman's father is a plumber, his mother a planner for the City of Richmond. He has three brothers and a sister.

He is a student of fifth year high school Spanish and his main emphasis in high school is on foreign languages. He also studies Latin and belongs to the Spanish honor society and the Tamalpais Organization for Human Relations.

Loren L. Jay, People-to-People committee chairman, said the student selected had to be a Tamalpais High School student since that is Sausalito's high school.

Copperman will probably attend the Liceo de Hombres at Vina, a public high school for boys. Hernan Gatica and Max Aguero of that high school were exchange students to schools in the Bay Area in 1963 and 1965 and at that time visited Sausalito for the anniversary of the sister city affiliation.

The Sausalito People-to-People committee is asking contributions to help defray expenses of sending its first representative to Chile. Persons wishing to contribute, said Jay, may do so through Mrs. Thomas Laufer of 164 Spencer Avenue, Sausalito.

Grand Jury Report Omits Merger, Mortuary Items

A special report on the coroner's office, released today by the law enforcement committee of the 1965 Marin County Grand Jury, recommended that the post of public administrator and public guardian be withdrawn from the coroner's duties.

The committee suggests public administrator duties be transferred by the county board of supervisors "to an appropriate county office for administration," with the county counsel as attorney for the public administrator.

The report makes no recommendation for merger of the coroner's office itself with any other office. George R. Scott, jury foreman, verbally reported yesterday that study of some such merger was suggested. County Administrator Alan Bruce has proposed merging the office with that of district attorney.

The coroner's office now is costing taxpayers $40,000 annually, the report says. It could be increased by giving the coroner an additional assistant and raising salaries and still be kept within $60,000 a year, the jury found. Necessary personnel in the district attorney's office to perform the coroner's duties would cost between $70,000 and $75,000 per year, according to the report.

The report makes these recommendations for the coroner's office:

Addition of another trained full-time inspector; monthly meetings with the Marin County Medical Society, thereby keeping doctors abreast of the coroner's operation; providing pathologists with recording equipment for records of autopsies, steps toward finding a suitable site for a county morgue.

Arrangements might be made with Marin General Hospital to acquire space for the morgue, the report suggests.

The report makes no mention whatever of Coroner Frank J. Keaton "immediately divorcing himself" from his mortuary business, which foreman Scott said yesterday had been agreed upon by the grand jury.

The report said many citizens prefer to keep the coroner's office elective as a check against appointed officers. "For those who desire to have a medical man represent them as coroner, there is no reason why a doctor, as a candidate, should not stand for election," it noted.

A committee was formed today to oppose any change in the existing office of coroner-public administrator.

Mrs. Carolyn George of 45 Greenfield Avenue, San Rafael, announced she has formed a committee which will begin circulating petition asking the board of supervisors to make no change.

Bolinas-Stinson School Building Bids Opened

Bolinas - Stinson School District trustees last night opened four bids for the proposed construction of an added classroom facility and two restrooms at Bolinas School. No action was taken, the board setting Monday at 8 p.m. at Bolinas School as the time to award the contract.

Bidders were: Page Construction, Santa Rosa, $56,950; Olson Construction, Santa Rosa, $57,716; McLean Construction, Point Reyes Station, $60,698, and Rapp Construction, Santa Rosa, $68,000. Clerk Arthur E. Carpenter said that alternates may increase or decrease the bid figures by about $1,000.

Larkspur Trustees Hit Poverty Funds Cutback

The district's staff planned two programs to qualify for $22,634, then learned the allocation was cut in half to $11,633, Supt. Milton S. Cohen explained to the board.

The district will still attempt to get funds to keep school libraries open at night and provide courses in study habits, Cohen said. The cutback forced the district to drop plans for a program to identify problem and gifted students before they enter school.

The Larkspur School District also:

1. Accepted as complete four classrooms and blacktopping at San Clemente School and four classrooms and a library at Henry C. Hall School.

2. Urged that, whenever possible, more team teaching programs be initiated in the district after hearing a report on team teaching in district third grade classes.

Pope Expected To Set Date For Cardinals

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Reports circulated at the Vatican today that Pope Paul VI will announce before Christmas a consistory to create 12 new cardinals, probably on Feb. 5.

The reports were unofficial, but persistent, and said the announcement would be made by the Pope on Dec. 23 when he receives the Christmas greetings of cardinals in Rome.

Demos Praise County Marin City Interest

The Ross Valley Democratic Club last night passed a resolution lauding county supervisors for their interest in Marin City problems and urging the county to "take any financial or other action" needed there.

Speakers at the meeting were Supervisor Thomas T. Storer, who discussed the supervisors' concern with Marin City and John Brewer of the California Youth Authority, who spoke about Watts.

TEA FOR TWO—Mrs. Granville L. Beedle pours tea for her husband, secretary-manager of the Mill Valley Chamber of Commerce, from tea set given them as a wedding gift 50 years ago. They will observe their golden wedding with a party tomorrow.

Granville Beedles Fete Golden Years

"We hadn't been engaged very long . . . It was love at first sight. And so we kept moving up the time of getting married. Then I got a new job and we decided we would be married."

Granville L. Beedle, secretary-manager of the Mill Valley Chamber of Commerce, thus explained how he and his wife, Carol, happened to be married so near Christmas.

Beedle, so well known on Lytton Square in his village that he could be called "Mr. Mill Valley," and his wife will celebrate their golden wedding tomorrow.

Their sons and daughters plan a reception tomorrow afternoon at the Mill Valley Community Church.

"We met at a dance and picnic in Fair Oaks in Sacramento county," said Mrs. Beedle.

Beedle at that time was assistant manager of the Sacramento Chamber of Commerce. They were married at the home of Mrs. Beedle's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Simpson. Simpson was managing editor and part owner of the Sacramento Union, where his daughter worked covering music and drama events.

Beedle, now 77, was born in Nevada City, Nevada County. Mrs. Beedle was born in San Jose.

He carried papers as a boy and worked as a reporter on the Miner Transcript, a Nevada City weekly newspaper.

He has held various jobs in his career, though he retired 12 years ago, he came out of retirement to work for the chamber and set up its first office in the square in 1960.

Beedle worked for the Sacramento Chamber 18 months, then held jobs including that of office manager for Overland Automobile Agency in Sacramento, a 20-year stint in trade organizations in San Francisco and Los Angeles, a job with the War Production Board during World War II, and, finally, for Westinghouse Air Brake Co., San Francisco, as office manager. He retired from that position at age of 65.

The Beedles have six children and 22 grandchildren, all of whom plan to attend the reception except Lynn, who lives in Hellertown, Pa., where he is director of Fritz Engineering Laboratory at Lehigh University.

Their daughter, Carol Healy of Mill Valley, assists Beedle in the chamber office. Two other daughters are Mrs. Virginia Douglas of El Cerrito and Mrs. Jane Hildebrand of Chicago.

One son, John Beedle, office manager at E. D. Bullard Co. in Sausalito, lives in Mill Valley, and son Richard Beedle is Purity Store manager at Terra Linda and lives in Novato.

The Beedles first moved to Mill Valley in 1922. "We always came back to Mill Valley for vacations when we didn't live here and John was born in our first house," said Mrs. Beedle. They have lived in Mill Valley for 27 years now. Their home is at 25 Renz Road.

Loving to garden, they live among tall redwoods, some nutmeg trees and with a view of the mountain.

Mrs. Beedle, who first came to Mill Valley with her grandparents in 1896, recalls riding horse and buggy with the late Irv Dowd's Fashion Livery Stables, and walking on boardwalk sidewalks on Throckmorton Avenue. "There used to be Monarch butterflies at Cascade," she said.

Beedle, who is called "George" by his many friends, is often the first person the outsider meets in Mill Valley.

Visitors at the chamber office ask all kinds of questions, including "How high is the mountain?" "How far is it to the Golden Gate Bridge?" "Where can we stay at Muir Woods?" and "What is the humidity?"

The last is the toughest to answer, Beedle said. "You know, the humidity is different in various parts of town."

One question which is most often asked is "Where is there a hotel or motel where we may stay in Mill Valley?" "There is none," says Beedle, although years ago there were several.

Being busy is one of the secrets of a happy marriage, according to the golden wedding couple. "We are always busy," said Mrs. Beedle.

The couple have a round oak pedestal table in their dining-living room which was a wedding present and appears to have served a great many people. "I have had 23 around it," Mrs. Beedle said. "We always had lots and lots of company."

Combs, as implements of hair grooming, have been found by paleontologists in prehistoric stone-age dwellings.

Jensen To Get Air Conservation Award

Former Marin County Administrator Donald A. Jensen named "National Air Conservationist of the Year" will go to Washington, D.C., on Jan. 11 to attend the President's conservation awards banquet.

Jensen was selected for the honor by the National Wildlife Federation and the Sears-Roebuck Foundation for his work as executive officer of the California Motor Vehicle Pollution Control Board.

Jensen and his wife Lyn will attend the banquet to receive a whooping crane statuette and a checke for $1,000.

"President Lyndon B. Johnson has indicated he will make every effort to participate in the program and hopes to be able to personally present the award," wrote Thomas L. Kimball, executive director of the National Wildlife Federation.

Passing Motorist Puts Out A Fire

A woman motorist saw smoke and flames as she was passing the home of Lt. Col. John M. Carney at 1021 Las Raposas Road, Terra Linda, yesterday.

Mrs. Sandy Lee, 755 Knocknaboul Way, stopped her car, grabbed a garden hose and had doused the fire which had started in pine needles in the yard close by a storage shed by the time Terra Linda Fire Department arrived.

Coral Reefs Old, Scientists Find

HONOLULU (AP) — Midway Islands' coral reefs are at least 25 million years old, the Institute of Geophysics at the University of Hawaii estimates.

Court Orders New Trial In Murder Case

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The State Supreme Court has ordered a new trial for a man convicted in a robbery-murder case because police failed to tell him his right to legal counsel.

The court, in a 5-2 ruling Wednesday, ordered the new trial for Robin C. King Jr., sentenced to life in prison for a part in an Alhambra robbery resulting in the deaths of Police Sgt. George Davis and Edgar B. Weaver.

At the same time, however, the high court unanimously upof a second defendant in the case, Jesse J. Gilbert.

The robbery, involving $11,492, occurred Jan. 3 of last year. Police identified Weaver, one of the men killed, as an accomplice of King in the robbery.

Milk production in 1966 may reach above the 125.5 billion pounds expected for 1965, even though milk cow numbers are declining. Output per cow keeps rising.

Granville Beedles Fete Golden Years

"We hadn't been engaged very long . . . It was love at first sight. And so we kept moving up the time of getting married. Then I got a new job and we decided we would be married."

Granville L. Beedle, secretary-manager of the Mill Valley Chamber of Commerce, thus explained how he and his wife, Carol, happened to be married so near Christmas.

Beedle, so well known on Lytton Square in his village that he could be called "Mr. Mill Valley," and his wife will celebrate their golden wedding tomorrow.

Their sons and daughters plan a reception tomorrow afternoon at the Mill Valley Community Church.

"We met at a dance and picnic in Fair Oaks in Sacramento county," said Mrs. Beedle.

Beedle at that time was assistant manager of the Sacramento Chamber of Commerce. They were married at the home of Mrs. Beedle's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Simpson. Simpson was managing editor and part owner of the Sacramento Union, where his daughter worked covering music and drama events.

Beedle, now 77, was born in Nevada City, Nevada County. Mrs. Beedle was born in San Jose.

He carried papers as a boy and worked as a reporter on the Miner Transcript, a Nevada City weekly newspaper.

He has held various jobs in his career, though he retired 12 years ago, he came out of retirement to work for the chamber and set up its first office in the square in 1960.

Beedle worked for the Sacramento Chamber 18 months, then held jobs including that of office manager for Overland Automobile Agency in Sacramento, a 20-year stint in trade organizations in San Francisco and Los Angeles, a job with the War Production Board during World War II, and, finally, for Westinghouse Air Brake Co., San Francisco, as office manager. He retired from that position at age of 65.

The Beedles have six children and 22 grandchildren, all of whom plan to attend the reception except Lynn, who lives in Hellertown, Pa., where he is director of Fritz Engineering Laboratory at Lehigh University.

Their daughter, Carol Healy of Mill Valley, assists Beedle in the chamber office. Two other daughters are Mrs. Virginia Douglas of El Cerrito and Mrs. Jane Hildebrand of Chicago.

One son, John Beedle, office manager at E. D. Bullard Co. in Sausalito, lives in Mill Valley, and son Richard Beedle is Purity Store manager at Terra Linda and lives in Novato.

The Beedles first moved to Mill Valley in 1922. "We always came back to Mill Valley for vacations when we didn't live here and John was born in our first house," said Mrs. Beedle. They have lived in Mill Valley for 27 years now. Their home is at 25 Renz Road.

Loving to garden, they live among tall redwoods, some nutmeg trees and with a view of the mountain.

Mrs. Beedle, who first came to Mill Valley with her grandparents in 1896, recalls riding horse and buggy with the late Irv Dowd's Fashion Livery Stables, and walking on boardwalk sidewalks on Throckmorton Avenue. "There used to be Monarch butterflies at Cascade," she said.

Beedle, who is called "George" by his many friends, is often the first person the outsider meets in Mill Valley.

Visitors at the chamber office ask all kinds of questions, including "How high is the mountain?" "How far is it to the Golden Gate Bridge?" "Where can we stay at Muir Woods?" and "What is the humidity?"

The last is the toughest to answer, Beedle said. "You know, the humidity is different in various parts of town."

One question which is most often asked is "Where is there a hotel or motel where we may stay in Mill Valley?" "There is none," says Beedle, although years ago there were several.

Being busy is one of the secrets of a happy marriage, according to the golden wedding couple. "We are always busy," said Mrs. Beedle.

The couple have a round oak pedestal table in their dining-living room which was a wedding present and appears to have served a great many people. "I have had 23 around it," Mrs. Beedle said. "We always had lots and lots of company."

Combs, as implements of hair grooming, have been found by paleontologists in prehistoric stone-age dwellings.

Jensen To Get Air Conservation Award

Former Marin County Administrator Donald A. Jensen named "National Air Conservationist of the Year" will go to Washington, D.C., on Jan. 11 to attend the President's conservation awards banquet.

Jensen was selected for the honor by the National Wildlife Federation and the Sears-Roebuck Foundation for his work as executive officer of the California Motor Vehicle Pollution Control Board.

Jensen and his wife Lyn will attend the banquet to receive a whooping crane statuette and a checke for $1,000.

"President Lyndon B. Johnson has indicated he will make every effort to participate in the program and hopes to be able to personally present the award," wrote Thomas L. Kimball, executive director of the National Wildlife Federation.

Passing Motorist Puts Out A Fire

A woman motorist saw smoke and flames as she was passing the home of Lt. Col. John M. Carney at 1021 Las Raposas Road, Terra Linda, yesterday.

Mrs. Sandy Lee, 755 Knocknaboul Way, stopped her car, grabbed a garden hose and had doused the fire which had started in pine needles in the yard close by a storage shed by the time Terra Linda Fire Department arrived.

Coral Reefs Old, Scientists Find

HONOLULU (AP) — Midway Islands' coral reefs are at least 25 million years old, the Institute of Geophysics at the University of Hawaii estimates.

Court Orders New Trial In Murder Case

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The State Supreme Court has ordered a new trial for a man convicted in a robbery-murder case because police failed to tell him his right to legal counsel.

The court, in a 5-2 ruling Wednesday, ordered the new trial for Robin C. King Jr., sentenced to life in prison for a part in an Alhambra robbery resulting in the deaths of Police Sgt. George Davis and Edgar B. Weaver.

At the same time, however, the high court unanimously upheld the conviction of a second defendant in the case, Jesse J. Gilbert.

The robbery, involving $11,492, occurred Jan. 3 of last year. Police identified Weaver, one of the men killed, as an accomplice of King in the robbery.

Milk production in 1966 may reach above the 125.5 billion pounds expected for 1965, even though milk cow numbers are declining. Output per cow keeps rising.

CLOUD OF SPRAY—San Francisco Bay's test hovercraft leaves Loch Lomond Marina trailing a cloud of silvery spray today as Marin County supervisors take a demonstration ride. The 16-passenger craft will be demonstrated again tomorrow at Marin Heliport at Waldo Point, starting at 10 a.m.

Bigger, Heavier Planes Set For Reserve Wing

The Golden Gate Reserve Troop Carrier Wing, based at Hamilton Air Force Base, soon will have bigger, heavier planes which will change its status.

The wing now is under the Tactical Air Command and transports troops and cargo in C-119 two-engine craft.

Next summer, the 16 C-119s at the base will be replaced by eight C-124 planes, which can carry approximately three times the amount of cargo. The C-124 has a maximum load capacity of 74,000 pounds.

The wing will become part of the Military Aircraft Command (formerly known as MATS) carrying primarily heavy cargo on longer flights in the bigger planes, named Globemasters.

The change will create approximately 50 additional Civil Service positions and 210 additional Air Force Reserve places, said Brig. Gen. Rollin B. Moore, wing commander. The bigger planes have larger crews and their four engines require more maintenance men.

An information officer at the base said Moore would remain as commander of the wing.

Stinson Nativity Pageant Cancelled

The Stinson Beach nativity pageant has been cancelled because of illness of Mrs. Fred Conradi. Mrs. Conradi, organist for the event, has influenza and another organist cannot be found, reported Mrs. Ira Switzer, director.

"We will go ahead with the children's party and the visit of Santa Claus," said Mrs. Switzer. The party, to include caroling and folk dancing by school children, will be at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the community center.

Children's Party Planned In Novato

The 15th Christmas party for the children of Novato will be held from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. tomorrow at the main Novato fire station on Grant Avenue, Novato, sponsored by the firemen.

Beverly Hills Rejects Funds

BEVERLY HILLS (AP) — This wealthy city of movie stars and millionaires has declined with a "thank you anyway," an offer of $82,875 in poverty funds.

"We really didn't feel we could honestly say the money was needed," said School Supt. Kenneth L. Peters. "We were able to find only eight children of 5,000 enrolled ho could possibly be classed as 'needy.'

"In our judgment, these children are not educationally deprived or handicapped. They are in small classes that average 25 and remedial help is available if needed."

despite some choppy wakes from conventional boats.

The hovercraft, powered by a gas turbine jet engine, is being tested as a joint project of San Francisco - Oakland Helicopters, Port of Oakland, and Bell Aerosystems, with assistance of a grant from the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency.

John Cunningham of SFO Helicopters told Marin supervisors before the ride that there are 566 passenger hovercraft under construction to cross the English Channel. These will cost $3 million each. They can be converted to carry 116 passengers and 33 autos.

Cunningham estimated that such a craft could provide passenger service from Marin to San Francisco at 70 per passenger, one way.

The supervisors seemed impressed both with these figures and today's ride.

The return trip included a demonstration of the craft's quick stop ability. It settled into the water gently, but came to a full sop from 60 mph within about 200 feet. The craft is 39 feet long.

The craft will be demonstrated again at 10 a.m. tomorrow at Marin Heliport at Waldo Point.

UAR Breaks With Britain

CAIRO (AP) — The United Arab Republic last night became the fifth African nation to break diplomatic relations with Britain over Rhodesia.

Earlier Ghana, Tanzania, Guinea and Mali heeded the call by the Organization of African Unity for its 36 members to break with London unless the British overthrew Prime Minister Ian Smith's Rhodesian government by last Wednesday.

Britain has imposed economic sanctions against Rhodesia but refuses to use force to bring down the Smith regime.

Cancer Donations

despite some choppy wakes from conventional boats.

The hovercraft, powered by a gas turbine jet engine, is being tested as a joint project of San Francisco - Oakland Helicopters, Port of Oakland, and Bell Aerosystems, with assistance of a grant from the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency.

John Cunningham of SFO Helicopters told Marin supervisors before the ride that there are 566 passenger hovercraft under construction to cross the English Channel. These will cost $3 million each. They can be converted to carry 116 passengers and 33 autos.

Cunningham estimated that such a craft could provide passenger service from Marin to San Francisco at 70 per passenger, one way.

The supervisors seemed impressed both with these figures and today's ride.

The return trip included a demonstration of the craft's quick stop ability. It settled into the water gently, but came to a full sop from 60 mph within about 200 feet. The craft is 39 feet long.

The craft will be demonstrated again at 10 a.m. tomorrow at Marin Heliport at Waldo Point.

UAR Breaks With Britain

CAIRO (AP) — The United Arab Republic last night became the fifth African nation to break diplomatic relations with Britain over Rhodesia.

Earlier Ghana, Tanzania, Guinea and Mali heeded the call by the Organization of African Unity for its 36 members to break with London unless the British overthrew Prime Minister Ian Smith's Rhodesian government by last Wednesday.

Britain has imposed economic sanctions against Rhodesia but refuses to use force to bring down the Smith regime.

Cancer Donations

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The California division of the American Cancer Society announced Wednesday that it had collected a record of more than $4 million in contributions in the state during the year that ended Aug. 31.

Bigger, Heavier Planes Set For Reserve Wing

The Golden Gate Reserve Troop Carrier Wing, based at Hamilton Air Force Base, soon will have bigger, heavier planes which will change its status.

The wing now is under the Tactical Air Command and transports troops and cargo in C-119 two-engine craft.

Next summer, the 16 C-119s at the base will be replaced by eight C-124 planes, which can carry approximately three times the amount of cargo. The C-124 has a maximum load capacity of 74,000 pounds.

The wing will become part of the Military Aircraft Command (formerly known as MATS) carrying primarily heavy cargo on longer flights in the bigger planes, named Globemasters.

The change will create approximately 50 additional Civil Service positions and 210 additional Air Force Reserve places, said Brig. Gen. Rollin B. Moore, wing commander. The bigger planes have larger crews and their four engines require more maintenance men.

An information officer at the base said Moore would remain as commander of the wing.

Stinson Nativity Pageant Cancelled

The Stinson Beach nativity pageant has been cancelled because of illness of Mrs. Fred Conradi. Mrs. Conradi, organist for the event, has influenza and another organist cannot be found, reported Mrs. Ira Switzer, director.

"We will go ahead with the children's party and the visit of Santa Claus," said Mrs. Switzer. The party, to include caroling and folk dancing by school children, will be at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the community center.

Children's Party Planned In Novato

The 15th Christmas party for the children of Novato will be held from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. tomorrow at the main Novato fire station on Grant Avenue, Novato, sponsored by the firemen.

Santa Claus will give candy and oranges to the children.

Beverly Hills Rejects Funds

BEVERLY HILLS (AP) — This wealthy city of movie stars and millionaires has declined with a "thank you anyway," an offer of $82,875 in poverty funds.

"We really didn't feel we could honestly say the money was needed," said School Supt. Kenneth L. Peters. "We were able to find only eight children of 5,000 enrolled ho could possibly be classed as 'needy.'

"In our judgment, these children are not educationally deprived or handicapped. They are in small classes that average 25 and remedial help is available if needed."

Can't erase the readership of Marin's Best-seller

Why does advertising in the I-J make a lasting impression on I-J readers? Why does it make a resounding "impression" on cash registers of hundreds of stores and dealers?

The reason is simple, yet it can mean the difference, in your business, between profit and loss. In the I-J, your ads become PART OF THE NEWS OF MARIN COUNTY. They team up news of your merchandise with LOCAL NEWS—the best-read, most wanted feature in the Independent-Journal.

Result: you gain the concentrated attention of the I-J's 40,600 families. Instead of coming in "by air," or in the vacuum of a circular, your advertising arrives in the home within Marin's best-selling news medium.

That's why the I-J is Marin's best-seller for advertisers. That's why merchants who carefully consider their costs, put THEIR stores in Marin's best-selling location — the 40,600 homes of the Independent-Journal.

NOW 73.4% COVERAGE OF THE RICHEST MARKET IN ALL 13 WESTERN STATES

When you combine the two—the I-J's coverage and readership with the responsiveness of the West's richest market, then you're aiming at full potential for your business.

Amazing how good ads . . . develop immediate store traffic . . . and leave a lasting impression!

Rails, Steels Climb In New York Stocks

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed mixed today. Trading was heavy.

In an early advance the market made a close approach to the Nov. 4 peak in the Dow Jones industrial average but it slipped below that.

Rails again moved into record ground and steels resumed their rally, helped by further reports of strengthening orders for steel.

Recent favorites among aerospace stocks, airlines, electronics and office equipments took a back seat as year-end profit taking and switching was in order.

Motors put on a fairly firm performance most of the day.

Volume for the day was estimated at 9.5 million shares compared with 9.97 million yesterday.

Here was the picture near the close:

Steels and rails still remained well ahead and Big Three motors were fractional gainers but most of the list was a hodge podge of gains and losses.

Illinois Central was up 1. New York Central with Pennsylvania Railroad each held a gain of 1½ while many other rails showed fractional gains.

Steels responded to further encouraging reports on demand for steel. Jones & Laughlin was up 1, Lukens 3, other major steelmakers fractions.

Averages were dampened by Du Pont, off 2; General Electric off about 1½; Kennecott, off about 1; and Jersey Standard, down a fraction.

Ahead about 2 were McDonnell Aircraft, Meredith Publishing, Allegheny Ludlum and Chicago Great Western preferred.

Losses of about a point were shown by Anaconda, Kennecott, Phelps Dodge and Northwest Airlines.

NAMED BANK DIRECTOR—Gordon H. Dohemann, president of Dohemann and Co., San Rafael real estate firm, has been elected a director of Lincoln Nationl Bank of Santa Rosa, which plans to open an office in San Rafael. Dohemann was formerly a vice president of the Draper Companies and before that managed the San Rafael office of Coldwell, Banker and Co. He and his family live at 228 Margarita Drive, San Rafael.

INCOME TAX FACTS

Lump Contributions And You'll Be Ahead

By PETER J. WIKEL, C.P.A.

If your itemized deductions and the standard deductions are both about the same and have been running that way in the past and you expect them to be about the same in 1966: then you might consider itemizing your deductions for 1965 and using the standard deduction for 1966.

P. J. Wikel

If you do this it becomes important to take all of the deductions possible in 1965.

Consider paying all of your contributions for 1965 and 1966 in December of 1965. In other words, pay them in advance.

Check with your bank or lending agency and see if you can pay the interest on your home for a year in advance.

The taxes on your home are payable one-half in November and one-half in April, but you can pay them all before the end of the year.

California will accept a prepayment of California income tax for 1965 provided an estimated return is filed with the tax payment. If you have a large California income tax, it might be advantageous to do this.

If you already have medical expenses in excess of 3 per cent of your adjusted gross income, now is a good time to pay all of your medical bills. It may be possible to prepay your accident and health insurance for a year in advance.

If you don't have the money to pay all of your deductible expenses for 1965 and 1966 this year, consider borrowing the money. Most banks and lending institutions are happy to make loans for this purpose.

If you are paying taxes at the lowest tax rate of 14 per cent, you will save at least 14 per cent of the amount that you pay for deductible expenses this year and your loan won't cost you that, so you will gain the difference by borrowing the money, paying the deductible expenses this year and then repaying the loan in 1966. Of course, the interest that you pay on this loan is a deduction in 1966 when you pay it.

If you can arrange with the bank or lending institution to give you the full amount of the loan, and then you turn around and pay the interest in 1965, in advance for 1966, you can also deduct the interest in 1965.

Prepaying as much of your itemized deductions as possible in 1965 will result in little or no deductions to be taken in 1966 and you would then use the standard deduction for 1966 instead of itemizing.

Of course, if you don't have enough itemized expenses for a deduction in 1965, you might try this plan for 1966 - 1967 and then of course, you don't want to pay any more deductible expenses until after Jan. 1, 1966.

Rails, Steels Climb In New York Stocks

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed mixed today. Trading was heavy.

In an early advance the market made a close approach to the Nov. 4 peak in the Dow Jones industrial average but it slipped below that.

Rails again moved into record ground and steels resumed their rally, helped by further reports of strengthening orders for steel.

Recent favorites among aerospace stocks, airlines, electronics and office equipments took a back seat as year-end profit taking and switching was in order.

Motors put on a fairly firm performance most of the day.

Volume for the day was estimated at 9.5 million shares compared with 9.97 million yesterday.

Here was the picture near the close:

Steels and rails still remained well ahead and Big Three motors were fractional gainers but most of the list was a hodge podge of gains and losses.

Illinois Central was up 1. New York Central with Pennsylvania Railroad each held a gain of 1½ while many other rails showed fractional gains.

Steels responded to further encouraging reports on demand for steel. Jones & Laughlin was up 1, Lukens 3, other major steelmakers fractions.

Averages were dampened by Du Pont, off 2; General Electric off about 1½; Kennecott, off about 1; and Jersey Standard, down a fraction.

Ahead about 2 were McDonnell Aircraft, Meredith Publishing, Allegheny Ludlum and Chicago Great Western preferred.

INCOME TAX FACTS

Lump Contributions And You'll Be Ahead

By PETER J. WIKEL, C.P.A.

If your itemized deductions and the standard deductions are both about the same and have been running that way in the past and you expect them to be about the same in 1966: then you might consider itemizing your deductions for 1965 and using the standard deduction for 1966.

P. J. Wikel

If you do this it becomes important to take all of the deductions possible in 1965.

Consider paying all of your contributions for 1965 and 1966 in December of 1965. In other words, pay them in advance.

Check with your bank or lending agency and see if you can pay the interest on your home for a year in advance.

The taxes on your home are payable one-half in November and one-half in April, but you can pay them all before the end of the year.

California will accept a prepayment of California income tax for 1965 provided an estimated return is filed with the tax payment. If you have a large California income tax, it might be advantageous to do this.

If you already have medical expenses in excess of 3 per cent of your adjusted gross income, now is a good time to pay all of your medical bills. It may be possible to prepay your accident and health insurance for a year in advance.

If you don't have the money to pay all of your deductible expenses for 1965 and 1966 this year, consider borrowing the money. Most banks and lending institutions are happy to make loans for this purpose.

If you are paying taxes at the lowest tax rate of 14 per cent, you will save at least 14 per cent of the amount that you pay for deductible expenses this year and your loan won't cost you that, so you will gain the difference by borrowing the money, paying the deductible expenses this year and then repaying the loan in 1966. Of course, the interest that you pay on this loan is a deduction in 1966 when you pay it.

If you can arrange with the bank or lending institution to give you the full amount of the loan, and then you turn around and pay the interest in 1965, in advance for 1966, you can also deduct the interest in 1965.

Prepaying as much of your itemized deductions as possible in 1965 will result in little or no deductions to be taken in 1966 and you would then use the standard deduction for 1966 instead of itemizing.

Of course, if you don't have enough itemized expenses for a deduction in 1965, you might try this plan for 1966 - 1967 and then of course, you don't want to pay any more deductible expenses until after Jan. 1, 1966.

Singer Hank Williams' Life Depicted

By LESLIE DARD

NOVATO THEATER

For those who remember: "Your Cheatin' Heart" stars George Hamilton as Hank Williams, the country singer who rose from a shoe-shine boy in Alabama to one of the country's biggest entertainers, then died of a heart attack at age 29.

We see the singer's poverty stricken boyhood, then his career starting with singing in a medicine show. Next he joins a travelling show, and marries its dynamic leader, an ambitious blonde who pushes him to huge success.

But there's tragedy here. Williams was one of those performers who can't take success.

Many of William's famous songs, including "Jambalaya," "Cold, Cold Heart," and the title song, are sung by his son, Hank Jr., who has a voice remarkably like his father's.

Acting and photography is competent, while the music is excellent. If you were a Hank William's fan, this one will evoke many memories.

RAFAEL THEATER

The zany tale centers around Ringo, the drummer. Seems that among his multitudinous collection of finger apparel, he's got a ring that's part of an East Indian sacrificial ritual—and he can't get it off. The film is principally concerned with the efforts of the moppets to keep Ringo from under the sacrificial knife.

With an East Indian executioner and two mad scientist types on their trail, the boys lead a merry chase that starts in London, picks up in the Alps, and finally lands in the Bahamas.

The second feature is the first Beatle film, "A Hard Day's Night."

This one purports to chronicle 36 hours in the life of the Beatles, hours that are normal — which mean hectic.

"Help!" is in color, "Hard Day's Night" is not.

Both films are likely to appeal to adults as well as to kids.

TIBURON PLAYHOUSE

Maximilian Schell plays a completely unscrupulous man in "Return From the Ashes," now showing — a murder-suspense film set around World War II.

Schell's credo is from "The Brothers Karamazov:" If there is no God, no immorality, no heaven, no hell, no reward, no punishment . . . Then everything is permissable." By this he justifies marrying a woman he doesn't love, and taking her stepdaughter for a mistress when she is deported as a Jew to Dachau.

His theory also helps him out when his suppostedly dead wife reappears. He then plans to murder both wife and step-daughter for their money.

Powerfully talented performances, and a good show all around, if a bit on the savage side.

101 DRIVE-IN

"What a Way to Go," is now showing, featuring Shirley MacLaine in the lead role as well as Paul Newman, Dean Martin, Bob Cummings, Robert Mitchum and Dick van Dyke.

Shirley plays a girl with a Midas Touch and the kiss of death. Every man she marries becomes fabulously wealthy, then dies before he can enjoy it. With each of her four passing husbands, Shirley gets richer.

Hence the title.

The story is told in flashbacks, with Shirley trying to give away $200 million because she feels guilty. When the government won't accept it, she seeks the aid of a psychiatrist.

In the end, she is re-united with the one man she said she'd never marry, Dean Martin.

Bach To Mozart Debut Date Set

Singer Hank Williams' Life Depicted

By LESLIE DARD

NOVATO THEATER

For those who remember: "Your Cheatin' Heart" stars George Hamilton as Hank Williams, the country singer who rose from a shoe-shine boy in Alabama to one of the country's biggest entertainers, then died of a heart attack at age 29.

We see the singer's poverty stricken boyhood, then his career starting with singing in a medicine show. Next he joins a travelling show, and marries its dynamic leader, an ambitious blonde who pushes him to huge success.

But there's tragedy here. Williams was one of those performers who can't take success.

Many of William's famous songs, including "Jambalaya," "Cold, Cold Heart," and the title song, are sung by his son, Hank Jr., who has a voice remarkably like his father's.

Acting and photography is competent, while the music is excellent. If you were a Hank William's fan, this one will evoke many memories.

RAFAEL THEATER

The zany tale centers around Ringo, the drummer. Seems that among his multitudinous collection of finger apparel, he's got a ring that's part of an East Indian sacrificial ritual—and he can't get it off. The film is principally concerned with the efforts of the moppets to keep Ringo from under the sacrificial knife.

With an East Indian executioner and two mad scientist types on their trail, the boys lead a merry chase that starts in London, picks up in the Alps, and finally lands in the Bahamas.

The second feature is the first Beatle film, "A Hard Day's Night."

This one purports to chronicle 36 hours in the life of the Beatles, hours that are normal — which mean hectic.

"Help!" is in color, "Hard Day's Night" is not.

Both films are likely to appeal to adults as well as to kids.

TIBURON PLAYHOUSE

Maximilian Schell plays a completely unscrupulous man in "Return From the Ashes," now showing — a murder-suspense film set around World War II.

Schell's credo is from "The Brothers Karamazov:" If there is no God, no immorality, no heaven, no hell, no reward, no punishment . . . Then everything is permissable." By this he justifies marrying a woman he doesn't love, and taking her stepdaughter for a mistress when she is deported as a Jew to Dachau.

His theory also helps him out when his suppostedly dead wife reappears. He then plans to murder both wife and step-daughter for their money.

Powerfully talented performances, and a good show all around, if a bit on the savage side.

101 DRIVE-IN

"What a Way to Go," is now showing, featuring Shirley MacLaine in the lead role as well as Paul Newman, Dean Martin, Bob Cummings, Robert Mitchum and Dick van Dyke.

Shirley plays a girl with a Midas Touch and the kiss of death. Every man she marries becomes fabulously wealthy, then dies before he can enjoy it. With each of her four passing husbands, Shirley gets richer.

Hence the title.

The story is told in flashbacks, with Shirley trying to give away $200 million because she feels guilty. When the government won't accept it, she seeks the aid of a psychiatrist.

In the end, she is re-united with the one man she said she'd never marry, Dean Martin.

Bach To Mozart Debut Date Set

The first concert by the Bach to Mozart Players in the candlelight series sponsored by the Homestead Valley Improvement Club will be presented Dec. 26 at 8 p.m., in Brown's Hall, Mill Valley.

Featured guest artist will be cellist Laslo Vargas.

Regular members of the group are soprano Carole Bogard, baritone Edgar Jones, and Raymond Duste, oboe; Frank Houser, violin; Ellen Dessler, cello; Edgar Haug, trumpet, and Margaret Fabrizio, harpischord.

Music chairman Mrs. Martin Goldschmidt said a few tickets will be available at the door.

Mill Valley's Office Being Sold; Foggy-Voiced London Singer Back

In the process of being sold is the Office at 153 Throckmorton Avenue, Mill Valley.

Owners Connie and Bill Jackson plan on a long holiday, taking in the Mardi Gras at New Orleans in February. When they come back it's highly likely they'll settle somewhere in Sonoma.

Closing awaits approval of the liquor license transfer and this may not clear until the second week in January. Meanwhile Connie and Bill will carry on as usual, holding their customary New Year's Eve party. They'll have a "hello and goodbye party" in January to introduce new owners John P. Ebner and Claude T. Ross of Larkspur when the deal is consummated.

John and Claude do not pretend to be professional restaurateurs, but neither are they entirely without experience. John is an accountant who got some training managing the Navarro Inn this last summer in Mendocino County. Claude has been in the advertising business, but cooking has been a hobby since his college days—so he'll act as chef.

Present plans call for the name to remain the same, and the operation, too, perhaps with some modifications. Lunches and dinners will be served.

BACK AT ALIOTO'S ARBORDALE in Sausalito is foggy-voiced London singer Maggie Perkins. She's now known as Maggie Paige, which I understand has something to do with numerology. She's appearing Friday and Saturday nights. Other nights Al Gallagher entertains.

Maggie has been doing commercials and television shows in Los Angeles and may get a part in a picture. But her voice, used to the fogs of London and the Bay Area does not necessarily take to smog—so's she's back for the Christmas season anyway.

"YOU WROTE ABOUT a little Swedish place, but I can't remember the name and we'd like to go there. Where is it and does it serve lunch?"

The words may vary, but the message is the same and I get this telephone inquiry often.

The place is the Old Viking, and "yes" it does serve lunch, as well as dinner. Matt and Phyllis Mattsson are the owners.

Go out through Fairfax and over White's Hill, through San Geronimo Valley along Sir Francis Drake Highway. I'm not sure of the cross streets in Lagunitas and they probably wouldn't help you anyway. Just keep on the highway and watch for it on the left. I'd say about seven and one-half miles from Fairfax.

Lunch fare is excellent. Usually several selections—Swedish meat balls, stuffed cabbage and the like. The herring with sour cream is good. No hard liquor, but select wines and beers.

For dinner, try the duck l'orange—good the way Phyllis fixes it.

ANNUAL VISITS of Santa Claus to Franchini's Chateau will begin again Sunday, when he'll be there to talk to the youngsters from 3 p.m. He has another visit scheduled for Monday from 6 p.m. and again on Thursday and Friday next week—same time. Candy canes for the kids.

Franchini's will be closed Christmas Day and on Sunday, the day after. So will a number of other places — at least on Christmas Day, so employees can have a holiday with their families.

Rancho Nicasio will be closed Christmas Day, Sunday and Monday. Bill and Adolph's House of Canneloni — excuse me — West End Villa—is among the Dec. 25th closers. Before making plans to eat out Christmas, check your favorite dinery.

THAT FOOTBALL GAME some of you may have witnessed at Sir Francis Drake High School last Sunday between the staff of MacArthur's Restaurant, San Anselmo and the combined force of the Kingston Trio and the Wee Five ended in something besides a 30 to nothing score in favor of MacArthur's.

The stakes were steaks and drinks—and MacArthur's got the payment—not the Trident in Sausalito.

MacArthur's, by the way, will be open Christmas Day.

START WATCHING the ads this weekend for those Marin restaurants planning New Year's Eve celebrations and make your reservations ahead of time. I'll probably use the next two restaurant columns for a round-up of some of the activities.

NO SLEIGH FOR SANTA CLAUS — This lake scene at Franchini's Chateau is a good setting for old Saint Nick—but any deer that makes his appearance will probably be named Bambi (Franchini's mascot) instead of Donner or Blitzen. Many restaurants throughout the county are decorated for Christmas, though some will be closed Christmas Day. Check for openings next weekend before going out for dinner.

Glenn Kerch tells me Rancho Nicasio's annual affair is already sold out. You might try leaving your name, but I believe there is a waiting list. Open New Year's Day and the following Sunda.

I have word from Ethel Barrie at Lin Fa Gardens in Northgate that she plans on having Bill McCoy at the organ and Paul Leacox on drums again for New Year's dance music. If you went to her anniversary party last Friday you know that these two turn out good rhythm. Larry Wickersham will play the organ in the Mai Tai Room.

THIS SUNDAY at the Ark in Sausalito from 3 to 6 p.m. the Chris Ibanez Trio will alternate with the Dick Saltzman Trio from the Cellars and they'll do a finale together in this jazz concert. Dick will be back again at the Cellars Friday and Saturday nights through the first of the year.

MY UNDERSTANDING from a letter received from the Hollywood offices of International Industries, Inc. is that the new San Rafael International pancake house under construction near the juncture of Fourth and Second streets will open about the middle of January.

Signs are up on both streets, so you'll be able to recognize the place.

I'VE JUST LEARNED that Corky Jones of San Anselmo is new dining room manager at Sam's Anchor Cafe in Tiburon, starting today. You remember Corky—for a long time at Rubini's and for awhile at the Alta Mira Hotel. Between times she has been working in San Francisco.

AND IF YOU'RE WONDERING what happened to Rae Ward who was catering manager at Peacock Gap Country Club, she has gone back to studying at San Francisco State Teachers College. But evenings you'll find her working at Marin Joe's in Corte Madera.

Bill Coleman, manager at Peacock Gap, you may have heard, will also be leaving soon for Del Monte Lodge.

ORDINARILY I DON'T make much mention of specific private parties, lunches and banquets, because I can't cover all of them. But I feel the Society for the Preservation of Secretaries lunch at La Petite Auberge this week calls for a few words, because it illustrates what's available in downtown San Rafael at lunchtime for groups, now that the Redwood Club is closed.

Here were 50 or 60 people who took over the entire restaurant without having to travel far from their offices and were able to get back to work at a reasonable time.

Hold on. I didn't mean that their bosses (who were the hosts) had that last benefit in mind at all. Or did they?

parties are more fun at Sam's, yes!

In Tiburon, Sam's Anchor Cafe offers the private "Blue Room" for your luncheon, dinner-party or just a holiday cut-up.

Your own bar overlooks a view of the San Francisco skyline. Call GE 5-4527.

Franchini's will be closed Christmas Day and on Sunday, the day after. So will a number of other places — at least on Christmas Day, so employees can have a holiday with their families.

Rancho Nicasio will be closed Christmas Day, Sunday and Monday. Bill and Adolph's House of Canneloni — excuse me — West End Villa—is among the Dec. 25th closers. Before making plans to eat out Christmas, check your favorite dinery.

THAT FOOTBALL GAME some of you may have witnessed at Sir Francis Drake High School last Sunday between the staff of MacArthur's Restaurant, San Anselmo and the combined force of the Kingston Trio and the Wee Five ended in something besides a 30 to nothing score in favor of MacArthur's.

The stakes were steaks and drinks—and MacArthur's got the payment—not the Trident in Sausalito.

MacArthur's, by the way, will be open Christmas Day.

START WATCHING the ads this weekend for those Marin restaurants planning New Year's Eve celebrations and make your reservations ahead of time. I'll probably use the next two restaurant columns for a round-up of some of the activities.

NO SLEIGH FOR SANTA CLAUS — This lake scene at Franchini's Chateau is a good setting for old Saint Nick—but any deer that makes his appearance will probably be named Bambi (Franchini's mascot) instead of Donner or Blitzen. Many restaurants throughout the county are decorated for Christmas, though some will be closed Christmas Day. Check for openings next weekend before going out for dinner.

Glenn Kerch tells me Rancho Nicasio's annual affair is already sold out. You might try leaving your name, but I believe there is a waiting list. Open New Year's Day and the following Sunda.

I have word from Ethel Barrie at Lin Fa Gardens in Northgate that she plans on having Bill McCoy at the organ and Paul Leacox on drums again for New Year's dance music. If you went to her anniversary party last Friday you know that these two turn out good rhythm. Larry Wickersham will play the organ in the Mai Tai Room.

THIS SUNDAY at the Ark in Sausalito from 3 to 6 p.m. the Chris Ibanez Trio will alternate with the Dick Saltzman Trio from the Cellars and they'll do a finale together in this jazz concert. Dick will be back again at the Cellars Friday and Saturday nights through the first of the year.

MY UNDERSTANDING from a letter received from the Hollywood offices of International Industries, Inc. is that the new San Rafael International pancake house under construction near the juncture of Fourth and Second streets will open about the middle of January.

Signs are up on both streets, so you'll be able to recognize the place.

I'VE JUST LEARNED that Corky Jones of San Anselmo is new dining room manager at Sam's Anchor Cafe in Tiburon, starting today. You remember Corky—for a long time at Rubini's and for awhile at the Alta Mira Hotel. Between times she has been working in San Francisco.

AND IF YOU'RE WONDERING what happened to Rae Ward who was catering manager at Peacock Gap Country Club, she has gone back to studying at San Francisco State Teachers College. But evenings you'll find her working at Marin Joe's in Corte Madera.

Bill Coleman, manager at Peacock Gap, you may have heard, will also be leaving soon for Del Monte Lodge.

ORDINARILY I DON'T make much mention of specific private parties, lunches and banquets, because I can't cover all of them. But I feel the Society for the Preservation of Secretaries lunch at La Petite Auberge this week calls for a few words, because it illustrates what's available in downtown San Rafael at lunchtime for groups, now that the Redwood Club is closed.

Here were 50 or 60 people who took over the entire restaurant without having to travel far from their offices and were able to get back to work at a reasonable time.

Hold on. I didn't mean that their bosses (who were the hosts) had that last benefit in mind at all. Or did they?

Camel To Join Christmas Fete In Marin City

She will arrive tomorrow afternoon to take part in a Christmas street procession, marching with Three Wise Men on horseback and children dressed as shepherds.

St. Andrew United Presbyterian Church, sponsoring the procession, is borrowing the camel from Fleishhacker Zoo in San Francisco, said Rev. James E. Symons, pastor.

There will be other animals at the manger scene, including goats and burros, to symbolize early Christmas, Rev. Symons said. There will be a blessing of the animals, a traditional act which has been done over the centuries at Christmas time.

The march will begin at 3 p.m. at the community building and go to the church on Donohue Street.

Museum Changes Film Schedule

The usual one-hour free film program each Saturday at the Louis A. Boyd Natural Science Museum, San Rafael, will not take place on Christmas or New Year's Day, but a special program will be held Dec. 30.

Tomorrow the films shown will be "Salt," "Birds of the Sea Shore" and Ansel Adams' "Valley of Light."

On Dec. 30 the museum will show "Beaver Dam" and "Wild Shore." "Adelie Penguins of the Antarctic" and "Animals Unlimited" will be the program for Jan. 8, and "Badger's Bad Day" and "Beaver Valley" on Jan. 15.

On Jan. 22, the program will have "Black Bear Twins" and "Flowering Desert," and on Jan. 29 there will be one film, "And Now Miguel."

Yule Party Set

The Native Sons of the Golden West and the Marinita Parlor 198 of the Native Daughters of the Golden West will hold a children's Christmas party at 7 p.m. Monday at the Portuguese-American Hall, 806 B Street, San Rafael.

Telephone Line To Be Buried In New Tracts

Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. told the California Utilities Commission yesterday that it is prepared to place telephone lines underground in new subdivisions, and in most cases at the company's expense.

The company would not be able to bear the full cost when soil conditions and topography in a particular subdivision made the cost substantially higher than usual, company representatives reported. In such cases the subdivider or developer would be required to pay the excess.

The company also reported it would bear the cost of converting overhead telephone facilities to underground in civic, scenic "and other areas of public interest." This would be done at the same time and to the same extent that power utilities converted overhead to underground at their own expense, the company reported.

The company estimated that it would cost it about $800,000 annually to install underground facilities in new subdivisions, and about $4.1 million in 1967 and $4.5 million by 1970 for conversion projects.

Pacific Telephone reported it is already spending $4 million annually for converting facilities from overhead to underground.

Scholarships Due Two Seniors In Marin, Sonoma

The Plumbing, Heating and Cooling Contractors Assn. of Marin, Sonoma and Mendocino Counties has announced a scholarship and work guarantee program for one high school senior each in Marin and Sonoma counties.

Open to male high school seniors, the selection winner will be given $250 cash plus a guarantee of 12 months employment. The work may be used at one time or spread over four summer vacations while a student is in college.

The student will be hired by the association and loaned to shops in the area. The award will be based on attendance, mechanical ability, citizenship, initiative, appearance and scholarship, in that order of importance, according to Assn. Executive Mgr. Samuel H. DeLisle.

In Nuclear Sub

Electronics Technician 3/C Randall A. Graham, son of Mrs. Betty R. Graham, 101 Nova Albion Way, San Rafael, has been assigned to the crew of the new atomic powered submarine Kamehameha, which was commissioned Dec. 10 at the Mare Island Shipyard, Vallejo.

Heavy Storm Still Raging

PHOENIX (AP)—A severe pre-winter storm stationed over the Southwest racked the area again today with more snow and rain from Los Angeles eastward to Texas.

For the third straight day today the mercury plunged below zero in the Northern Plains.

Marincello Brush-Off Is Denounced

Marin County Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen has taken the stand that the county cannot equivocate on Marincello and go ahead at the same time with creation of a new county department for economic development.

In a statement yesterday the supervisor said he is firmly convinced the county needs industry for added tax revenues, "But I am just as firmly convinced that we cannot take a positive position on this new county department, while at the same time equivocating on Marincello."

Supervisors this afternoon were to discuss petitions signed by more than 6,000 urging that Marincello, approved by the board last month, be reconsidered.

The community for 22,000 population planned by Thomas Frouge would have land set aside for industry.

"Marincello is a golden opportunity for the economic development of Marin," Kettenhofen said.

On Tuesday, he held up discussion of the economic development proposal until after a decision is made on the Marincello petitions.

Attorney's Gun Joke Results In His Own Death

NEW YORK (UPI) —Robert Sunshine, 30, a lawyer, showed a revolver to his companion in a Manhattan cocktail lounge yesterday.

He dumped four 38 caliber shells from the cylinder into his hand.

Then apparently thinking the gun was empty, pointed it toward his chest and asked his friend:

"Do you want to see a trick?"

Police said Sunshin pulled the trigger. The gun fired, and he collapsed, dead.

Motorist Complains Of Back After Crash

Donna B. Lanning, 37, of 223 Blackstone Drive, Marinwood, complained of neck pains after her car was struck from behind on Blackstone Drive 200 feet north of Adobestone Court, Marinwood, at 7:15 p.m. yesterday, the California Highway Patrol reported.

The patrol said Mrs. Lanning was parked in front of 217 Blackstone Drive when her car was hit by a southbound auto driven by Martin C. Freyer, 43, of 265 Johnstone Court, Marinwood. Mrs. Lanning was to see her own doctor. Freyer was unhurt.

Schools Need Not Rely On Questionable Books

Parents attending a San Rafael Board of Education meeting this week complained of teachers propagandizing their students and of books of the "new realism" (four-letter word) variety.

The trouble with such complaints is that generally they produce one or the other of two reactions:

1. They result in a lot of hysterical name-calling by both sides, or,

2. They are ignored.

The usual answer by teachers and school administrators is to set up cries of "censorship," "witch-hunting," and interference with "academic freedom."

In the resultant hullabaloo, what should be the main issues are forgotten.

The usual reaction of school boards is to try to ignore the complaints if possible. They are messy. School board members have, in most cases, been converted to the idea that problems are best solved with as little public discussion as possible.

The issues posed by the parents' complaints, however, may go deep.

Teachers have a captive audience in their classrooms. If they use that audience for propagandizing their own beliefs, are they being true to their public trust?

Teachers insist that they are professionals. If so, they must accept the responsibility of professionals. Theirs is a particularly grave responsibility, for into their hands is placed the coming generation. Would any teacher worthy of the designation "professional" want to turn out that generation with minds all of one pattern of belief? We doubt it.

Aside from that, there is another highly practical consideration.

The high school diploma, if it means anything, should mean that a student has completed the prescribed course in whatever subjects he has taken.

If a teacher takes as much as five minutes a day from that course to expound his own political beliefs, he robs the student of the equivalent of 13 days' instruction in the course of a school year. Is this playing fair?

It would seem that here, too, professional responsibility would dictate that the teacher devote his efforts to instruction in the course to which he is assigned.

The complaint about "dirty books" gets into another matter.

No parent should imagine that his child will never read rot, or never learn dirty words.

But is it the job of the teacher to see that he learns them?

The quality of literature is not easily judged—particularly that of current literature. But there is a vast storehouse of recognized fine literature on which to draw. It would seem there is no excuse for assigning any reading which may be questionable, even though the teacher may personally think it is great.

Jack Kerouac and Playboy magazine would seem to have scarcely earned a place among the immortals.

The parents' complaints, then, deserve investigation. If that investigation proves they were ill-founded, the stature of the schools will be enhanced. If otherwise, it would appear the teachers involved should do a bit of soul-searching.

World Powers' Friendships Like Bunch Of Cats On Tin Roof

WASHINGTON (AP) — Friendship in the modern world is like cats on a tin roof, which is hardly a quiet way to spend an evening.

The United States has been friends with Pakistan, whose President Mohammed Ayub Khan is here talking to President Johnson, and with India, whose Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri is coming here in February to talk to Johnson.

THEY WANT to get out of the box they got themselves into with their undeclared war over Kashmir in the fall.

Pakistan, thinking the odds are on its side, wants the people of Kashmir to decide in a vote whether they want to be part of Pakistan or India. India, which doesn't like the odds, wants no part of a vote.

If Johnson can settle this dispute, he's a miracle man, but he's not supposed to settle it since the United Nations hopes to. Over the years the United States has given India and Pakistan over $10 billion in aid.

At first it gave military aid to Pakistan, which built up its army, and thus was a kind of buffer to the ambitions of Red China. India, playing lofty and neutralist, didn't pay so much attention to arms.

Then the Red Chinese attacked India, which then cried for American arms, and got them. But when India and Pakistan began to fight both blamed the United States for arming the other.

The United States shut off aid to both. Pakistani mobs ripped the American flag, attacked U.S. buildings, and Pakistan began cottoning up to the Red Chinese.

BUT THOSE two good old friends, the Soviet Union and Red China, got into the India-Pakistan act, with Red China blaming the Soviets for helping India while the Russians criticized China for butting in on Pakistan's side.

Next week West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard is coming to talk to Johnson. While Britain and Germany are economic rivals, the British and the United States want German help in keeping the North Atlantic Treaty Organziation together.

RIGHT NOW it's getting a battering from French President Charles de Gaulle who doesn't want Germany to have nuclear arms, although the two countries consider themselves friends, while France builds a nuclear arsenal.

Tuesday at a NATO meeting in Paris the French and German foreign ministers got into an argument over it. But De Gaulle, running for re-election, manages to keep busy in many directions.

Interviewed on television in his political campaign, De Gaulle criticized the United States Tuesday for becoming an "interventionist power," quarreled with its policy in Viet Nam and declared, "I am not anti-American."

He said this country and France had been friends more than a century, that France would always come to America's aid, and that while America came to the aid of France in two world wars it was a little late.

BUT IF ALL this sounds like a noisy time in the West, the meowing going on between the Soviet Union and Red China, those one-time comrades, is enough to frighten the mice, if there are any mice around.

MARIN POLITICAL VIEWS

For A Small County, This One Has Plenty Of State Candidates

By WAT TAKESHITA

Takeshita

Another Marin resident, a Kentfield lawyer, is interested in seeking a state post—attorney general.

He is William M. Bennett, a member of the state Public Utilities Commission, who has made local headlines in the hearings to re-open the Puerto Suello railroad tunnel.

Marin is small in size, but when it comes to seeking political posts, it certainly isn't bashful.

Governor—William Patrick of Tiburon, the cosmetics executive, who is bucking notables like Ronald Reagan, George Christopher and Laughlin Waters for the Republican nomination.

Attorney General—Bennett, who may try for the Democratic nomination. On the Republican side, former Marin D. A. William Weissich has been mentioned off and on, but he appears uninterested.

State Senate—John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, seeks re-election. Robert D. Carrow, Novato attorney, has been mentioned as a possible candidate for Democratic nomination.

State Assembly — William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, is the incumbent. Ross attorney Thomas A. Skornia appears interested in the Democratic nomination.

Congress—Thomas T. Storer, Democrat from Inverness Park, is definitely running for Democratic nomination to oppose incumbent Don Clausen, R-Crescent City.

THAT'S EIGHT Marin residents who are either "announced", "unannounced" or "rumored" for state and national posts.

Pretty good for a county that is 57th in area (only 525 square miles) out of 58 counties and about 22nd in population.

EVERY SO often, you get to feeling sorry for state legislators who get only $6,000 per year salary.

But when you consider some of the little "fringe benefits" they enjoy, you realize they aren't exactly starving.

For example, nine legislators drew an average of better than $1,000 each in travel fare on their November junket to Puerto Rico. Even if they bought a first class champagne flight round trip ticket, costing about $500, they still came out $500 ahead.

THIS WAS for "fare" only. In addition, each legislator got $25 per diem for each day they spent in Puerto Rico, struggling with our legislative problems.

In other words, a legislator drew about $1,000 for fare, plus $200 expenses if he stayed for eight days.

After all, a representative from California shouldn't have to go all the way to Puerto Rico to skimp on food and tips, should he?

DON JENSEN, former Marin County administrator, has won the title of "national air conservationist of the year" for his work on car smog control. Formal presentation of the award is tentatively set for next month at Washington, D.C.

A Way To Protest Marincello Proposal

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I recently returned my credit card to Gulf Oil Corp. with a letter protesting their stand on high density against the wishes of many citizens in this county.

If others opposed to Marincello likewise indicated their displeasure to Gulf Oil, it is just possible that they may modify their stand or influence Frouge Corporation to do so.

After all, Gulf Oil who recently came to California to sell gasoline and related products is presumably more interested in that phase of their operation and in the good will of the public to purchase those products than in the development of Marincello which is opposed by so many potential customers.

Bouquets Requested For Sanitary Firm

Editor, Independent-Journal:

There have been many times during the last three years that we have resided here when I have desired to recommend your favorable consideration to the awarding of BOUQUETS to a public service firm in this area, the Marin Sanitary Service.

At least in my opinion it deserves grateful recognition for its continuous thorough, neat and courteous service in a difficult and back-breaking endeavor to maintain high sanitary and appearance standards . . .

I feel that their service has always been and is of outstanding character, never gives any reason for the slightest complaint and instead they have always extended themselves to also pick up those extras and unexpected items of rubbish or material which normally exceeds their monthly contract charges and otherwise would necessitate their customers hauling to a private disposal dump.

Above all, they do their job and these frequent courtesies in a most willing and courteously helpful manner in a dedicated neighborly fashion with no inference of mercenary thought. Their cooperative and integrated employee collection teams are a credit to their employer and a much appreciated benefit to our communities which they serve.

Men In Field Doing Their Part

Editor, Independent-Journal:

In all of the propaganda emanating from the V.D.C., agonizing about our boys being needlessly sacrificed in a war that is none of our business, I have yet to read any statement directly attributable to the men in the field, expressing opposition to their country's participation in the conflict, and like many people, I wondered.

However, on Thanksgiving Day, I watched a news reporter asking WOUNDED soldiers, returning from Viet Nam, what they had to be thankful for, on this day. One replied that he was thankful that the war was "over there" and not at home. (It doesn't require an expert to show us that "we're next".) See letter from A.C. Thomas, I-J Nov. 23. Another said he was thankful he had a home to come home to. There was no sign of bitterness or resentment. Perhaps they feel it was necessary for them to fight over there to protect what they have here.

Sea-going men often refer derisively to "dry land sailors." Why should these safety-zone warriors appoint themselves spokesmen for battlefield fighters?

No one who has had any close contact with the terrible reality of war, would ever advocate it, except as a means of preventing greater misery. Millions of people feel that the realization of the Communists' dream of world-wide control is a nightmare that must be prevented at ALL costs.

Poverty Plan Aim: Adults Or Children?

BY ROBERT S. ALLEN
AND PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON—Director Sargent Shriver is "McNamara-izing" the $1.5 billion anti-poverty program.

Techniques, procedures, computers and even personnel used by the controversial Defense Secretary to measure costs against the effectiveness of different weapons systems—such as missiles vs. bombers—are being resorted to by Shriver to evaluate the desirability of various anti-poverty projects.

As a consequence of this new backstage policy, projects rated likely to pay off bigger in the future are getting priority consideration and more funds than those offering immediate but smaller returns. For example:

HEAD START education and health projects for pre-school children are accorded more consideration and money than training unemployed adults. Similarly, Job Corps projects for teen-agers in costly residential camps have priority over less expensive non-residential Neighborhood Youth Corps measures.

To direct this cost-effectiveness system, Shriver brought in one of McNamara's top experts—Leon Gilgoff, former assistant budget director of the Air Force.

Gilgoff has set up a new agency in Shriver's far-flung organization. It is known as the Information Center Division, and already has a staff of 90 assembled from both the Pentagon and private industry. Two large computers have been installed and others in the Defense Department are available if needed.

TO QUICKLY apply cost-effectiveness to the anti-poverty program, Gilgoff has formulated certain basic "guidelines," which he explains as follows:

"The federal government has spent tens of millions of dollars on public works projects, but few poor people benefited directly or indirectly. Mainly, it's the middle class, particularly those in the construction trades, who get income from public works projects.

"We are now recommending that less emphasis be placed in the federal budget on public works, and more on anti-poverty projects."

Gilgoff also pointed out that as a result of a sample survey of national resources and expenditures, "We found very little money, both federal and private, is being spent on pre-school programs compared to funds for helping school dropouts. Our computers told us that pre-school programs would be cheaper in the long run.

STORMY POLICY—Director Shriver's resort to Secretary McNamara's computerized cost-effectiveness methods in administering the anti-poverty program has aroused furious opposition.

Representatives Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., highly vocal chairman of the Education and Labor Committee, which has jurisdiction over this program, is irately accusing Shriver of misusing the $1.5 billion voted him by Congress. Powell is threatening legislation to force Shriver to concentrate on adult training rather than projects for children.

"Adult jobs, not pre-school training, is the most urgent need to fight poverty," thunders Powell. "People need work, and that's the primary reason for this program. That's what it should be concentrating on."

VIGOROUSLY SUPPORTING Powell's viewpoint are big-city mayors, state officials and welfare authorities gravely concerned over possible new Watts-type riots as a result of a combination of unemployment, destitution, racial factors and despair. They contend these problems are urgent and immediate and must be coped with promptly and comprehensively.

"It's all right to talk about cost-effectiveness studies proving that greater benefits can be derived from long-range programs that will do the most good for young people," declared one welfare official. "But the jobless adult cannot be disregarded. That's where the dynamite is, and that's where we must devote our greatest efforts and resources. That's what I thought the anti-poverty program was for."

Next week West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard is coming to talk to Johnson. While Britain and Germany are economic rivals, the British and the United States want German help in keeping the North Atlantic Treaty Organziation together.

RIGHT NOW it's getting a battering from French President Charles de Gaulle who doesn't want Germany to have nuclear arms, although the two countries consider themselves friends, while France builds a nuclear arsenal.

Tuesday at a NATO meeting in Paris the French and German foreign ministers got into an argument over it. But De Gaulle, running for re-election, manages to keep busy in many directions.

Interviewed on television in his political campaign, De Gaulle criticized the United States Tuesday for becoming an "interventionist power," quarreled with its policy in Viet Nam and declared, "I am not anti-American."

He said this country and France had been friends more than a century, that France would always come to America's aid, and that while America came to the aid of France in two world wars it was a little late.

BUT IF ALL this sounds like a noisy time in the West, the meowing going on between the Soviet Union and Red China, those one-time comrades, is enough to frighten the mice, if there are any mice around.

Poverty Plan Aim: Adults Or Children?

BY ROBERT S. ALLEN
AND PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON—Director Sargent Shriver is "McNamara-izing" the $1.5 billion anti-poverty program.

Techniques, procedures, computers and even personnel used by the controversial Defense Secretary to measure costs against the effectiveness of different weapons systems—such as missiles vs. bombers—are being resorted to by Shriver to evaluate the desirability of various anti-poverty projects.

As a consequence of this new backstage policy, projects rated likely to pay off bigger in the future are getting priority consideration and more funds than those offering immediate but smaller returns. For example:

HEAD START education and health projects for pre-school children are accorded more consideration and money than training unemployed adults. Similarly, Job Corps projects for teen-agers in costly residential camps have priority over less expensive non-residential Neighborhood Youth Corps measures.

To direct this cost-effectiveness system, Shriver brought in one of McNamara's top experts—Leon Gilgoff, former assistant budget director of the Air Force.

Gilgoff has set up a new agency in Shriver's far-flung organization. It is known as the Information Center Division, and already has a staff of 90 assembled from both the Pentagon and private industry. Two large computers have been installed and others in the Defense Department are available if needed.

TO QUICKLY apply cost-effectiveness to the anti-poverty program, Gilgoff has formulated certain basic "guidelines," which he explains as follows:

"The federal government has spent tens of millions of dollars on public works projects, but few poor people benefited directly or indirectly. Mainly, it's the middle class, particularly those in the construction trades, who get income from public works projects.

"We are now recommending that less emphasis be placed in the federal budget on public works, and more on anti-poverty projects."

Gilgoff also pointed out that as a result of a sample survey of national resources and expenditures, "We found very little money, both federal and private, is being spent on pre-school programs compared to funds for helping school drop-outs. Our computers told us that pre-school programs would be cheaper in the long run.

STORMY POLICY—Director Shriver's resort to Secretary McNamara's computerized cost-effectiveness methods in administering the anti-poverty program has aroused furious opposition.

Representatives Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., highly vocal chairman of the Education and Labor Committee, which has jurisdiction over this program, is irately accusing Shriver of misusing the $1.5 billion voted him by Congress. Powell is threatening legislation to force Shriver to concentrate on adult training rather than projects for children.

"Adult jobs, not pre-school training, is the most urgent need to fight poverty," thunders Powell. "People need work, and that's the primary reason for this program. That's what it should be concentrating on."

VIGOROUSLY SUPPORTING Powell's viewpoint are big-city mayors, state officials and welfare authorities gravely concerned over possible new Watts-type riots as a result of a combination of unemployment, destitution, racial factors and despair. They contend these problems are urgent and immediate and must be coped with promptly and comprehensively.

"It's all right to talk about cost-effectiveness studies proving that greater benefits can be derived from long-range programs that will do the most good for young people," declared one welfare official. "But the jobless adult cannot be disregarded. That's where the dynamite is, and that's where we must devote our greatest efforts and resources. That's what I thought the anti-poverty program was for."

Gift Package Pen Seems To Solve Woes For Warrior In Viet Nam

Mrs. Margaret Dowd of Mill Valley sent a package of cookies to a soldier in Viet Nam and, as an extra, included some ball point pens on which were inscribed: "Dowd's Moving and Storage Inc. We move anything anywhere."

IT WASN'T long before she got a response in the mail from the GI saying: "Come and get me."

This year there is a Mrs. Santa Claus in Mill Valley as well as a Mister. Mrs. Claus sits in the window of Tamalpais Hardware and gives out gingerbread houses to children for decorating trees.

There is also a Saint Nicholas who lights up at night in the attic window at Mrs. Margaret Gundelfinger's house on Buena Vista Avenue.

It seems that the reason for his appearance is due to the fact that there were no Christmas lights in front of the block of stores on East Blithedale near Throckmorton, owned by Fred Palmer of Belvedere. And the reason there were no lights installed by the chamber of commerce is that there were no electric hookups in the sidewalk areas.

Palmer had the lights installed for the trees before his shops and then, noticing Mrs. Gundelfinger's 70-year-old Victorian house looming above his shops, asked if he could also light the house gable. This was done. We asked Mrs. Gundelfinger what it was like to have a Klaus in her attic and she replied, "Fine. But I thought he was going to be on the outside, not in." She advised that he becomes unlighted at 11 p.m., automatically.

TWO PLUM trees are blooming out of season on Miller Avenue and the carob tree in front of Quinn's has blossomed with all green bulbs for the season.

In Sausalito the Republican-looking elephants in the square have red ribbons around their necks and artist Enid Foster has created a display for the windows of the Tides Book Store showing the Christ child holding an atom.

Proprietor Herb Beckman says the atom was to be in the child's hand but that somehow it didn't hang on properly and the atom is now fastened to the window. This may be symbolic.

Susie Maahs has dug into her "happy bank" to donate to the Richardson Bay School Parent - Teacher Assn. program. She is one of 27 merchants to do so but it sounds easier if the bank is happy.

A Sausalito woman we know who doesn't wish her name to be used says she is going to go to Delano for Christmas. She will take her car full of warm clothing, toys, food and medicine for grape pickers who have been on strike for four months.

"I'm sick of celebrating," she explains. "I feel like celebrating Christmas in a larger way than just for myself. Quite a number of other people from Marin, including some families, are going to spend their Christmas this way—trying to bring a bit of peace to a small segment of the earth."

IT IS A special time of year and there are many Christmas stories but perhaps one of the best is that for some strange reason everyone seems to be a bit more kind.

Men Should Be Able To Work Together (Including Supervisors)

FUSSELMAN

"GEMINI ORBIT EARTH TOGETHER" . . . I am sure many of you must be having somewhat the same thoughts these days that I am having this early Thursday morning (3 a.m.) as I start to write this column.

To begin with; about 62 years ago I shook hands with Ezra Meeker, a man then much older than I am now. I talked to this patriarch in Bellingham, Wash., beside his ox-drawn covered wagon. He had just completed duplicating a trip with his oxen, which he had made as a young man, across this land of ours westward to Puyallup, Washington, which is between Tacoma and Seattle. He autographed a picture for me of himself standing beside his wagon. I am thinking this morning of the amazing technical progress we have made since then. I am also thinking of our failures in human relations since then. This is not restricted to the current Civil Rights troubles we are having, but the whole gamut of things. (worldwide) The Spanish-American War had been over just a few years and since then World War I and World War II followed. . . .then Korea and now Viet Nam.

I AM WONDERING and hoping that this amazing rendezvous and the explorations, that are bound to follow, will be paraleled with an earnest effort toward trying to understand and deal fairly with each other.

Just as the small plastic cap cover would have prevented the launching of Gemini 6 do the attempts by some supervisors to upstage their fellow members and citizens, who appear before them, prevent the progress that the electorate is entitled to. On the front page of the I-J on Tuesday this paragraph appeared, relating to a school matter before them. "(The chairman) questioned the need for a coordinator, saying the request indicated inability of personnel in the county's school districts to get together. 'Why the—can't they get together as a committee and work this out? he asked."

This can be asked of the board, itself. I know you are undoubtedly reading the same things I am about their meetings. They aren't able to finish their meetings until six or later. The other day it was 7:10. Formerly, we could finish at 4:30 most of the time and sometimes even earlier. The only material difference in the work load is that which results inevitably results from the, "Parkinson Law" (excessive paper work creates more paper work). This can also be said of orations on trivia.

I was telling some people, last evening, of an audit of the administrator's office files by the auditor-controller, which we had made in 1961, when there was a change in administrators.

One of the classics I remember was this: A man from another county had sent a typewritten letter (by a secretary) to congratulate his friend on his birthday. He was thanked with a typed letter (by a secretary) which in turn was acknowledged by another typed letter (by a secretary). As major Bowes would say, "Good evening, friends".

Meet New Friends: Simply Send Christmas Cards To Strangers

NEW YORK (AP) — If you are bored with your present friends, there is an easy way to make more interesting ones.

You do it with Christmas cards.

INSTEAD OF sending them to people you know — a waste of penmanship at best—you send them to total strangers.

There is little point in cluttering up postal bags with season greetings to people who make up part of the hamburger of your daily living.

You know their hypocrisies, and they know yours, and the ordeal of the commonplace has dulled your sense of mutual wonder.

To regain your sense of human adventure do this:

SCRIBBLE the following note on each:

"Dear Joe or Jack or Pete or Algernon:

"I'll never forget your kindness in lending me a helping hand when I needed it, and now that I am in a position to return the favor I just want you to know that—well, I guess I don't have to say more."

The chances are that by return mail you will get only 99 cards wishing you the best of health during the new year. The 100th person will be out of town or dead or something.

None of the 99 who respond, of course, will know you at all. But you will have piqued their interest in two ways.

They will be flattered by the thought they have done a good deed that their vanity doesn't remember, and they will cherish the idea that your undying gratitude will support them if they ever need help.

ALL PEOPLE, including those listed in "Who's Who," like the romantic illusion they have a rich uncle from Australia who may remember them in his will. This is your role—and you might as well play it to the hilt. At the next yuletide they will send a greeting card to you with a warm message. They probably will include photos of their family.

Before long you will be exchanging friendly gossipy letters with them. They will complain about their wives, their troubles with their children, their ailments. They will send you their stock market tips, and ask you to send them yours.

It doesn't have to remain a friendship by correspondence alone. If you travel about the country, you will always be a welcome guest in their home. They will wine you and dine you and think it a privilege to do so.

SOONER OR LATER, of course, a puzzled look will come across their face, and they will tactfully try to question you about that great favor they did you in the past.

You look them straight in the eye and reply:

"Well, Joe, you may have forgotten—but I'll always remember. Let's leave it at that. Shall we have another spot of your bourbon for auld lang syne—and call it a night?"

You will leave them feeling they are nobler than they knew. You will have enriched their lives. And, of course, you won't have made your own life any poorer.

You will be on a first-name basis with more talented successful people than anybody since Jim Farley was a lad.

YES, INDEED. Why send Christmas cards to the bums you already know? Send them instead to total strangers and make some new and valuable lifelong friends.

ON THE OPENING OF YOUR ALTO OFFICE AT 101 TIBURON BLVD. . . .

Since 1951 we have specialized in the kind of custom-quality craftsmanship necessary to create a structure such as the beautiful new Alto Office of Tiburon National Bank. It is with an immense source of pride that we look back upon the completion of this building. We would like to thank everyone connected with the project for helping us make this new banking office one of Marin County's new landmarks. Especially, we would like to thank Mr. Charles Tijerina, President and Chairman of the Board of Directors of Tiburon National Bank, without whose vision, guidance and help this project would not have been possible. We look forward to future associations.

With warmest best wishes. . . .

Favorite Christmas Customs Continue To Enchant Nations

Each generation is touched by the spiritual enchantment of Christmas, and each country has its own favorite Christmas legends. In England, one of the most famous is the story of the Glastonbury thorn brought to Britain by Joseph of Arimathea, where it flowered every Christmas.

In no land is Christmas more generally celebrated than in the Scandinavian countries. Here, the story of the birth of Christianity becomes intertwined with the tales of pagan Gods from an even more remote antiquity.

On Christmas Eve, every house is ablaze with candles to light the way for the lovely Kristine, the pagan diety who brings gifts to the children. It is also the custom of the land to set out loaves of the best bread so that even the birds may enjoy the Christmas festivities.

ON CHRISTMAS DAY, Scandinavian children masquerade in all manner of costumes, some are Vikings, others represent animals, and still others portray Biblical characters. Then, to the chanting of carols, the children parade through the streets of the rural villages stopping to perform at pre-selected sites where they know they will be received with hospitality and an abundance of good things to eat.

In Poland, and elsewhere in Europe, one of the most cherished Christmas legends tells of the resplendent host of angels who descend Jacob's Ladder and come to earth to join in the merrymaking and celebration of the Christ child's birth. As they pass through each village, legend has it, the angelic band delivers gifts to needy townsfolk.

In certain parts of Austria, it is the Christ Child himself who, in the stillness of Christmas Eve, comes to share the gifts of the Magi with all the children of the village.

PERE NOEL, in France, is eagerly awaited on Christmas Eve by the children. He is a very old fellow with a long silvery white beard who somehow manages to carry a tremendous pack of gifts throughout every village and hamlet. On Christmas morning, children down through the ages have been filled with delight at the sight of the wonderful gifts which were deposited on the hearth during the night.

In the mountainous villages of Peru, gaily clad natives celebrate the birth of the Savior in tropical heat. The villages that cling to the precipitous Andean cliffs ring with the laughter, music and dancing in a festival that is as gay as carnival in Rio. Peruvian children, emulating their Scandinavian counterparts, dance, sing, juggle, even balance precariously above the mist-covered ravines —all for special silver coins which have been hoarded all year long.

DURING THE 19TH Century when Queen Victoria married Prince Albert, the German custom of placing substantial gifts for the whole family under a real evergreen tree decorated with candles, was introduced to England. It met with nation-wide pleasure and soon became the traditional English way of celebrating Christmas.

Antique Phone Reproductions Ring Up Million Dollar Sales

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI)—Antique and reproductions of antique telephones are ringing up a multi-million dollar business for Ben Jamil, 32, who until five years ago was selling furniture.

It all started, Jamil said in an interview, when a seaman who liked to pick up antiques and knick-knacks as he roamed the world came into Jamil's small New York shop with, among other items for sale, a Scandinavian cradle telephone, circa 1920.

Jamil said he bought the phone, gussied it up with gold plating, and took it to one New York store famous for its housewares. Were they interested in retailing such an item? "They were," said Jamil, "and in a few weeks I was in Denmark scouring all the local telephone companies for cradle telephones."

THE SCANDINAVIAN TYPE is fancier than the traditional U.S. telephone. It has the rectangular base, but comes with a tall (six to eight inches) pronged cradle for holding the ear and mouth pieces.

THE OFF-BEAT PHONES became such a hit—"the demand was there first, we were just there when it occurred"—that Jamil quit the furniture business, organized the Continental Telephone & Radio Supply Co., Inc., and went back to Scandinavia to round up more old phones.

AFTER "we cleaned out Scandinavia," the problem was where to turn next. Japanese manufacturers were the answer. Today, Jamil said, his firm imports 12,000 to 15,000 antique phone reproductions per month from Japan, many of them sold to the U.S. consumer, some through his export company to other parts of the world.

"It's like carrying coals to Newcastle," said Jamil. "We now sell them in Scandinavia, too."

THE NUMBER of designs long since has expanded—there are about 300, Jamil said. That one Danish cradle type still, though, is the best seller. They range in price from $5.95 to custom jobs in the $400 and $500 class. One customer paid $1,100 for a phone decorated with jade and semi-precious stones.

ONE OF Jamil's early problems was overcoming telephone company resistance to installing phones which were not their own. But, as the Wall Street Journal noted recently, AT&T "is officially—if reluctantly—giving its approval to installation of any kind of phone a consumer wants. . . . "

THE GIANT PHONE company, the Journal explains, has contended that many "foreign" phones are substandard. But now, it will for a flat fee insert its own innards in the "shell" the customer supplies.

"We didn't do any lobbying," said Jamil, who has a corner on the market for the decorative phones. "The public demanded the change. The women got tired of AT&T doing their decorating."

"LYNDA BIRD Johnson has a cradle phone," said Jamil. "Mrs. John F. Kennedy bought one, vintage 1885, for the White House when she was redoing it. Zsa Zsa Gabor ordered phones covered in leopard skin for her home."

While I sat in his office he took a long distance call. It was a famous movie actress asking if he could cover a phone in iguana and get it to her by Christmas.

"I'll try," said Jamil. "It'll cost about $400."

"WE'LL COVER them in leather, ostrich, whatever the customer asks if we can find it."

Some of the designs are offbeat: a drum-shaped end table has a phone built in. Or, you can get a decorative phone on a fancy brass stand four feet tall.

THROUGH HIS SHOPPING Jamil also collected antique phones from all parts of the globe. On his desk sets a conventional AT&T telephone, and a tall, brass-decorated phone, with double ear pieces (so two could listen), made in France around 1880.

"IT'S A RARE THING," said Jamil. "A girl named Marsha Pearl . . . she was an editor for a book publishing house . . . brought it in to see if I could put a dial on it."

"I tried to buy it and kept staving her off for three years," he laughed. "She's now Mrs. Ben Jamil, we have an infant daughter, and I finally have the phone."

BEN JAMIL holds a four-foot telephone outside his New York City store where he sells antique and reproductions of antique telephones. These telephones and phones from abroad are ringing up a multi-million dollar business for Jamil who until five years ago was selling furniture. (UPI Telephone)

Church Sponsors Housing Program

The United Church of Christ has embarked on a program of sponsoring low and middle income housing with maximum use of federal financing.

A housing task force has been set up which will encourage local church groups and other organizations affiliated with the denomination to sponsor housing projects in communities where there is demonstrated need. The task force, headed by Rev. Lawrence M. Upton, N.Y., also will supply professional guidance in planning such projects.

Inexpensive Holiday Figures Created Of Aluminum Foil

Bright, colorful and gay Christmas figures—for mantel, coffee table, or window—can provide a warm welcome for holiday guests. And they can be made at home at virtually no expense.

Designer Conny of an aluminum company has created the delightful holiday figures—using empty plastic bottles, covered with aluminum foil, and decorations of ribbons, snips of felt or other fabric, lengths of yarn and buttons.

Of course, plastic bleach and liquid detergent containers are in every kitchen and laundry. So why not put them to good and decorative use? Have neighbors help by saving their empty bottles so you can complete an array like the one pictured.

CONNY RECOMMENDS that you first cover the bottles with regular weight, super-strength foil. She suggests that regular weight foil is ideal for most decorating jobs.

Next, hollow out a portion of a plastic foam ball so that it can be mounted on the spout of the bottle. Thus, you have added a head to the figure. For variety, cover some heads with foil; leave others without a foil covering.

Now, use your imagination. Study Conny's decorative treatment of her holiday figures, then get busy with yours.

Some bright-colored yarn for hair, striped ribbon tied in a bow, a one-two-three row of shiny black or red buttons, a bunch of artificial flowers and cotton, when used imaginatively, can produce real conversation-starters for your holiday gathering.

ARMS ARE MADE by crushing a length of foil about six or eight inches long. Crush a small ball at each end for a hand. A hand can be made hollow or curved for holding a candle or a wreath or a small package by turning and molding the foil. Attach to the back of the figure with glue or with pins.

MOST WHITE GLUES work fine with foil. Fabrics, construction paper and other pieces of foil will hold with this type of adhesive. Another plus: They dry clear, so are practically invisible.

For a cute, child-like appearance of the faces found on Conny's figures, place eyes and nose low—usually at the midpoint of the face or just below.

REMEMBER TO USE materials you have at hand. Gold-colored metal scouring pads are available and make wonderful "hair." And don't discard old jewelry. Strings of beads can always be used. So can single stones.

One more tip from Conny: Be on the alert for interesting shapes . . . a wooden spoon, a cereal dish, cottage cheese containers, salad dressing bottles, cosmetic jars . . . and plastic bottles.

FESTIVE CHRISTMAS FIGURES are fashioned from empty plastic and glass bottles, covered with foil and trimmed with scraps of materials or with some pieces of ribbon and bunches of artificial flowers.

FOR EVERYONE!

FEATURED THIS SATURDAY

A lot has been said and written of late about the need for a better understanding of and greater respect for law enforcement and its officers on the part of the general population. The San Rafael City Schools believe that the time to acquire this respect and understanding is in the citizen's early years. Consequently, the schools have launched a program aimed at bringing students and law enforcement officials closer together. It will be the subject of a report in tomorrow's Marin Magazine.

Still not finished with that Christmas gift list? Tomorrow's issue of the Marin Magazine may help you out of that hole. There are, for instance, the special gift advertisements that run in the front pages of the magazine, along with special gift suggestion stories. There are, also, the regular advertisements, offering Christmas wares. And finally there are the book reviews. The right book can be the perfect present for the hard-to-suit relative or friend, be he an adult or a child.

Antique Phone Reproductions Ring Up Million Dollar Sales

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI)—Antique and reproductions of antique telephones are ringing up a multi-million dollar business for Ben Jamil, 32, who until five years ago was selling furniture.

It all started, Jamil said in an interview, when a seaman who liked to pick up antiques and knick-knacks as he roamed the world came into Jamil's small New York shop with, among other items for sale, a Scandinavian cradle telephone, circa 1920.

Jamil said he bought the phone, gussied it up with gold plating, and took it to one New York store famous for its housewares. Were they interested in retailing such an item? "They were," said Jamil, "and in a few weeks I was in Denmark scouring all the local telephone companies for cradle telephones."

THE SCANDINAVIAN TYPE is fancier than the traditional U.S. telephone. It has the rectangular base, but comes with a tall (six to eight inches) pronged cradle for holding the ear and mouth pieces.

THE OFF-BEAT PHONES became such a hit—"the demand was there first, we were just there when it occurred"—that Jamil quit the furniture business, organized the Continental Telephone & Radio Supply Co., Inc., and went back to Scandinavia to round up more old phones.

AFTER "we cleaned out Scandinavia," the problem was where to turn next. Japanese manufacturers were the answer. Today, Jamil said, his firm imports 12,000 to 15,000 antique phone reproductions per month from Japan, many of them sold to the U.S. consumer, some through his export company to other parts of the world.

"It's like carrying coals to Newcastle," said Jamil. "We now sell them in Scandinavia, too."

THE NUMBER of designs long since has expanded—there are about 300, Jamil said. That one Danish cradle type still, though, is the best seller. They range in price from $5.95 to custom jobs in the $400 and $500 class. One customer paid $1,100 for a phone decorated with jade and semi-precious stones.

ONE OF Jamil's early problems was overcoming telephone company resistance to installing phones which were not their own. But, as the Wall Street Journal noted recently, AT&T "is officially—if reluctantly—giving its approval to installation of any kind of phone a consumer wants. . . ."

THE GIANT PHONE company, the Journal explains, has contended that many "foreign" phones are substandard. But now, it will for a flat fee insert its own innards in the "shell" the customer supplies.

"We didn't do any lobbying," said Jamil, who has a corner on the market for the decorative phones. "The public demanded the change. The women got tired of AT&T doing their decorating."

"LYNDA BIRD Johnson has a cradle phone," said Jamil. "Mrs. John F. Kennedy bought one, vintage 1885, for the White House when she was redoing it. Zsa Zsa Gabor ordered phones covered in leopard skin for her home."

While I sat in his office he took a long distance call. It was a famous movie actress asking if he could cover a phone in iguana and get it to her by Christmas.

"I'll try," said Jamil. "It'll cost about $400."

"WE'LL COVER them in leather, ostrich, whatever the customer asks if we can find it."

Some of the designs are offbeat: a drum-shaped end table has a phone built in. Or, you can get a decorative phone on a fancy brass stand four feet tall.

THROUGH HIS SHOPPING Jamil also collected antique phones from all parts of the globe. On his desk sets a conventional AT&T telephone, and a tall, brass-decorated phone, with double ear pieces (so two could listen), made in France around 1880.

"IT'S A RARE THING," said Jamil. "A girl named Marsha Pearl . . . she was an editor for a book publishing house . . . brought it in to see if I could put a dial on it."

"I tried to buy it and kept staving her off for three years," he laughed. "She's now Mrs. Ben Jamil, we have an infant daughter, and I finally have the phone."

BEN JAMIL holds a four-foot telephone outside his New York City store where he sells antique and reproductions of antique telephones. These telephones and phones from abroad are ringing up a multi-million dollar business for Jamil who until five years ago was selling furniture. (UPI Telephone)

FESTIVE CHRISTMAS FIGURES are fashioned from empty plastic and glass bottles, covered with foil and trimmed with scraps of materials or with some pieces of ribbon and bunches of artificial flowers.

Inexpensive Holiday Figures Created Of Aluminum Foil

Bright, colorful and gay Christmas figures—for mantel, coffee table, or window—can provide a warm welcome for holiday guests. And they can be made at home at virtually no expense.

Designer Conny of an aluminum company has created the delightful holiday figures—using empty plastic bottles, covered with aluminum foil, and decorations of ribbons, snips of felt or other fabric, lengths of yarn and buttons.

Of course, plastic bleach and liquid detergent containers are in every kitchen and laundry. So why not put them to good and decorative use? Have neighbors help by saving their empty bottles so you can complete an array like the one pictured.

CONNY RECOMMENDS that you first cover the bottles with regular weight, super-strength foil. She suggests that regular weight foil is ideal for most decorating jobs.

Next, hollow out a portion of a plastic foam ball so that it can be mounted on the spout of the bottle. Thus, you have added a head to the figure. For variety, cover some heads with foil; leave others without a foil covering.

Some bright-colored yarn for hair, striped ribbon tied in a bow, a one-two-three row of shiny black or red buttons, a bunch of artificial flowers and cotton, when used imaginatively, can produce real conversation-starters for your holiday gathering.

ARMS ARE MADE by crushing a length of foil about six or eight inches long. Crush a small ball at each end for a hand. A hand can be made hollow or curved for holding a candle or a wreath or a small package by turning and molding the foil. Attach to the back of the figure with glue or with pins.

Here are some handy tips from Conny for creating decorations of this type:

MOST WHITE GLUES work fine with foil. Fabrics, construction paper and other pieces of foil will hold with this type of adhesive. Another plus: They dry clear, so are practically invisible.

For a cute, child-like appearance of the faces found on Conny's figures, place eyes and nose low—usually at the midpoint of the face or just below.

REMEMBER TO USE materials you have at hand. Gold-colored metal scouring pads are available and make wonderful "hair." And don't discard old jewelry. Strings of beads can always be used. So can single stones.

FOR EVERYONE!

A lot has been said and written of late about the need for a better understanding of and greater respect for law enforcement and its officers on the part of the general population. The San Rafael City Schools believe that the time to acquire this respect and understanding is in the citizen's early years. Consequently, the schools have launched a program aimed at bringing students and law enforcement officials closer together. It will be the subject of a report in tomorrow's Marin Magazine.

Still not finished with that Christmas gift list? Tomorrow's issue of the Marin Magazine may help you out of that hole. There are, for instance, the special gift advertisements that run in the front pages of the magazine, along with special gift suggestion stories. There are, also, the regular advertisements, offering Christmas wares. And finally there are the book reviews. The right book can be the perfect present for the hard-to-suit relative or friend, be he an adult or a child.

It's The Last Teaching Day For Miss Olney, Homestead

By BRUCE COLEMAN

Today was the last teaching day.

Yesterday was the last Christmas party. There were actually two, one for the morning and one for the afternoon class.

Margaret Olney, a teacher for 36 years—all but one of those years in the Mill Valley School District—is retiring.

Miss Olney, kindergarten teacher at Homestead School, said today, "I've loved every year of it."

Officially, she retires Dec. 31, but Christmas school vacation begins tomorrow. Miss Olney is retiring both for health reasons and to care for her sister, Dorothy Olney, with whom she lives in Kentfield at Acacia Road and McAllister Avenue.

Miss Olney is from a family of educators. Her late father, A. C. Olney, founded Marin Junior College (now College of Marin) and was its first president. Olney Hall at the college was named for him.

"My mother was a teacher," Miss Olney. Her sister, Dorothy, was once a librarian at College of Marin.

Miss Olney studied at University of California and San Jose State College and first taught, for one year, at Red Bluff.

She then moved back to Kentfield and got a job in the Mill Valley School District, teaching first at Homestead School, which she said was then a two-teacher school. Now there are eight teachers.

"One of my duties," she said, "was to stoke the coal furnace."

She later taught at Summit School, since torn down; Park and Alto schools, and then returned to Homestead. She has taught a total of 10 years at Homestead.

Miss Olney mentioned that one time she was attending a fire drill at Summit School. "Everybody was laughing. Then we looked up and the school was on fire. One girl fainted. In all the fire drills I attended, this was the first one where there was a fire."

The teacher taught kindergarten 34 of her 36 years, and notes that she now teaches about three times as many as when she began at Red Bluff. At Red Bluff she had 21 or 22 pupils for a half day, then did other work than teaching in the afternoon. She now has 59 pupils, divided about in half so that she has one group in the morning, another in the afternoon. Miss Olney said she has always preferred teaching kindergarten to other grades.

The Mill Valley Teachers Assn. gave Miss Olney a farewell dinner party a week ago at the Cherish Inn in Strawberry.

On retirement, Miss Olney says she plans to garden, work around her home, and take some short trips.

Old Change Ruse Works For $50 From Bank Teller

One man became $50 richer suddenly yesterday and one teller at the Redwood National Bank, 1447 Fourth Street, San Rafael, became redder of face.

According to San Rafael police, three men, aged 25 to 30 and neatly dressed, entered the bank about 12:45 p.m. and one approached teller Carol J. Anderson of 52 Octavia Street, San Rafael.

He handed her nine $5 bills and asked for a $50 bill. When she said more money was needed he gave her another $5, and was handed a $50 bill. He then pushed the $50 and the stack of $5s back at her and asked for a $100 bill, which she gave him before thinking about it.

The other men tried the same trick at other tellers' stations but were unsuccessful. All escaped, however.

Marin-Directed Nude Dance Shown Swedes

A recording of a dance show by the troupe directed by Ann Halprin of Kentfield was shown on Swedish television last night. It included a sequence with nude dancers.

The Swedish reaction was mild, United Press International reported. About 150 persons telephoned the television station after the hour-long program. Most of them protested that they had been bored by the program, apparently because the nude portion of the dance was not as sensational as they had expected.

Seven members of the Dancers' Workshop Co. of San Francisco, which Mrs. Halprin directs, slowly undressed, piled their clothing on the floor and, moving in a trance-like state, danced on a large piece of paper which they eventually tore into small pieces.

A spokesman for the television station said officials had been apprehensive about the nude sequence and finally decided to show the program late at night.

The Swedish reception was what Mrs. Halprin expected, she said today.

"People of Sweden have a very different standard of the human body — they are not shocked."

It was the same portion of the dance, "Parades and Changes," banned in Warsaw. Mrs. Halprin takes issue with the U.S. newspaper statements, saying they were exaggerated.

The television tape was made last summer when the dance troupe spent a month in Europe performing in Sweden, Finland and Poland.

The dance has been performed here, but without the nude sequence.

Youths Sign Up For Delayed Navy Hitches

Two Marin residents enlisted in the Navy this week under the "Join Now, Go Later" program which permits a 120-day delay before they are sent to San Diego for recruit training.

The enlistees were Charles J. Holman Jr., 23, of 1 Eden Roc Drive, Apt. 127, Sausalito, and Angelo Margolis, 21, son of Bonnie A. Margolis, 126 Hillside Avenue, Mill Valley.

SANTA GETS CALLS ALL OVER MARIN

They were connected to Kris Kringle at the North Pole via the telephone switchboard at Tamalpais High School. The two-day total for Southern Marin was 824 calls.

On Tuesday and Wednesday, 1,337 calls were received for Santa by the Independent-Journal switchboard, making a grand total of 2,161.

On Tuesday and Wednesday of next week, North Marin youngsters will be able to call Santa between 7 and 9 p.m. by calling the Western California Telephone Co. number.

Alcoholism Group Needs More Money

On the verge of bankruptcy, the Marin Institute on Alcoholism laid its record of treatment success before 100 people last night at the Civic Center, warning that without a substantial source of income it will begin to collapse by Jan. 1.

"We have a tremendous staff of volunteers offering their professional services to our patients. . . . But without more money, these men will have lost our facilities," said Daniel A. Meyerson, administrative director of the institute.

'TO HEAL'

"We've taken on the commitment to heal people, and that's kind of a sacred thing which we're loath to see lost. We'll go down with the ship if we can't get more money, but with the success the institute has had it seems a crime to lose it," declared Rev. Kenneth E. Anderson, vicar of San Rafael's Episcopal Church of the Redeemer, one of the volunteer case workers at the institute.

Several officials gave testimony to the success of the institute.

SAVING GREAT

Said Neil Abercrombie of the county probation department: "For any alcoholism service group to attain a 40 per cent success rate is remarkable. This institute is succeeding in at least half of its cases. The saving to the county is difficult to estimate, but it is obviously great."

County Health Officer Carolyn B. Albrecht also said a saving could come from continuation of the institute.

The institute plans to make a second plea for funds from the county to support welfare and probation department referrals, said Meyerson.

Ban Of Septic Tanks Reaffirmed

The Bay Area Water Pollution Control Board yesterday reaffirmed its ban on septic tanks in San Geronimo Valley and passed a resolution calling for a written opinion from the state attorney general on the power of the board to take such action.

A joint appeal against the ban by Marin County Board of Supervisors and Lagunitas Development Co. is pending before the State Water Quality Control Board.

Bay Area Board member Jerome B. Gilbert, who is manager of the North Marin County Water District, said the next step will await the attorney general's ruling.

San Marin Owners Change Meeting Date

From now on, the association will meet quarterly instead of monthly as in the past. The board of directors will continue to meet the third Thursday of each month and will set dates for the memership meeting, according to Claude J. Curley, treasurer.

Coed Has Play Role

Still No Clues In Stabbing

San Quentin Prison investigators were still without clues today in the stabbing deaths of John C. Zamilpa Sunday and Salvator V. Martinez Tuesday.

Associate Warden James W. L. Park said more prisoners are being questioned as a routine investigation continues.

Zamilpa, a murderer, was killed on his way from his cell to the dining hall. Martinez, a kidnaper and rapist, was stabbed in the bleachers in the recreation yard.

Teen-Age Discussion Is Due In Sausalito

A Sausalito town meeting to discuss "the teen-age question" was urged last night by Mrs. Kathleen Krajeski.

Mrs. Krajeski asked the Sausalito Recreation Commission, of which she is a member, for the meeting because, she said, youngsters have no place to go at night other than to meet in cars or to go to another town or city.

She recommended that ministers and priests lead participation in trying to provide teen-age activities and recreation, and said civic groups such as the chamber of commerce and service clubs might join the effort. Commissioners took no action, saying they will discuss this at another meeting.

It was agreed to hold a work-session to discuss a request by City Mgr. Charles A. Brown for a projected capital outlay of the commission over a five-year period. The commission discussed two proposed sites for a new playground in the south end of town, one near Third and Valley Streets, one at Third and Main Streets.

Mrs. Krajeski told the commission she is resigning, effective Feb. 1, in order to have more time with her family.

Pry Try Reported

Dr. George Goder of 50 Reed Ranch Road, Tiburon, reported to Tiburon sheriff's deputies yesterday that someone tried ot pry open the sliding dining room door of his home Tuesday or Wednesday.

Contractor Group Names Directors

Three Marin County men were successful in directors and trustee elections held last night by the Plumbing, Heating and Cooling Contractors of Marin, Sonoma and Mendocino Counties.

Directors elected to represent Marin were Russell Thompson of San Rafael and Charles D. Kyne of Fairfax. Walter Louis of San Rafael won the election as trustee of the industry fund.

The directors will elect officers Jan. 13.

Said Neil Abercrombie of the county probation department: "For any alcoholism service group to attain a 40 per cent success rate is remarkable. This institute is succeeding in at least half of its cases. The saving to the county is difficult to estimate, but it is obviously great."

County Health Officer Carolyn B. Albrecht also said a saving could come from continuation of the institute.

The institute plans to make a second plea for funds from the county to support welfare and probation department referrals, said Meyerson.

Ban Of Septic Tanks Reaffirmed

The Bay Area Water Pollution Control Board yesterday reaffirmed its ban on septic tanks in San Geronimo Valley and passed a resolution calling for a written opinion from the state attorney general on the power of the board to take such action.

A joint appeal against the ban by Marin County Board of Supervisors and Lagunitas Development Co. is pending before the State Water Quality Control Board.

Bay Area Board member Jerome B. Gilbert, who is manager of the North Marin County Water District, said the next step will await the attorney general's ruling.

Still No Clues In Stabbing

San Quentin Prison investigators were still without clues today in the stabbing deaths of John C. Zamilpa Sunday and Salvator V. Martinez Tuesday.

Associate Warden James W. L. Park said more prisoners are being questioned as a routine investigation continues.

Teen-Age Discussion Is Due In Sausalito

A Sausalito town meeting to discuss "the teen-age question" was urged last night by Mrs. Kathleen Krajeski.

Mrs. Krajeski asked the Sausalito Recreation Commission, of which she is a member, for the meeting because, she said, youngsters have no place to go at night other than to meet in cars or to go to another town or city.

She recommended that ministers and priests lead participation in trying to provide teen-age activities and recreation, and said civic groups such as the chamber of commerce and service clubs might join the effort. Commissioners took no action, saying they will discuss this at another meeting.

It was agreed to hold a work-session to discuss a request by City Mgr. Charles A. Brown for a projected capital outlay of the commission over a five-year period. The commission discussed two proposed sites for a new playground in the south end of town, one near Third and Valley Streets, one at Third and Main Streets.

Mrs. Krajeski told the commission she is resigning, effective Feb. 1, in order to have more time with her family.

Pry Try Reported

Dr. George Goder of 50 Reed Ranch Road, Tiburon, reported to Tiburon sheriff's deputies yesterday that someone tried ot pry open the sliding dining room door of his home Tuesday or Wednesday.

Opening lead — ♡ Q

West opened the queen of hearts, holding the first trick, and continued with the jack of hearts to South's king.

South led a club to dummy's queen and returned a low diamond to the king.

WEST IS OPAQUE

This is where West showed he was not made of glass.

He played a low diamond at the same speed as the other players — not too quickly and not too slowly.

South naturally assumed that East had the ace of diamonds. He therefore led a low diamond and tried a finesse with dummy's ten.

East won with the jack of diamonds and returned his last heart to dummy's ace.

Now when declarer led another diamond he was flabbergasted to discover that West had the ace.

WOULD MAKE CONTRACT

South would make the contract easily if West took the first diamond trick with the ace.

West would have no further entry to the hearts, so South would be in no danger even if he later lost a trick to the jack of diamonds.

South would have an equally easy time if West made it clear that he was "refusing" the first diamond trick.

It isn't always enough to play low when declarer tries to knock out your entry to a long suit.

Thief Takes Treasure Among The Underwear

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— A coin collection valued at $1,500 was reported missing yesterday from the home of Dr. Paul Dodd, former president of San Francisco State College.

The collection included two gold coins minted for Alexander the Great about 2,300 years ago. Dodd told police the coins had been hidden in a pair of undershorts in a dresser drawer. Nothing else was stolen, Dodd said.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

Life-Extending Miracles Pose New Questions For Moralists

VAN DELLEN

Yesterday's triumphs are today's problems. New discoveries lead to ethical, moral, and philosophical questions. Many physicians are asking themselves what these innovations have done to, not for, the people. Are they prolonging life or prolonging death?

The invention of the artificial kidney serves as a good example. The younger individual who is healthy, except for diseased kidneys, is able to live a normal life by having his waste products filtered out through an artificial kidney once or twice a week. Shall we treat in the same way the elderly man who has a similar kidney problem but who also suffers from senility and serious heart trouble? Most medics advise against prolonging the death of this uremic oldster, but they do not want to be the judge in these cases.

SEVERAL HUNDRED kidney transplantations have been done, and with improvement in technical skill, the survival time of the recipient increases. Those obtaining a kidney from a relative stand a 75 per cent chance of living more than a year. The body usually reacts to foreign organ substitutes by forming antibodies against them. These rejection factors can be blocked by the use of mercaptopurine or radiating the spleen.

There is no ethical issue for the donor in these cases. He is extremly generous to sacrifice one of his healthy kidneys to prolong the life of a close relative. Some may argue that it is foolish considering the risk to the giver and the relatively short period that the transplanted organ will survive.

The recipient, on the other hand, has the will to live and is faced with the problem of accepting something that money cannot buy even though the chance of success is small. Nowadays too few of us are disciplined to face death with dignity when the time comes.

The same problems will arise when surgeons are able to transplant hearts. Who will choose which dying cardiac patient will get the new heart? We are closer to this type of surgery than many believe.

EARLY RISING

Mrs. T. writes: Is it better for a woman who has given birth to get out of bed a day or two later or stay in bed for 10 to 14 days?

REPLY

The evidence is all in favor of early ambulation. This helps to maintain strength and prevent the development of blood clots in the veins.

STONES FROM INACTIVITY

F. B. writes: Can kidney stones be the result of inactivity due to leg amputation?

REPLY

Yes. During prolonged rest from any cause, calcium tends to leave the bones and pass out through the kidneys. An over-abundance of this material encourages crystals to form and stones to develop.

DIET IN EPILEPSY

P. R. writes: Is it better for a person with epilepsy not to eat sweets?

REPLY

Diet has little to do with epilepsy. Years ago the ketogenic diet was popular. It included foods high in fat to promote body acidity.

Todays Health Hint — First eat what you should, then eat what you want.

License Plate Mess Blamed On Inmates

BOSTON (AP) — Some Massachusetts motorists have received red 1964 auto plates instead of green 1966 plates, pairs of plates with different sets of numbers and plates with numbers printed out of alignment.

Motor vehicle registrar Richard E. McLaughlin blamed the mix-up on "frolicsome inmates" at Walpole State Prison, where the auto plates are made.

License Plate Mess Blamed On Inmates

BOSTON (AP) — Some Massachusetts motorists have received red 1964 auto plates instead of green 1966 plates, pairs of plates with different sets of numbers and plates with numbers printed out of alignment.

Motor vehicle registrar Richard E. McLaughlin blamed the mix-up on "frolicsome inmates" at Walpole State Prison, where the auto plates are made.

Marincello Density On Planner Agenda

The West Marin Master Plan, deletion of interim zoning, Marincello and density for planned community zones are all slated for discussion by the Marin County Planning Commission Monday.

The meeting will begin at 9 a.m. at the Civic Center.

Amendments to the Marincello Master Plan are the third matter on the agenda. Study of access through or near the Bunker Hill Road, removal of multiple dwellings proposed in the Tennessee Valley portion of the plan, and covenants or restrictions that would assure development according to plan are the amendments asked by the board of supervisors when it approved the plan Nov. 12.

Number four on the agenda is a proposal that density in a planned community zone be set by existing master plans covering the land or adjacent lands. Commissioners have discussed the posibility of bonus density for developers with quality plans.

At 2 p.m. the commission is to discuss deletion of interim zones which cover the rural area of the county. The change to zones under the comprehensive zoning ordinance would place the county under one ordinance. Property owners have protested that the change would also place more restrictions on their land.

Also on the agenda at 2 p.m. is a continued hearing on the West Marin Master Plan. Density proposed in the plan on a slope of land formula will be the main point of discussion.

Item 21 on the agenda is a proposed change from agricultural and light industrial zones to heavy industrial zone for land surrounding the county airport at Novato. This change was requested by the board of supervisors.

Yule Car Theft Season Warning Given By CHP

Because Christmas shoppers make many short stops and are therefore reluctant to bother to park their cars, auto theft usually increases during the Christmas season, Lt. William H. Porter of the Corte Madera office of the California Highway Patrol warned yesterday.

He issued a plea for drivers to lock their cars, remove keys from ignitions, park in well-traveled and lighted locations and to write down the license and serial number of the car, along with a list of dents and unusual features and accessories, to help with quick identification in case of a theft.

More than three-fifths of the cars stolen in California this year were either unlocked or had the key in the ignition, Porter said.

Grand Bahama is having a boom. Population has jumped 40 per cent over last year, and 200,000 tourists, more than double a year ago, have visited there this year.

ALONG MARIN'S SPORTS TRAIL

I-J Sports Editor

Kezar Powder Rooms Dangerous; A Nice Place To Visit, But . . .

BATTLE CRY: I enjoyed a hearty chuckle out of a recent Sports Illustrated myth that rated San Francisco's professional football fans as the politest in the National League.

The writer must have meant the players. Or he wrote the article in the comfy of his den while watching 49er Highlights of 1963.

POLITE FANS? in San Francisco? The author apparently has never visited the men's powder rooms at Kezar. I can't speak for the ladies' otty-pay, for a complete stranger in paradise am I, but the gents' ohhny-jay gets rougher than an intra-squad game of mumbly-peg at San Quentin. Why, it's like a Hell's Angels rock'n'roll contest in a phone booth. More elbows and knees than bargain days at Macy's basement.

IN THE first place, San Francisco pro grid fans cannot read. They go IN the door marked "exit" and OUT the door marked "enter." In between is wild; every man for himself, and the hell with women and children first, just get me outta here!

Then there is the danger of just trying to walk past the antiquated an-cays. You can be strolling along, minding your own business, when suddenly—whoosh—a wave of human anxiety will sweep you into the chamber of horrors. If you make the complete cycle you get a battle star for your VFW ribbon.

THE MOST dangerous times are just before the opening kickoff, during timeouts, at halftime (especially then) and immediately after the final gun. If it happens before the game, you're in big trouble, Bunkie, because it is difficult navigating down the River of No Return while carrying a Coke bag, program, blanket, bag of sandwiches, transistor and your wife. Don't you dare ask me how I know!

The thing to do is wait until the game starts, then make a mad dash for it. I did this once when we were playing the Colts, but some fool player crossed me up and called time out. There I was, trapped. When I got back to my seat we were playing the Packers. Which wouldn't have been too bad except they were playing in Green Bay.

ANOTHER TIME just before a game I had to see a man about a music lesson and, naturally, waited in line for about 10 minutes until I discovered it led to the telephone booth. I don't know who was more surprised, me or the operator. I sang Three Coins in the Fountain and she gave me change. This was one case where the line was REALLY busy.

Also I must tell you about a friend of mine, Robert Hunter of Los Angeles, who visited Kezar for the first time this season. Just about kickoff time he whispered to me that he was going to powder his nose and would be right back.

THREE DAYS later I received the following telegram:

"DEAR JIM: Kezar biffy nice place to visit, but I wouldn't want to live here. Just got elected national chairman of Grand Old Potty. Having wonderful time, wish you were here."

Someone, you see, had called time out.

IN CONCLUSION, with the 49er-Packer finale coming up Sunday, I feel compelled to warn you ladies that if your husband doesn't come home Sunday night, don't call the local bistro. Call the San Francisco Parks and Recreation Department and ask them to please search the outmoded and incommodious commodes. Maybe they'll be able to flush him out.

I KNOW, because I was there. Where do you think I collected all my cornography? The handwriting is on the wall, Bunkie.

SEASON'S GREETING: Vacation will tear me away from this column for the rest of the year, so I won't be seeing you until Jan. 3, 1966. Meantime, have a Joyous Christmas. And as for New Year's, have one on me.

49ers Have An Old Score To Settle With Green Bay

The San Francisco 49ers have a chance to settle an old score with Green Bay in general and Paul Hornung in particular this Sunday at Kezar Stadium.

A win by the 49ers (7-6) could force the Packers into a playoff for the Western Division title.

Green Bay is 10-3. Baltimore is 9-3-1 but seems doomed to defeat against Los Angeles tomorrow since the Colts' quarterbacks are all hurt. But red-hot Chicago (9-4) probably would tie the Packers if the latter lost to San Francisco.

Hornung, the Packers' controversial Golden Boy, has had his ups and downs but many of his ups have come against the Prospectors. In 11 games against them, he has scored 110 points, —more than a seventh of his lifetime total. He scored 22 in a 1959 battle at Kezar Stadium and 23 in Green Bay the next season. It was 13-0 at Kezar that year and Hornung scored them all.

Big Ken Willard pulled up with a slightly muscle pull in 49er drills yesterday but coach Jack Christiansen said Willard would be ready to go Sunday.

Jerry Mertens, hobbled since the Dallas game, is coming back to right wing on defense with Kermit Alexander returning to safety and rookie George Donnelly going back on the bench.

Meanwhile, split end Dave Parks was the only 49er to land on the UPI all-pro team. Willard made the second team.

Honorable mention spots went to tackle Len Rohde, guard John Thomas, quarterback John Brodie, and flanker Bernie Casey on the offense and end Clark Miller, tackle Charlie Kreuger, lineback er Matt Hazeltine, and halfback Jim Johnson on the defense.

Forty Niners fans had complaints only about Johnson and Kreuger whom they felt deserved sports somewhere on the first two teams.

FOUR MARIN GRIDDERS WIN ALL-NORCAL VOTE

Novato tailback Dick Otis, along with Lazzarini and Balzan, was named on the All-North Coast first team and tackle Gary Wittenmeier of Marin Catholic was picked second team on that regional squad.

Chargers Lose Most Top Draft Choices

By MIKE RATHET

National Football League teams, throwing a 1-2-3 combination from coast to coast, have beaten the American League's San Diego Charges to their top three draft choices—Don Davis, Nick Rassas and Milt Morin.

Within an hour yesterday the NFL had pulled off the rapid-fire coup this way:

—Davis, a 255-pound defensive tackle from Los Angeles State, was signed in Los Angeles by the New York Giants, who had selected him as their No. 2 pick.

—Rassas, an All-America defensive back at Notre Dame, signed in Atlanta with the NFL's new Falcons, who had made him a second-round selection.

—Morin, a 6-foot-4, 245-pound receiver from the University of Massachusetts, signed in New York with the Cleveland Browns, who had tapped him as their No. 1 choice.

No salary figures were announced but all were believed to be in the six-figure class.

The signings continued the NFL's raid on the San Diego club, added to Atlanta's impressive collection of talent and gave the NFL another boost over the AFL in the number of premier signings.

NFL teams previously had picked off the Chargers' fourth choice, halfback Charles Brown of Syracuse; their fifth choice, Miami halfback Russ Smith, and their eighth selection, linebacker Doug Buffone of Louisville. Brown and Buffone signed with Chicago while Smith went with Atlanta.

The Falcons now have signed five of their first six selections, including the big one—Texas linebacker Tommy Nobis. In addition, they also have signed two of Rassas' Notre Dame teammates, receiver Phil Sheridan and halfback Bill Wolski.

Morin was the 11th of 16 first-round selections to be corraled by the NFL, which has lost only one top choice. Three other No. 1 picks are in bowl games, one player—Illinois' Jim Grabowski—remains unsigned. The AFL's New York Jets signed Oklahoma linebacker Carl McAdams, St. Louis' top choice.

The AFL, on the other hand, has signed five of its 10 first-round picks and lost three to the NFL. Grabowski and Mississippi halfback Mike Dennis still have not been signed.

ALONG MARIN'S SPORTS TRAIL

Kezar Powder Rooms Dangerous; A Nice Place To Visit, But . . .

BATTLE CRY: I enjoyed a hearty chuckle out of a recent Sports Illustrated myth that rated San Francisco's professional football fans as the politest in the National League.

The writer must have meant the players. Or he wrote the article in the comfy of his den while watching 49er Highlights of 1963.

POLITE FANS? in San Francisco? The author apparently has never visited the men's powder rooms at Kezar. I can't speak for the ladies' otty-pay, for a complete stranger in paradise am I, but the gents' ohhny-jay gets rougher than an intra-squad game of mumbly-peg at San Quentin. Why, it's like a Hell's Angels rock'n'roll contest in a phone booth. More elbows and knees than bargain days at Macy's basement.

IN THE first place, San Francisco pro grid fans cannot read. They go IN the door marked "exit" and OUT the door marked "enter." In between is wild; every man for himself, and the hell with women and children first, just get me outta here!

Then there is the danger of just trying to walk past the antiquated an-cays. You can be strolling along, minding your own business, when suddenly—whoosh—a wave of human anxiety will sweep you into the chamber of horrors. If you make the complete cycle you get a battle star for your VFW ribbon.

THE MOST dangerous times are just before the opening kickoff, during timeouts, at halftime (especially then) and immediately after the final gun. If it happens before the game, you're in big trouble, Bunkie, because it is difficult navigating down the River of No Return while carrying a Coke bag, program, blanket, bag of sandwiches, transistor and your wife. Don't you dare ask me how I know!

The thing to do is wait until the game starts, then make a mad dash for it. I did this once when we were playing the Colts, but some fool player crossed me up and called time out. There I was, trapped. When I got back to my seat we were playing the Packers. Which wouldn't have been too bad except they were playing in Green Bay.

ANOTHER TIME just before a game I had to see a man about a music lesson and, naturally, waited in line for about 10 minutes until I discovered it led to the telephone booth. I don't know who was more surprised, me or the operator. I sang Three Coins in the Fountain and she gave me change. This was one case where the line was REALLY busy.

Also I must tell you about a friend of mine, Robert Hunter of Los Angeles, who visited Kezar for the first time this season. Just about kickoff time he whispered to me that he was going to powder his nose and would be right back.

Picks: Packers To Win Championship

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP) — Green Bay should wrap up the Western Conference title Sunday on the final day of the season if the Packers can generate the same smashing power they showed in beating Baltimore last Sunday.

The battered Colts figure to have their hands full tomorrow against the revived Los Angeles Rams in the Coliseum. Chicago can be expected to pull out all the stops against Minnesota with Gale Sayers going for the scoring title and the Bears still clinging to a hope of a tie for first.

It's the last time around for the Hand-picker. Last week's 8-3 record made it 60-30-1 in the NFL, 28-15-5 in the AFL and 88-45-6 for the season.

Let's try once more: (All games Sunday unless otherwise noted):

NFL

Los Angeles 21, Baltimore 14. Saturday — with Gary Cuozzo out of action, Tom Matte or Ed Brown must carry the load in this nationally televised game over CBS. Colts desperately need this one but must go with inexperienced passer or vet who never has worked with receivers.

Roman Gabriel and Tommy McDonald red hot combo for Rams on three-game win streak. Colts won Oct. 24 game 35-20 on great last quarter by John Unitas. Rams favored.

Green Bay 21, San Francisco 14 — Paul Hornung and Jim Taylor looked like one-two punch of old against Colts and Bart Starr was on beam. Solid Packer defense beat 49ers 27-10 in mid-October but it must be at top level to handle John Brodie-Dave Parks battery. San Francisco offense in high gear but their defense hasn't stopped many. Packers favored.

Washington 28, Pittsburgh 10 — Redskins are trying safety Paul Krause at split end with Pat Richter out and are benching Charley Taylor for George Hugley. Steelers in tough shape have lost six in a row and had nine passes intercepted last week by Eagles. Washington romped 31-3 Nov. 21 and should repeat. Redskins favored.

Chicago 42, Minnesota 21 — All out for the races. Gale Sayers scored six last week and ripped the Vikings for four TDs the first time they saw him Oct. 17 in 45-37 Chicago win. Vikings snapped out of it against Lions but their defense is in for another long afternoon. Bears favored.

New York 28, Dallas 24 — This is for second place and a trip to the Palyoff Bowl at Miami. Giants go if they win or tie. Cowboys must win to get the sun tan. Giants different club from group that bowed in Dallas opened 31-2. Homer Jones gives New York long ball threat plus solid running by Tucker Frederickson and Ernie Koy. Dallas will probably have Don Perkins back but they must do it by air with Bob Hayes the big gun. New York favored.

Cleveland 28, St. Louis 14 — Charley Johnson underwent shoulder operation this week so beat-up Cards must go with Buddy Humphrey. Browns had their letdown in Los Angeles and should be tuning up for Jan. 2 title game. Jim Brown needs TDs to catch up with Sayers. Cleveland favored despite 49-13 beating by St. Louis, Sept. 26.

Philadelphia 17, Detroit 14 — Eagles have more punch, but Lions' rugged defense will make it real tight. Don't be surprised if underdog Detroit scores upset but the home team deserves a slight edge if it can keep Alex Karras and Roger Brown off Norm Snead's back.

AFL

Boston 28, Houston 21 Saturday — George Blanda threw three TDs in Oilers' Sept. 19 victory 31-10, but Pats are moving in stretch and Houston is staggering. If Jets lose to Buffalo, this could be for second place in the East. It's on national television from Boston over NBC. Boston favored.

Buffalo 37, New York 21 — Bills have beaten Jets once in regular season and twice in exhibitions and must stay sharp to be ready for Dec. 26 title game at San Diego. Jets hopeful Matt Snell's ankle will be solid enough to let him play. Buffalo favored.

Oakland 21, San Diego 14 — Chargers without Keith Lincoln, but Paul Lowe needs only 11 yards to top league rushing record. Oakland was in race until last week and Al Davis would like to get even for Sept. 19 defeat by Chargers 17-6. San Diego favored.

Kansas City 31, Denver 21 — Denver will go with Jacky Lee at quarterback, hoping to reverse earlier 31-23 defeat.

Rams Favored To Bury Baltimore

By BOB MYERS

LOS ANGELES (AP)— The Baltimore Colts place all their chips on the table and the Los Angeles Rams hope to rake them in when these National Football League rivals meet in Memorial Coliseum tomorrow.

It's the climactic battle of the 1965 season for the Colts, badly crippled by the loss of their famed and feared quarterback, Johnny Unitas, and also their second string signal caller, Gary Cuozzo.

It is also something of a climax for the celler - bound Rams, who have boomed along to three consecutive victories and suddenly loom as a large factor in the hectic race in the NFL western conference.

The Rams are favored by 6½ points—a tribute to their rejuvenation and, in reverse, the absence of Mr. Unitas. Johnny U. will watch the game from the Colts' bench, his injured knee still in a cast.

As additional insurance Baltimore claimed on waivers from the Pittsburgh Steelers a 12-year NFL veteran quarterback, Ed Brown.

The title picture is this:

If Baltimore wins and Green Bay loses to San Francisco at San Francisco Sunday, Baltimore picks up the chips and faces the eastern division winner, Cleveland, Jan. 2.

If Green Bay wins, the Packers win the division title.

If the Chicago Bears defeat Minnesota at Chicago, and both Green Bay and Baltimore lose, Chicago and Green Bay tie for the title.

Confusing?

Well, so has been the race in the league's wild western section.

The Rams lost eight straight games and in the last defeat also lost their regular quarterback, Bill Munson, via a leg injury.

Alternate Roman Gabriel went into service and Los Angeles knocked off in order Green Bay, St. Louis and Cleveland.

No one can really say why the Rams lost eight in a row but Gabriel, and such backs as Dick Bass, Ben Wilson, Lester Josephson and Willie Brown and the offensive line suddenly jelled.

The defense boasts the best record against rushing in the league, thanks to the massive front four, David Jones, Merlin Olsen, Lamar Lundy and Roosevelt Grier.

The Rams have made no secret they have a score to settle with the Colts. At Baltimore Oct. 24 the Rams led, 20-14, in the fourth quarter.

But Unitas united the Colts and they won, 35-20.

Loser, also, of $1,000 was the Rams' coach, Harland Svare, who, well aware of the consequences and fine from Commissioner Pete Rozelle, waxed critical of the officiating.

Baltimore obviously is at a disadvantage in this rematch. Matte, a veteran halfback, has been converted almost overnight into a quarterback, a position in which he has called seven plays as a pro.

Matte quarterbacked at Ohio State. But that was five years ago and the quarterback requirements of Coach Woody Hayes are somewhat different than pro ball, like night and day.

Matte, Lenny Moore, Jimmy Orr, Raymond Berry and the Colts' offense, and their admittedly strong defensive platoon, have a big job ahead.

NEW YORK (AP) — Oakland center Jim Otto, who has been on the players' all-star team every year the American Football League has been in existence, made it for the sixth time today.

Another repeater was Kansas City's Jerry Mays — but at a different position. Mays, who was selected as a defensive tackle last year, was selected this time for his play as a defensive end.

Buffalo's Eastern Division champions placed seven players on the team, picked by the players in the league. San Diego's Western Division champions were next with four. Players selected automatically are eligible for the AFL All-Star Bowl at Houston, Jan. 15.

TENNESSEE FAVORED IN BLUEBONNET TV BOWL

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — "We are expecting a 38-37 game and expect to score the 38," said Glenn Dobbs, coach of Tulsa, on the Bluebonnet Bowl game with Tennessee scheduled tomorrow.

Doug Dickey, coach of Tennessee, wasn't that strong but he observed that no one had held Tulsa to less than two touchdowns and "I figure we will need 15 points at the least."

But he wasn't as positive about his team doing the most scoring, although he did not forecast defeat.

Thus, the battle lines were drawn today for the seventh annual Bluebonnet Bowl in which the favorite never has won.

Tennessee is the favorite here by seven points.

Both coaches have injuries to key men to worry them but Dickey said, "Let's not even talk about injuries — we are playing the game with what we have, there is no point in discussing what might have been."

Dobbs said his massive tackle, Willie Townes, who was ailing with a charley horse, wouldn't start but would play some, perhaps a lot. Townes was the outstanding lineman of last year when Tulsa beat Mississippi 14-7.

"Willie is resting," Dobbs grinned. "I think he will be out there to block a pass or two. He does it so easy."

A crowd of 60,000, barring bad weather, is predicted for the game set for Rice University Stadium at 11:15 a.m., PST.

The game matches the mightiest passing combination in the country — Bill Anderson to Howard Twilley — against one of the nation's point-stingiest teams until it met UCLA in the last game of the season. Then the Vols went all out offensively and wound up the season in style with a 37-34 victory.

Namath Wins Top Honor For Rookies

By MIKE RATHET

NEW YORK (AP) — "That's real nice," said Joe Namath when he was informed that he had been selected Rookie of the Year in the American Football League.

"You must have run out of candidates."

And so, using the defense mechanism — the quick retort — that he has employed in accepting praise throughout the season while trying to avoid appearing immodest, the likeable $400,000 quarterback of the New York Jets accepted his latest honors.

Namath was selected yesterday by an Associated Press panel of 24 sports writers — three from each league city — and was a landslide winner with 18 votes to three for the runner-up, Denver linebacker John Bramlett.

Only three others received votes, running back Wendell Hayes of Denver and defensive back Kent McCloughan and linebacker Gus Otto, both of Oakland.

Seals Sell Defender To Eastern League

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco Seals reported Thursday the sale of Harley Hodgson, defenseman, to the Knoxville, Tenn., club in the Eastern Hockey League.

Half-Mantle Still Worth Full Salary

NEW YORK (AP) — Even if he plays only half time, Yankee super-star Mickey Mantle will continue to collect $100,000 a year from the New York club, says General Manager Ralph Houk.

"I can't see ever cutting Mantle after what he's been to baseball," said Houk yesterday after indicating several of the former American League champions would have their salaries slashed.

"As long as he plays he will receive the same money. Fellows like that, no matter what you pay them, somewhere along the line they have been underpaid. You make it up to them toward the end."

Houk said Mantle's career could be prolonged if he is given rest periods and had his spots picked for him.

"I'd like to see him play for three more years, and I believe we can do it by picking spots from him to play," said Houk. "Mickey just has to realize he can't play every day. If he realizes that, he can do a better job when he does play."

In 1964, Mantle had one of his better years, hitting .303, with 35 homers and 111 RBI.

Marin Man Named To Racing Post

Appointment of Lee Darragh as full-time public relations director for Golden Gate Fields and Tanforan Racing Association was announced yesterday by General Manager Bob Gunderson.

Darragh, who lives in Mill Valley, entered the public relations field after graduating from the University of Pittsburg in 1954.

During the past year and a half Darragh has been employed as head of Public Relations and Advertising for the Draper Companies in San Francisco.

Herb Phipps, who served as public relations director at this year's Tanforan and Golden Gate Fields race meetings returns to full-time activities with his advertising agency.

Picks: Packers To Win Championship

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP) — Green Bay should wrap up the Western Conference title Sunday on the final day of the season if the Packers can generate the same smashing power they showed in beating Baltimore last Sunday.

The battered Colts figure to have their hands full tomorrow against the revived Los Angeles Rams in the Coliseum. Chicago can be expected to pull out all the stops against Minnesota with Gale Sayers going for the scoring title and the Bears still clinging to a hope of a tie for first.

It's the last time around for the Hand-picker. Last week's 8-3 record made it 60-30-1 in the NFL, 28-15-5 in the AFL and 88-45-6 for the season.

Let's try once more: (All games Sunday unless otherwise noted):

NFL

Los Angeles 21, Baltimore 14, Saturday — with Gary Cuozzo out of action, Tom Matte or Ed Brown must carry the load in this nationally televised game over CBS. Colts desperately need this one but must go with inexperienced passer or vet who never has worked with receivers.

Solid Packer defense beat 49ers 27-10 in mid-October but it must be at top level to handle John Brodie-Dave Parks battery. San Francisco offense in high gear but their defense hasn't stopped many. Packers favored.

Steelers in tough shape have lost six in a row and had nine passes intercepted last week by Eagles. Washington romped 31-3 Nov. 21 and should repeat. Redskins favored.

Chicago 42, Minnesota 21 — All out for the races. Gale Sayers scored six last week and ripped the Vikings for four TDs the first time they saw him Oct. 17 in 45-37 Chicago win. Vikings snapped out of it against Lions but their defense is in for another long afternoon. Bears favored.

"I'd like to see him play for three more years, and I believe we can do it by picking spots from him to play," said Houk. "Mickey just has to realize he can't play every day. If he realizes that, he can do a better job when he does play."

In 1964, Mantle had one of his better years, hitting .303, with 35 homers and 111 RBI.

Documentary For Worst Gridder?

It was the usual thing of that kind: Mike Garrett, momentarily fumbling the ball in the end zone, and then running through the entire Stanford or Cal or Penn State team (or somebody, you get confused on documentaries); Mike Garrett, dancing through the USC line, demonstrating terrific peripheral vision or peripheral footwork or something; Mike Garrett getting the Heisman Trophy. And so on.

It shows Mike doing everything but passing freshman English or graduating. And that's fine with me. Because Mike Garrett just happens to be not only a fine athlete but a finer human being.

BUT I wonder sometimes why these documentaries don't zero in on an athlete who's untypical in another direction, the all-purpose "Who's he?" of college ball, the guy who gets in the record book only for "yards lost from scrimmage" or "fumbles" or "passes had intercepted." The number on his back is zero in honor of his lifetime touchdowns, and, if you made his life story in a movie, it would be a part for Joe E. Brown, not Jim.

AS THE house lights dim, a football field comes fuzzily into focus and a team in gold uniforms with $ signs on their helmets comes shakily into view—shakily because they are getting belted all over the field by their opposition, Coalminers' Tech of Pennsylvania. This is Croesus University, the oldest institution of higher learning in the Ivy League, 44 future bond salesmen with a sprinkling of youngsters who will be high draft choices of Madison Ave. Their leader is Reggie Van Rensselaer, the only player on either team who sleeps on monogrammed sheets and plays with an engraved football. His cleats are from Tiffany's and he is most famous for leaning across the line of scrimmage once against Coalminers' Tech and inquiring honestly, "Tell me—what is coal?"

THE NARRATOR proudly identifies him. "Ladies and gentlemen, Channel Zero proudly presents a half-hour of the highlights in the life of a man who has been unanimously acclaimed the worst football player in the history of the game—a man who has won every honor for ineptitude known to the sport—150 pounds of cowardice and indecision, Mr. Inconsistency.

"It was coach Duffy Danehy himself who said of Reggie, 'If it weren't for Reggie Van Rensselaer, Croesus would be just another football team. If it weren't for Reggie, they would have scored a first down or made the line of scrimmage or possibly even scored some points'."

"OBSERVE HOW Reggie takes the ball from the center. You Will notice he stands 27 yards behind the line of scrimmage. This is an innovation the coach put in because Reggie cannot catch a ball from the center on the fly and he was constantly hit on the nose with it.

"Notice how Reggie neatly ignores his interference and cuts the wrong way with the ball. This is not trickiness, this is near-sightedness. You have heard of 'peripheral vision?' Well, Reggie can't even see straight ahead.

"NOTICE THE technique in fumbling. Lots of guys fumble when hit by a tackler. Reggie fumbles when hit with the ball—or a shaft of sunlight. He has the surest hands in the league. He is sure to fumble everything thrown straight at him, handed to him, above his head or below his knees. He is the most versatile fumbler in the history of the game. The water boy even has to hold his cup for him.

"Notice here how he is looking for an opening. He is running backward so as to get a better perspective on it. Now observe how deftly he steps into his own end zone and gets tackled for a safety and two points for the opposition. This is the thing Reggie does better than any athlete who ever lived. He is the leading scorer on four of the teams which played him this year. In fact, the only points Croesus scored in his career were safeties. They rolled up 78 points last year—two at a time. He made every all-opponents' team in the conference simply because he was their high scorer when he played them.

"HE IS THE complete football player, a triple threat man. He is a threat to his own team no matter what he does. He can lose yardage—and the ball—on a pass, a punt or a run. As coach Vince Lombardi recommends, he 'runs to daylight.' Daylight, of course, is always the opposite way from the line of scrimmage and that's where Reggie runs. The object of the game is to get the ball in the end zone and score. Reggie does this more often than Jim Brown. The fact it is his own end zone, he considers a quibble.

"Reggie will not be a high draft choice of the pros. He is, in fact, going into the stock market. He will, of course, be an expert at selling short."

Richey Gains In Tennis Rankings

NEW YORK (AP) — Cliff Richey, of the tennis playing family from Dallas, made the biggest jump in the new men's ranking list.

The young Texan zoomed from 11th to third, rating just behind Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., and Arthur Ashe of Los Angeles in the list released yesterday by the ranking committee of the U.S. Lawn Tennis Assn.

Ralston retained his No. 1 position although Ashe, the college champion, has been the hottest American on the courts of late. Rankings, however, are based on 1965 performances.

Mrs. Billie Jean Moffitt King, a recent bride, replaced Cliff's sister, Nancy, as the No. 1 female player in the women's rankings released two weeks ago. Mrs. King is from Long Beach, Calif.

Others in the men's top ten include: 4, Chuck McKinley, Port Washington, N.Y. 5, Charles Pasarell, San Juan, Puerto Rico. 6, Hamilton Richardson, Dallas. 7, Mike Belkin, Miami Beach. 8, Martin Riessen, Evanston, Ill. 9, Ron Holmberg, Baytown, Tex. 10, Tom Edlefsen, Los Angeles.

Riessen and Clark Graebner, of Beechwood, Ohio, were ranked first in doubles. McKinley and Ralston, the top tandem a year ago, were ranked second.

Seals Host Shorthanded Maple Leafs

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Although the fourth-place San Francisco Seals are 20 points back of Western Hockey League leading Victoria, it's the Maple Leafs who are worrying as they come in for a two-game series starting tonight.

Recalls by the parent Toronto team in the National Hockey League and other squad reductions have left the Leafs with only three defensemen.

Veteran Leaf center Eddie Litzenberger has gone to Rochester of the American Hockey League in a deal predicated upon the return to Victoria of Larry Keenan, who missed the first 16 games because of a operation.

The Seals actually have not rolled over on the ice for the Leafs this season, tying them twice in three games. Those are the only ties in an 18-4-2 record for the Leafs, whose four losses all have been on the road. The Seals are 8-11-2 with 18 points, five behind third-place Vancouver.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

LOS ANGELES — Andy Gonzalez, 139½, Pittsburgh, outpointed Bernie Magallanes, 141, Los Angeles, 8; Zeke Perez, 149, Denver, Colo., and Frank Jennings, 149, Compton, Calif., 8, draw.

Ralston retained his No. 1 position although Ashe, the college champion, has been the hottest American on the courts of late. Rankings, however, are based on 1965 performances.

Mrs. Billie Jean Moffitt King, a recent bride, replaced Cliff's sister, Nancy, as the No. 1 female player in the women's rankings released two weeks ago. Mrs. King is from Long Beach, Calif.

Others in the men's top ten include: 4, Chuck McKinley, Port Washington, N.Y. 5, Charles Pasarell, San Juan, Puerto Rico. 6, Hamilton Richardson, Dallas. 7, Mike Belkin, Miami Beach. 8, Martin Riessen, Evanston, Ill. 9, Ron Holmberg, Baytown, Tex. 10, Tom Edlefsen, Los Angeles.

Riessen and Clark Graebner, of Beechwood, Ohio, were ranked first in doubles. McKinley and Ralston, the top tandem a year ago, were ranked second.

Seals Host Shorthanded Maple Leafs

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Although the fourth-place San Francisco Seals are 20 points back of Western Hockey League leading Victoria, it's the Maple Leafs who are worrying as they come in for a two-game series starting tonight.

Recalls by the parent Toronto team in the National Hockey League and other squad reductions have left the Leafs with only three defensemen.

Veteran Leaf center Eddie Litzenberger has gone to Rochester of the American Hockey League in a deal predicated upon the return to Victoria of Larry Keenan, who missed the first 16 games because of a operation.

The Seals actually have not rolled over on the ice for the Leafs this season, tying them twice in three games. Those are the only ties in an 18-4-2 record for the Leafs, whose four losses all have been on the road. The Seals are 8-11-2 with 18 points, five behind third-place Vancouver.

Gemini Pilots Return To Cape, Show Films

HISTORIC MEETING — Gemini 7 spacecraft glides past Gemini 6 during the rendezvous of the two craft Wednesday 160 miles above the earth. A portion of Gemini 6 is in the foreground, and at right the white space beyond is the face of the earth. (NASA photos via AP Wirephotos)

Schirra, Stafford Get Welcome From Cape

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. — Gemini 6 astronauts Walter Schirra and Thomas P. Stafford returned to Cape Kennedy today and said "thank you" to more than 400 people who made their space spectacular possible.

Waiting for them were members of the launch team, with a big white banner with red and black letters reading: "Welcome Wally and Tom from the Launch Team."

Escorted by astronaut Alan Shepard, who made the first trip into space for the United States, Schirra and Stafford walked to a microphone.

"It was the most perfect launch we ever saw," Schirra told the launch team. "Both Gemini vehicle and spacecraft did the job."

Stafford added:

"All I can do is re-emphasize what Wally said, that we can't thank you enough for the great support."

TO BERMUDA

Schirra and Stafford — two happy, healthy astronauts—flew to Bermuda earlier today from the prime recovery ship Wasp.

The Wasp's 2,400 men got ready for the wrapup of their double-header "Spirit of 76" down of the Gemini 7 craft torecovery mission, the splashdown of Gemini 1 craft tomorrow.

Schirra and Stafford, each flying co-pilot on a twin-engine Gruman airplane, were catapulted off the Wasp's flight deck at 7 a.m.

From Bermuda, an Air Force jet flew them to Cape Kennedy to continue debriefing on their spectacular rendezvous with Gemini 7 in space and their splashdown yesterday in the Atlantic almost within swimming range of this big aircraft carrier.

MEDICAL CHECK

Schirra and Stafford went to bed after going through a second heart and blood pressure check in the Wasp's sick bay, last night.

A shower and a short rest in their cabin had been followed by a candlelit dinner with the ship's officers, who were told by Schirra, clad like Stafford in aqua-blue overalls:

"Merry Christmas to all of you and thank you so much for giving us some of your hard earned holidays."

The first 10-minute film end-

Full 14-Days Goal Assured For Gemini 7

SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP)—The Gemini 7 pilots — assured that the power-producing fuel cells of their space ship would not fail them—hurtled confidently onward today to the big goal of 14 days in space.

After a night of worry over the power system, flight directors determined that it would hold up, and gave the world space endurance champions Frank Borman and James Lovell a "go" for the full distance of 5,149,400 miles.

This would bring them to a landing in the Atlantic Ocean at 6:05 a.m. PST tomorrow, in the same area where spacemen Walter Schirra and Thomas Stafford brought the Gemini 6 down yesterday near the waiting aircraft carrier Wasp.

"There's no reason," astronaut Elliot See told Borman and Lovell in a statewide pass this morning, "that we shouldn't go straight on downhill from now on."

The Gemini 7 astronauts were so sure of themselves that they made a bet with Schirra and Stafford during their historic rendezvous in space Wednesday that they would make a more accurate landing. Gemini 6 missed the aircraft carrier Wasp by less than 15 miles.

The stakes were not disclosed but Borman asked today for accurate figures on the Gemini 6 splashdown point. "There's a lot riding on that," he told mission control.

Defrosting Is Forecast For Weekend

San Rafael, with a low temperature reading of 31 degrees this morning, was one of the warmest spots in Marin County, as a cold snap snapped colder.

But the Weather Bureau today said things should start to defrost tomorrow, as the winds shift, coming from the south and bringing clouds and possibly rain.

Holding the record for the county, as usual, was Woodacre, with 19 degrees before dawn today, two degrees colder than yesterday. Novato acme next with a 23-degree reading.

Inverness, Larkspur, Point Reyes Station, Tamalpais Valley and Terra Linda all recorded lows of 28, followed by Belvedere, Mill Valley, Ross and San Anselmo a degree higher and Bolinas and Fairfax at 30. Sausalito was scorching at 36.

Frost covered the ground at lower altitudes, and was especially thick near sea level, as the cold air froze puddles and ponds. There was a thin layer of ice across the east end of Belvedere Lagoon between Peninsula and Cove roads this morning.

Atop Mount Tamalpais, Lt. Jerry Wolfram reported that a pool of water, formed when one man washed his car, had remained frozen for the past four days.

Professors Debate Whys Of Viet War

By STEPHEN COOK

The United States position in the Viet Nam war was debated by four College of Marin instructors yesterday afternoon before an overflowing audience of more than 400 students in the college's Olney Hall.

Their only points of agrement were that war is bad and it is paradoxical that, in Viet Nam and other parts of the world, freedom-loving Americans support governments which are not the popular choice.

Donald Palmer of the Spanish department attributed this dilemma to "an anti-Communist psychosis which has reduced us to a negative foreign policy."

English instructor James Heig said a decision to support an unpopular government instead of one which is both popular and Communist is a "humiliating but necessary choice."

"A Communist Viet Nam would undermine liberty and make all other countries in Southeast Asia vulnerable. We must draw the line and fight somewhere," he said.

Palmer, who won student laughter several times with phrases such as "the comic book-inspired attitude of good and bad guys in American foreign policy," listed some actions he thought the United States should take immediately:

Cease bombing of North Viet Nam. State we are ready to negotiate with anyone. Propose a cease-fire. Recognize the right

Terrorist Bomb Injures U.S. Men In Saigon

It was Saigon's fourth straight day of terrorism marking the fifth anniversary Monday of the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front.

The would-be assassin, about 15 or 16, fled in the confusion on the busy street. Only one of the Americans was seriously injured.

In North Viet Nam, Communist MIGs took to the air — but cautiously — during another day of heavy bombardment.

American pilots reported sighting seven Soviet-built MIG-17s which kept a discreet distance while apparently trailing the U.S. jets. An Air Force spokesman said the American planes were too short on fuel to take on the Communist jets.

Two U.S. planes were lost in other operations.

Carpenter Describes Life In Space, Sea

By ALAN P. CUNNINGHAM

Astronaut - aquanaut Malcolm Scott Carpenter today thrilled an audience of Mill Valley seventh and eighth graders by describing his experiences in outer space and beneath the sea, and vowed that he still hopes to be among the first men to reach the moon.

Navy Commander Carpenter, the only man to go from a orbital flight to an experiment 205 feet beneath the Pacific Ocean, appeared at Edna Maguire School as 1965 chairman of the Christmas seal drive of the National Tuberculosis Assn.

As expected, however, most of the questions from pupils—and members of the press—dealt with his exploits in outer space and deep water.

After a brief press conference, which included reporters and photographers from the county's school newspapers, Carpenter appeared before two assemblies, first for eight graders and then for seventh graders.

To the pupils, he offered several admonitions, in addition to the plea that they and their parents buy Christmas seals:

First, he urged them to "not to lose sight of the fact that the next six or eight years of your life are the most important," and to study hard, even if it means missing out on fun sometimes.

Later, he said, "there is a growing tendency in this nation to get a little bit soft," some of which he blamed on school buses and television watching. He told the youngsters to "get plenty of exercise," and confessed that he would like to see gymnastics gain more popularity.

"I think that is the greatest sport there is," he said.

As for smoking, his message was simple: "Just forget about cigarettes and you'll be thankful some day."

Carpenter said he hopes to return to the Advanced Apollo Project, which will actually carry men to the moon. For the time being, however, he will stay with Sealab.

Next step in that project, he said, is a 450-foot descent (Sealab 2 went to 205 feet this year), scheduled for March, 1967. A later mission will go to 600 feet, and, in 1969, men are to be sent to 1,000 feet for up to three months at a time.

Carpenter said he found the underwater experiment much

Korea Hero Describes Asia Peril, Patriotism

A tall, silver-haired gentleman, who lived three years as wartime prisoner of the Communist North Koreans, then was awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor, spoke of patriotism and duty to a sparse audience of Redwood High School students yesterday.

Retired Maj. Gen. William S. Dean spoke to 67 students who met "to convey our moral support and the Christmas spirit to our men in Viet Nam."

Standing straight-backed before a podium in the Redwood High School little theater, the General first told of his ordeal as a prisoner of the communists from 1950 to 1953.

His captors told him daily that American youth "lacked courage, integrity and patriotism," he said.

He said when he returned to this country, he felt rather like Rip Van Winkle awakening after a long sleep.

"It certainly was heartening to see that the youth were finer than ever before."

The general cited some activities of the Viet Nam Day Committee as traitorous. "If something is wrong, there is a way to correct it—we have the vote. We don't take matters into our own hands," he declared.

Dean told the students this is not the time for debate. "It is so important that we show our support to soldiers in the field and close ranks behind the administration," the General said.

At the start of the meeting, rally coordinator Sandy Allman explained to the General and the audience that the purpose of the assembly was to lend support to American troops during the Christmas season.

Following his talk, the General and the students signed a large Christmas card which will be sent to troops in Viet Nam.

Cushion Craft Whisks Supervisors Across Bay

By RICHARD LYTTLE

Marin County supervisors were whisked from San Rafael to San Francisco in 19 minutes this morning as a high speed hovercraft, being tested for commercial transportation, put on a VIP demonstration.

The 16-seat, Bell Aerosystems air-cushion craft loaded on the parking lot at Loch Lomond Marina and departed at 9:47 a.m.

At 10:02, with spray flying from under its thick rubber skirts, it skimmed under the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge. At 10:05 is passed the Tiburon Net Depot. At 10:06 it frightened the devil out of a loon, and at 10:07 it was midway through Racoon Straits.

Pilot Clifford Olivera of Dublin slowed the craft to pass across the wake of a tug at 10:02 and then brought the craft up on a small beach at 10:15. Wrong beach.

Olivera eased the hovercraft away and in a minute put it up on the beach at the St. Francis Yacht Club, much to the amazement of a lone surf fisherman.

The test craft, built at a cost of $275,000, gave a smooth ride

Ford Heiress Weds Shipper

ST. MORITZ, Switzerland (AP) — Automobile heiress Charlotte McDonnell Ford and Greek shipping magnate Stavros Spyros Niarchos arrived today to honeymoon at the same Alpine resort where her father honeymooned last February.

Charlotte

Miss Ford, 24-year-old elder daughter of Henry Ford II, and the 56-year-old Greek were married in Juarez, Mexico, yesterday by a civil judge one day after Niarchos received a divorce from his second wife.

The couple came to Zurich in a chartered Boeing 707 jetliner and immediately took off in a private jet for Niarchos' chalet overlooking St. Moritz, the winter sports resort where her father honeymooned early this year with his second wife, Italian-born Maria Austin.

Niarchos

The marriage of Niarchos and Miss Ford was announced in New York by a spokesman for Ford and his divorced wife, Mrs. Anne McDonnell Ford.

The wedding announcement said the couple would live in Europe.

French Chef Quitting White House

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rene Verdon, the French chef Mrs. John F. Kennedy brought to the White House to add some spice to state dinners, is quitting effective Jan. 1.

Mrs. Elizabeth Carpenter, press secretary to Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson, said today that Verdon was resigning for "personal reasons" and that his replacement would be announced shortly after the first of the year.

Verdon

The French-born Verdon was reported to be feuding with Mrs. Mary Kaltman, the petite blonde divorcee Mrs. Johnson hired to serve as White House "food coordinator" and housekeeper.

Mrs. Carpenter would not confirm that Verdon and Mrs. Kaltman were at odds. She would say only that Mrs. Kaltman, who formerly served as food coordinator at the Driskill Hotel in Austin, Hex., was hired to coordinate the White House's three kitchens for "economy" reasons.

NATO Ends Parley—No Solutions

PARIS (UPI) —The North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) has concluded its 1965 review without solving any of its basic problems, leaving its future in a continued state of uncertainty.

Militarily strong, the Alliance remains in a state of political semi-paralysis, pending its reorganization which may be started some time in the new year.

With France continuing her go-it-alone policy, with most of the Europeans unwilling to increase their defense contributions and the threat of aggression shifting increasingly to the Far Eastern scene, NATO leaders have tacitly agreed to shelve their differences over the future scope of the Alliance.

France has made known she will present her plans for revamping NATO early in the new year, which could amount to virtual withdrawal from the joint defense posture. Britain, preoccupied with her east-of-Suez policy has told the Alliance she cannot meet demands for a greater contribution to NATO.

The United States has received little response from the Allies for support of the Viet Nam war, and may eventually have to withdraw some of her forces from Europe in the event of further escalation.

Reuther Backs Grape Pickers

DELANO (AP) — Walter Reuther, AFL-CIO vice president, pledged organized labor's support Thursday at the scene of a 101-day-old grape pickers strike in California's central Valley.

Strikers, many of them Filipinos and Mexican-Americans, shouted "Viva Reuther!" when the president of the United Auto Workers declared: "You've got to win this strike and we're going to stay with you until you do."

Santo Domingo Reds Take Over 40 Blocks

SANTO DOMINGO (UPI) — Communist-led mobs seized control of a 40-block area of downtown Santo Domingo last night in an orgy of violence recalling the early days of the abortive April revolt.

U.S. paratroopers and Dominican police cordoned off the mob-held area, but made no immediate effort to clear the streets.

The rioters blocked streets leading into their area of the city with barricades improvised from garbage cans, automobiles and the wreckage of smashed store fronts. In many cases, the barricades were set on fire.

The seizure of the downtown area climaxed a day of rioting during which a U.S. Army truck was burned by the mobs, which were exhorted by Communist street-corner orators to "fight . . . the Yankee invaders."

A U.S. Army spokesman said no American soldiers were injured.

Gas-masked U.S. troops with bayonets fixed used "riot control" gas to disperse one mob early in the rioting, but the attack was not pressed home.

Sporadic rifle fire echoed throughout the city. There was no immediate report of gunshot casualties.

Maugham Estate Speculation Topic

Films, plays, television adaptations and reissues of his works are expected to keep royalties flowing into the estate for years.

more strenuous than the weightlessness of outer space, where "you could lift a mountain if you had something to stand on."

Value of the Sealab experiment, he said, ranges from data sought by submarine forces to solutions for the food dilemmas of the population explosion.

He also spelled out the significance of this week's much-heralded rendezvous between Gemini 6 and 7 space capsules:

"We demonstrated Wednesday that we have the radar, the ranging, the computers, guidance and tracking systems, and that we have well enough trained pilots" to achieve one of the key steps in the plan to dock two spacecraft in an orbit around the moon.

"Now, we can go to the Apollo project with assurance our ideas are sound," he said.

Carpenter scotched tales that the Soviet Union has not actually completed some of the space feats for which it has taken credit.

"This is a rumor which complacent people find comforting, but it is a dangerous thing to believe, because it is not so," he declared.

He said the Russians have good men and a good program, "and have not lost any men in space flight."

ed to applause of the newsmen. Earlier, when it was shown to flight controllers, they rose in a standing ovation.

The pictures of the Gemini 7 were taken by Gemini 6 astronauts Walter Schirra and Thomas Stafford at distances ranging from 10 to 100 feet.

They showed the Gemini 7 soaring gracefully through the skies, with the earth in the background and were comparable in quality to those taken of astronaut Edward White during his "epace walk" in the Gemini 4 mission.

The sun's reflections on Gemini 7 were bright gold.

The film was delivered before dawn after it was brought down yesterday aboard Gemini 6. More film is aboard Gemini 7 which is still in orbit.

Charles Mathews, Gemini program manager, said the first shots were of Gemini 7 at a distance of about 100 feet from Gemini 6. Both were speeding along at 17,500 miles an hour.

Gemini 7 came closer and the next shot showed the two spacecraft about 50 feet apart.

Then, in dramatic detail, the nose of Gemini 7 turned toward the camera and the two vehicles were face-to-face.

Gemini 7 Astronauts Frank Borman and James Lovell could not be seen through their hatch windows.

The capsule, in space at the time for 12 days, "looked brand new," a space agency official said.

Officials who had examined the film closely said there was "evidence" of smudges on the windows of the Gemini 7 craft. There was no explanation for them.

prevailed during the Gemini 6 re-entry will continue tomorrow, forecasters said.

A warning light, supposed to indicate fuel cell trouble although ground station monitors said the unit's power output was normal, flashed on yesterday. It finally flickered out about 2:20 a.m. today but started burning anew before completion of another orbit.

John D. Hodge, the overnight flight director, said the cell nevertheless would last at least 150 hours beyond the end of the scheduled 14-day mission.

Mill Valley School Sites On Agenda

Mill Valley School District trustees will hold a special meeting tomorrow to talk about values of existing school sites, getting an additional relocatable classroom and to take a field trip of existing and proposed school sites.

The meeting starts at 10 a.m. at Edna Maguire School, 80 Lomita Drive, with an audio-visual presentation of the Granada School in Reed School District. Value of existing school sites will be discussed at 11:45 a.m. and, following a noon recess, the board will take its tour.

Christmas Light Thief Returns To Get Rest

Joseph Wagner of 33 Birch Avenue, Corte Madera, who complained Wednesday that someone had stolen six Christmas tree lights from the front of his home, called police last night to report the vandals returned and took the lights they left behind the first night.

VIET

Cong battalion badly mauled a government company 22 miles northwest of the capital, inflicting heavy casualties. The Reds fled before a relief column came to the scene.

In the South, American aircraft aimed at Viet Cong river shipping in the Mekong River Delta south of Saigon. Pilots claimed 24 sampans were sunk.

Terrorists struck twice last night. A traffic policeman and four Vietnamese civilians were injured by a Viet Cong grenade, and a Vietnamese police guard was shot in the stomach.

In Washington, the Johnson administration indicated it might accept the Viet Cong's offer of a 12-hour Christmas truce. Administration sources said there will be a lull of some kind in Allied war activity if the Communists do not try for military advantage during the cease-fire.

In a lull last February during the Vietnamese lunar new year celebrations, the Viet Cong stealthily moved in supplies and reinforcements, then killed eight American servicemen, wounded 62 and destroyed several helicopters in an attack at Pleiku. President Johnson immediately ordered the start of the air war against North Viet Nam.

The Pentagon reported that as of last Monday 1,496 Americans had been killed in Viet Nam since January 1961. Of these, 1,241 fell this year and most since midsummer.

U.S. Air Force officials in Saigon said the Communist MIG jets have been quietly testing American air defenses in Viet Nam and those of U.S. 7th Fleet ships in the South China Sea.

They said the prowling MIGs keep far enough away to avoid interception by U.S. jets and missiles. But the officials did not rule out the possibility of a Communist strike in the future. U.S. warplanes have been virtually unopposed by enemy aircraft over North Viet Nam, although ground fire has been heavy.

The officials indicated some concern that the Communist planes, although outdated by U.S. standards, might try a desperation stab at the big air base at Da Nang, 380 miles northeast of Saigon, or at the 7th Fleet off Viet Nam, which includes the nuclear-powered carrier Enterprise.

Meeting Postponed

A meeting of the Sleepy Hollow Homes Assn. scheduled for last night was cancelled for lack of a quorum. Next meeting is scheduled at 8 p.m. Jan. 6 at the Sleepy Hollow clubhouse.

DEBATE

of the Vietnamese people to self-determination.

Political science instructor Robert Essig cautioned it is not practical to point to our country's past mistakes. Instead, he said, the United States should pursue its present policy and work for negotiations "which will obviously come about very shortly."

The negotiations, he said, must reach a compromise which will partially satisfy both our policy of containment of the Chinese Communists and North Viet Nam's desire for a unified Veit Nam.

An independent South Viet Nam, he said, is not practical. He proposed a federation of the two states.

Political scientist Samuel Schwartz responded that negotiations will never come if we continue our course of bombing North Viet Nam.

Schwartz recalled that when the United States embassy in Saigon was bombed, President Johnson said, "such outrages just make us more determined."

"I submit," Schwartz said, "that that is just the effect our bombings have on the North Vietnamese."

The discussion was sponsored by the Satyagraha Club, a college organization which "supports political change through non-violent means."

Roses' Vacation

Tiburon City Mgr. Lawrence D. Rose and his wife and three children will leave tomorrow for a three-week vacation in Morelia, Mexico. He will return on Jan. 1. During his absence, planning administrator Leslie Gross will be acting city manager.

Tam Student Due To Study In Chile

TERRY COPPERMAN
People-to-People choice

Terry Copperman, a Tamalpais High School junior, has been selected to be the first student to attend school in Sausalito's sister city, Vina del Mar, Chile, under Sausalito's People-to-People program.

Copperman, 16, is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Copperman of 519 Browning Street, Mill Valley.

Leslie R. Wood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Wood of 20 Valley Circle, Mill Valley, was selected as alternate.

The choices were announced today by Ted Borla, selection committee chairman, who said he, Mrs. F. Conger Fawcett and Mrs. M. Justin Herman based their decision on grades, ability to speak Spanish, good citizenship and being a good representative to be sent abroad.

Borla visited Vina last year to meet with People-to-People representatives there who are arranging to send a student, yet to be announced, to attend Tamalpais next September.

Borla said young Copperman will leave in February, for the Chilean school year of March to December, and will reside with a family in Vina.

Copperman's father is a plumber, his mother a planner for the City of Richmond. He has three brothers and a sister.

He is a student of fifth year high school Spanish and his main emphasis in high school is on foreign languages. He also studies Latin and belongs to the Spanish honor society and the Tamalpais Organization for Human Relations.

Loren L. Jay, People-to-People committee chairman, said the student selected had to be a Tamalpais High School student since that is Sausalito's high school.

Copperman will probably attend the Liceo de Hombres at Vina, a public high school for boys. Hernan Gatica and Max Aguero of that high school were exchange students to schools in the Bay Area in 1963 and 1965 and at that time visited Sausalito for the anniversary of the sister city affiliation.

The Sausalito People-to-People committee is asking contributions to help defray expenses of sending its first representative to Chile. Persons wishing to contribute, said Jay, may do so through Mrs. Thomas Laufer of 164 Spencer Avenue, Sausalito.

Grand Jury Report Omits Merger, Mortuary Items

A special report on the coroner's office, released today by the law enforcement committee of the 1965 Marin County Grand Jury, recommended that the post of public administrator and public guardian be withdrawn from the coroner's duties.

The committee suggests public administrator duties be transferred by the county board of supervisors "to an appropriate county office for administration," with the county counsel as attorney for the public administrator.

The report makes no recommendation for merger of the coroner's office itself with any other office. George R. Scott, jury foreman, verbally reported yesterday that study of some such merger was suggested. County Administrator Alan Bruce has proposed merging the office with that of district attorney.

The coroner's office now is costing taxpayers $40,000 annually, the report says. It could be increased by giving the coroner an additional assistant and raising salaries and still be kept within $60,000 a year, the jury found. Necessary personnel in the district attorney's office to perform the coroner's duties would cost between $70,000 and $75,000 per year, according to the report.

The report makes these recommendations for the coroner's office:

Addition of another trained full-time inspector; monthly meetings with the Marin County Medical Society, thereby keeping doctors abreast of the coroner's operation; providing pathologists with recording equipment for records of autopsies, steps toward finding a suitable site for a county morgue.

Arrangements might be made with Marin General Hospital to acquire space for the morgue, the report suggests.

The report makes no mention whatever of Coroner Frank J. Keaton "immediately divorcing himself" from his mortuary business, which foreman Scott said yesterday had been agreed upon by the grand jury.

The report said many citizens prefer to keep the coroner's office elective as a check against appointed officers. "For those who desire to have a medical man represent them as coroner, there is no reason why a doctor, as a candidate, should not stand for election," it noted.

A committee was formed today to oppose any change in the existing office of coroner-public administrator.

Mrs. Carolyn George of 45 Greenfield Avenue, San Rafael, announced she has formed a committee which will begin circulating petition asking the board of supervisors to make no change.

Bolinas-Stinson School Building Bids Opened

Bolinas - Stinson School District trustees last night opened four bids for the proposed construction of an added classroom facility and two restrooms at Bolinas School. No action was taken, the board setting Monday at 8 p.m. at Bolinas School as the time to award the contract.

Bidders were: Page Construction, Santa Rosa, $56,950; Olson Construction, Santa Rosa, $57,716; McLean Construction, Point Reyes Station, $60,698, and Rapp Construction, Santa Rosa, $68,000. Clerk Arthur E. Carpenter said that alternates may increase or decrease the bid figures by about $1,000.

Larkspur Trustees Hit Poverty Funds Cutback

Larkspur School District trustees last night expressed displeasure with a cutback in federal war on poverty funds allocated their district.

The district's staff planned two programs to qualify for $22,634, then learned the allocation was cut in half to $11,633, Supt. Milton S. Cohen explained to the board.

The district will still attempt to get funds to keep school libraries open at night and provide courses in study habits, Cohen said. The cutback forced the district to drop plans for a program to identify problem and gifted students before they enter school.

The Larkspur School District also:

1. Accepted as complete four classrooms and blacktopping at San Clemente School and four classrooms and a library at Henry C. Hall School.

2. Urged that, whenever possible, more team teaching programs be initiated in the district after hearing a report on team teaching in district third grade classes.

Pope Expected To Set Date For Cardinals

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Reports circulated at the Vatican today that Pope Paul VI will announce before Christmas a consistory to create 12 new cardinals, probably on Feb. 5.

The reports were unofficial, but persistent, and said the announcement would be made by the Pope on Dec. 23 when he receives the Christmas greetings of cardinals in Rome.

Demos Praise County Marin City Interest

The Ross Valley Democratic Club last night passed a resolution lauding county supervisors for their interest in Marin City problems and urging the county to "take any financial or other action" needed there.

Speakers at the meeting were Supervisor Thomas T. Storer, who discussed the supervisors' concern with Marin City and John Brewer of the California Youth Authority, who spoke about Watts.

TEA FOR TWO—Mrs. Granville L. Beedle pours tea for her husband, secretary-manager of the Mill Valley Chamber of Commerce, from tea set given them as a wedding gift 50 years ago. They will observe their golden wedding with a party tomorrow.

Granville Beedles Fete Golden Years

"We hadn't been engaged very long . . . It was love at first sight. And so we kept moving up the time of getting married. Then I got a new job and we decided we would be married."

Granville L. Beedle, secretary-manager of the Mill Valley Chamber of Commerce, thus explained how he and his wife, Carol, happened to be married so near Christmas.

Beedle, so well known on Lytton Square in his village that he could be called "Mr. Mill Valley," and his wife will celebrate their golden wedding tomorrow.

Their sons and daughters plan a reception tomorrow afternoon at the Mill Valley Community Church.

"We met at a dance and picnic in Fair Oaks in Sacramento county," said Mrs. Beedle.

Beedle at that time was assistant manager of the Sacramento Chamber of Commerce. They were married at the home of Mrs. Beedle's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Simpson. Simpson was managing editor and part owner of the Sacramento Union, where his daughter worked covering music and drama events.

Beedle, now 77, was born in Nevada City, Nevada County. Mrs. Beedle was born in San Jose.

He carried papers as a boy and worked as a reporter on the Miner Transcript, a Nevada City weekly newspaper.

He has held various jobs in his career, though he retired 12 years ago, he came out of retirement to work for the chamber and set up its first office in the square in 1960.

Beedle worked for the Sacramento Chamber 18 months, then held jobs including that of office manager for Overland Automobile Agency in Sacramento, a 20-year stint in trade organizations in San Francisco and Los Angeles, a job with the War Production Board during World War II, and, finally, for Westinghouse Air Brake Co., San Francisco, as office manager. He retired from that position at age of 65.

The Beedles have six children and 22 grandchildren, all of whom plan to attend the reception except Lynn, who lives in Hellertown, Pa., where he is director of Fritz Engineering Laboratory at Lehigh University.

Their daughter, Carol Healy of Mill Valley, assists Beedle in the chamber office. Two other daughters are Mrs. Virginia Douglas of El Cerrito and Mrs. Jane Hildebrand of Chicago.

One son, John Beedle, office manager at E. D. Bullard Co. in Sausalito, lives in Mill Valley, and son Richard Beedle is Purity Store manager at Terra Linda and lives in Novato.

The Beedles first moved to Mill Valley in 1922. "We always came back to Mill Valley for vacations when we didn't live here and John was born in our first house," said Mrs. Beedle. They have lived in Mill Valley for 27 years now. Their home is at 25 Renz Road.

Loving to garden, they live among tall redwoods, some nutmeg trees and with a view of the mountain.

Mrs. Beedle, who first came to Mill Valley with her grandparents in 1896, recalls riding horse and buggy with the late Irv Dowd's Fashion Livery Stables, and walking on boardwalk sidewalks on Throckmorton Avenue. "There used to be Monarch butterflies at Cascade," she said.

Beedle, who is called "George" by his many friends, is often the first person the outsider meets in Mill Valley.

Visitors at the chamber office ask all kinds of questions, including "How high is the mountain?" "How far is it to the Golden Gate Bridge?" "Where can we stay at Muir Woods?" and "What is the humidity?"

The last is the toughest to answer, Beedle said. "You know, the humidity is different in various parts of town."

One question which is most often asked is "Where is there a hotel or motel where we may stay in Mill Valley?" "There is none," says Beedle, although years ago there were several.

Being busy is one of the secrets of a happy marriage, according to the golden wedding couple. "We are always busy," said Mrs. Beedle.

The couple have a round oak pedestal table in their dining-living room which was a wedding present and appears to have served a great many people. "I have had 23 around it," Mrs. Beedle said. "We always had lots and lots of company."

Combs, as implements of hair grooming, have been found by paleontologists in prehistoric stone-age dwellings.

Jensen To Get Air Conservation Award

Former Marin County Administrator Donald A. Jensen named "National Air Conservationist of the Year" will go to Washington, D.C., on Jan. 11 to attend the President's conservation awards banquet.

Jensen was selected for the honor by the National Wildlife Federation and the Sears-Roebuck Foundation for his work as executive officer of the California Motor Vehicle Pollution Control Board.

Jensen and his wife Lyn will attend the banquet to receive a whooping crane statuette and a checke for $1,000.

"President Lyndon B. Johnson has indicated he will make every effort to participate in the program and hopes to be able to personally present the award," wrote Thomas L. Kimball, executive director of the National Wildlife Federation.

Passing Motorist Puts Out A Fire

A woman motorist saw smoke and flames as she was passing the home of Lt. Col. John M. Carney at 1021 Las Raposas Road, Terra Linda, yesterday.

Mrs. Sandy Lee, 755 Knocknaboul Way, stopped her car, grabbed a garden hose and had doused the fire which had started in pine needles in the yard close by a storage shed by the time Terra Linda Fire Department arrived.

Coral Reefs Old, Scientists Find

HONOLULU (AP) — Midway Islands' coral reefs are at least 25 million years old, the Institute of Geophysics at the University of Hawaii estimates.

The institute studied rock samples obtained by drilling deep through Midway's volcanic rock.

Court Orders New Trial In Murder Case

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The State Supreme Court has ordered a new trial for a man convicted in a robbery-murder case because police failed to tell him his right to legal counsel.

The court, in a 5-2 ruling Wednesday, ordered the new trial for Robin C. King Jr., sentenced to life in prison for a part in an Alhambra robbery resulting in the deaths of Police Sgt. George Davis and Edgar B. Weaver.

At the same time, however, the high court unanimously upof a second defendant in the case, Jesse J. Gilbert.

The robbery, involving $11,492, occurred Jan. 3 of last year. Police identified Weaver, one of the men killed, as an accomplice of King in the robbery.

Milk production in 1966 may reach above the 125.5 billion pounds expected for 1965, even though milk cow numbers are declining. Output per cow keeps rising.

CLOUD OF SPRAY—San Francisco Bay's test hovercraft leaves Loch Lomond Marina trailing a cloud of silvery spray today as Marin County supervisors take a demonstration ride. The 16-passenger craft will be demonstrated again tomorrow at Marin Heliport at Waldo Point, starting at 10 a.m.

Bigger, Heavier Planes Set For Reserve Wing

The Golden Gate Reserve Troop Carrier Wing, based at Hamilton Air Force Base, soon will have bigger, heavier planes which will change its status.

The wing now is under the Tactical Air Command and transports troops and cargo in C-119 two-engine craft.

Next summer, the 16 C-119s at the base will be replaced by eight C-124 planes, which can carry approximately three times the amount of cargo. The C-124 has a maximum load capacity of 74,000 pounds.

The wing will become part of the Military Aircraft Command (formerly known as MATS) carrying primarily heavy cargo on longer flights in the bigger planes, named Globemasters.

The change will create approximately 50 additional Civil Service positions and 210 additional Air Force Reserve places, said Brig. Gen. Rollin B. Moore, wing commander. The bigger planes have larger crews and their four engines require more maintenance men.

An information officer at the base said Moore would remain as commander of the wing.

Stinson Nativity Pageant Cancelled

The Stinson Beach nativity pageant has been cancelled because of illness of Mrs. Fred Conradi. Mrs. Conradi, organist for the event, has influenza and another organist cannot be found, reported Mrs. Ira Switzer, director.

"We will go ahead with the children's party and the visit of Santa Claus," said Mrs. Switzer. The party, to include caroling and folk dancing by school children, will be at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the community center.

Children's Party Planned In Novato

The 15th Christmas party for the children of Novato will be held from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. tomorrow at the main Novato fire station on Grant Avenue, Novato, sponsored by the firemen.

Santa Claus will give candy and oranges to the children.

Beverly Hills Rejects Funds

BEVERLY HILLS (AP) — This wealthy city of movie stars and millionaires has declined with a "thank you anyway," an offer of $82,875 in poverty funds.

"We really didn't feel we could honestly say the money was needed," said School Supt. Kenneth L. Peters. "We were able to find only eight children of 5,000 enrolled ho could possibly be classed as 'needy.'

"In our judgment, these children are not educationally deprived or handicapped. They are in small classes that average 25 and remedial help is available if needed."

Cushion Craft Whisks Supervisors Across Bay

despite some choppy wakes from conventional boats.

The hovercraft, powered by a gas turbine jet engine, is being tested as a joint project of San Francisco - Oakland Helicopters, Port of Oakland, and Bell Aerosystems, with assistance of a grant from the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency.

John Cunningham of SFO Helicopters told Marin supervisors before the ride that there are 566 passenger hovercraft under construction to cross the English Channel. These will cost $3 million each. They can be converted to carry 116 passengers and 33 autos.

Cunningham estimated that such a craft could provide passenger service from Marin to San Francisco at 70 per passenger, one way.

The supervisors seemed impressed both with these figures and today's ride.

The return trip included a demonstration of the craft's quick stop ability. It settled into the water gently, but came to a full sop from 60 mph within about 200 feet. The craft is 39 feet long.

The craft will be demonstrated again at 10 a.m. tomorrow at Marin Heliport at Waldo Point.

UAR Breaks With Britain

CAIRO (AP) — The United Arab Republic last night became the fifth African nation to break diplomatic relations with Britain over Rhodesia.

Earlier Ghana, Tanzania, Guinea and Mali heeded the call by the Organization of African Unity for its 36 members to break with London unless the British overthrew Prime Minister Ian Smith's Rhodesian government by last Wednesday.

Britain has imposed economic sanctions against Rhodesia but refuses to use force to bring down the Smith regime.

Can't erase the readership of Marin's Best-seller

Why does advertising in the I-J make a lasting impression on I-J readers? Why does it make a resounding "impression" on cash registers of hundreds of stores and dealers?

The reason is simple, yet it can mean the difference, in your business, between profit and loss. In the I-J, your ads become PART OF THE NEWS OF MARIN COUNTY. They team up news of your merchandise with LOCAL NEWS—the best-read, most wanted feature in the Independent-Journal.

Result: you gain the concentrated attention of the I-J's 40,600 families. Instead of coming in "by air," or in the vacuum of a circular, your advertising arrives in the home within Marin's best-selling news medium.

That's why the I-J is Marin's best-seller for advertisers. That's why merchants who carefully consider their costs, put THEIR stores in Marin's best-selling location — the 40,600 homes of the Independent-Journal.

NOW 73.4% COVERAGE OF THE RICHEST MARKET IN ALL 13 WESTERN STATES

When you combine the two—the I-J's coverage and readership with the responsiveness of the West's richest market, then you're aiming at full potential for your business.

Amazing how good ads . . . develop immediate store traffic . . . and leave a lasting impression!

Rails, Steels Climb In New York Stocks

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed mixed today. Trading was heavy.

In an early advance the market made a close approach to the Nov. 4 peak in the Dow Jones industrial average but it slipped below that.

Rails again moved into record ground and steels resumed their rally, helped by further reports of strengthening orders for steel.

Recent favorites among aerospace stocks, airlines, electronics and office equipments took a back seat as year-end profit taking and switching was in order.

Motors put on a fairly firm performance most of the day.

Volume for the day was estimated at 9.5 million shares compared with 9.97 million yesterday.

Here was the picture near the close:

Steels and rails still remained well ahead and Big Three motors were fractional gainers but most of the list was a hodge podge of gains and losses.

Illinois Central was up 1. New York Central with Pennsylvania Railroad each held a gain of 1½ while many other rails showed fractional gains.

Steels responded to further encouraging reports on demand for steel. Jones & Laughlin was up 1, Lukens 3, other major steelmakers fractions.

Averages were dampened by Du Pont, off 2; General Electric off about 1½; Kennecott, off about 1; and Jersey Standard, down a fraction.

Ahead about 2 were McDonnell Aircraft, Meredith Publishing, Allegheny Ludlum and Chicago Great Western preferred.

Losses of about a point were shown by Anaconda, Kennecott, Phelps Dodge and Northwest Airlines.

NAMED BANK DIRECTOR—Gordon H. Dohemann, president of Dohemann and Co., San Rafael real estate firm, has been elected a director of Lincoln Nationl Bank of Santa Rosa, which plans to open an office in San Rafael. Dohemann was formerly a vice president of the Draper Companies and before that managed the San Rafael office of Coldwell, Banker and Co. He and his family live at 228 Margarita Drive, San Rafael.

INCOME TAX FACTS

Lump Contributions And You'll Be Ahead

By PETER J. WIKEL, C.P.A.

If your itemized deductions and the standard deductions are both about the same and have been running that way in the past and you expect them to be about the same in 1966: then you might consider itemizing your deductions for 1965 and using the standard deduction for 1966.

P. J. Wikel

If you do this it becomes important to take all of the deductions possible in 1965.

Consider paying all of your contributions for 1965 and 1966 in December of 1965. In other words, pay them in advance.

Check with your bank or lending agency and see if you can pay the interest on your home for a year in advance.

The taxes on your home are payable one-half in November and one-half in April, but you can pay them all before the end of the year.

California will accept a prepayment of California income tax for 1965 provided an estimated return is filed with the tax payment. If you have a large California income tax, it might be advantageous to do this.

If you already have medical expenses in excess of 3 per cent of your adjusted gross income, now is a good time to pay all of your medical bills. It may be possible to prepay your accident and health insurance for a year in advance.

If you don't have the money to pay all of your deductible expenses for 1965 and 1966 this year, consider borrowing the money. Most banks and lending institutions are happy to make loans for this purpose.

If you are paying taxes at the lowest tax rate of 14 per cent, you will save at least 14 per cent of the amount that you pay for deductible expenses this year and your loan won't cost you that, so you will gain the difference by borrowing the money, paying the deductible expenses this year and then repaying the loan in 1966. Of course, the interest that you pay on this loan is a deduction in 1966 when you pay it.

If you can arrange with the bank or lending institution to give you the full amount of the loan, and then you turn around and pay the interest in 1965, in advance for 1966, you can also deduct the interest in 1965.

Prepaying as much of your itemized deductions as possible in 1965 will result in little or no deductions to be taken in 1966 and you would then use the standard deduction for 1966 instead of itemizing.

Of course, if you don't have enough itemized expenses for a deduction in 1965, you might try this plan for 1966 - 1967 and then of course, you don't want to pay any more deductible expenses until after Jan. 1, 1966.

Singer Hank Williams' Life Depicted

By LESLIE DARD

NOVATO THEATER

For those who remember: "Your Cheatin' Heart" stars George Hamilton as Hank Williams, the country singer who rose from a shoe-shine boy in Alabama to one of the country's biggest entertainers, then died of a heart attack at age 29.

We see the singer's poverty stricken boyhood, then his career starting with singing in a medicine show. Next he joins a travelling show, and marries its dynamic leader, an ambitious blonde who pushes him to huge success.

But there's tragedy here. Williams was one of those performers who can't take success.

Many of William's famous songs, including "Jambalaya," "Cold, Cold Heart," and the title song, are sung by his son, Hank Jr., who has a voice remarkably like his father's.

Acting and photography is competent, while the music is excellent. If you were a Hank William's fan, this one will evoke many memories.

RAFAEL THEATER

A big double bill for Beatle fans is now playing:

First there's "Help!," the latest entry by the Liverpool quartet.

The zany tale centers around Ringo, the drummer. Seems that among his multitudinous collection of finger apparel, he's got a ring that's part of an East Indian sacrificial ritual—and he can't get it off. The film is principally concerned with the efforts of the moppets to keep Ringo from under the sacrificial knife.

With an East Indian executioner and two mad scientist types on their trail, the boys lead a merry chase that starts in London, picks up in the Alps, and finally lands in the Bahamas.

The second feature is the first Beatle film, "A Hard Day's Night."

This one purports to chronicle 36 hours in the life of the Beatles, hours that are normal — which mean hectic.

"Help!" is in color, "Hard Day's Night" is not.

Both films are likely to appeal to adults as well as to kids.

TIBURON PLAYHOUSE

Maximilian Schell plays a completely unscrupulous man in "Return From the Ashes," now showing — a murder-suspense film set around World War II.

Schell's credo is from "The Brothers Karamazov:" If there is no God, no immorality, no heaven, no hell, no reward, no punishment . . . Then everything is permissable." By this he justifies marrying a woman he doesn't love, and taking her stepdaughter for a mistress when she is deported as a Jew to Dachau.

His theory also helps him out when his supposedly dead wife reappears. He then plans to murder both wife and step-daughter for their money.

Powerfully talented performances, and a good show all around, if a bit on the savage side.

101 DRIVE-IN

"What a Way to Go," is now showing, featuring Shirley MacLaine in the lead role as well as Paul Newman, Dean Martin, Bob Cummings, Robert Mitchum and Dick van Dyke.

Shirley plays a girl with a Midas Touch and the kiss of death. Every man she marries becomes fabulously wealthy, then dies before he can enjoy it. With each of her four passing husbands, Shirley gets richer.

Hence the title.

The story is told in flashbacks, with Shirley trying to give away $200 million because she feels guilty. When the government won't accept it, she seeks the aid of a psychiatrist.

In the end, she is re-united with the one man she said she'd never marry, Dean Martin.

Bach To Mozart Debut Date Set

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

Marin Dining And Wining

NO SLEIGH FOR SANTA CLAUS — This lake scene at Franchini's Chateau is a good setting for old Saint Nick—but any deer that makes his appearance will probably be named Bambi (Franchini's mascot) instead of Donner or Blitzen. Many restaurants throughout the county are decorated for Christmas, though some will be closed Christmas Day. Check for openings next weekend before going out for dinner.

Mill Valley's Office Being Sold; Foggy-Voiced London Singer Back

Owners Connie and Bill Jackson plan on a long holiday, taking in the Mardi Gras at New Orleans in February. When they come back it's highly likely they'll settle somewhere in Sonoma.

Closing awaits approval of the liquor license transfer and this may not clear until the second week in January. Meanwhile Connie and Bill will carry on as usual, holding their customary New Year's Eve party. They'll have a "hello and goodbye party" in January to introduce new owners John P. Ebner and Claude T. Ross of Larkspur when the deal is consummated.

John and Claude do not pretend to be professional restaurateurs, but neither are they entirely without experience. John is an accountant who got some training managing the Navarro Inn this last summer in Mendocino County. Claude has been in the advertising business, but cooking has been a hobby since his college days—so he'll act as chef.

Present plans call for the name to remain the same, and the operation, too, perhaps with some modifications. Lunches and dinners will be served.

BACK AT ALIOTO'S ARBORDALE in Sausalito is foggy-voiced London singer Maggie Perkins. She's now known as Maggie Paige, which I understand has something to do with numerology. She's appearing Friday and Saturday nights. Other nights Al Gallagher entertains.

Maggie has been doing commercials and television shows in Los Angeles and may get a part in a picture. But her voice, used to the fogs of London and the Bay Area does not necessarily take to smog—so's she's back for the Christmas season anyway.

"YOU WROTE ABOUT a little Swedish place, but I can't remember the name and we'd like to go there. Where is it and does it serve lunch?"

The words may vary, but the message is the same and I get this telephone inquiry often.

The place is the Old Viking, and "yes" it does serve lunch, as well as dinner. Matt and Phyllis Mattsson are the owners.

Go out through Fairfax and over White's Hill, through San Geronimo Valley along Sir Francis Drake Highway. I'm not sure of the cross streets in Lagunitas and they probably wouldn't help you anyway. Just keep on the highway and watch for it on the left. I'd say about seven and one-half miles from Fairfax.

Lunch fare is excellent. Usually several selections—Swedish meat balls, stuffed cabbage and the like. The herring with sour cream is good. No hard liquor, but select wines and beers.

For dinner, try the duck l'orange—good the way Phyllis fixes it.

ANNUAL VISITS of Santa Claus to Franchini's Chateau will begin again Sunday, when he'll be there to talk to the youngsters from 3 p.m. He has another visit scheduled for Monday from 6 p.m. and again on Thursday and Friday next week—same time. Candy canes for the kids.

Franchini's will be closed Christmas Day and on Sunday, the day after. So will a number of other places — at least on Christmas Day, so employees can have a holiday with their families.

Rancho Nicasio will be closed Christmas Day, Sunday and Monday. Bill and Adolph's House of Canneloni — excuse me — West End Villa—is among the Dec. 25th closers. Before making plans to eat out Christmas, check your favorite dinery.

THAT FOOTBALL GAME some of you may have witnessed at Sir Francis Drake High School last Sunday between the staff of MacArthur's Restaurant, San Anselmo and the combined force of the Kingston Trio and the Wee Five ended in something besides a 30 to nothing score in favor of MacArthur's.

The stakes were steaks and drinks—and MacArthur's got the payment—not the Trident in Sausalito.

MacArthur's, by the way, will be open Christmas Day.

START WATCHING the ads this weekend for those Marin restaurants planning New Year's Eve celebrations and make your reservations ahead of time. I'll probably use the next two restaurant columns for a round-up of some of the activities.

Glenn Kerch tells me Rancho Nicasio's annual affair is already sold out. You might try leaving your name, but I believe there is a waiting list. Open New Year's Day and the following Sunda.

I have word from Ethel Barrie at Lin Fa Gardens in Northgate that she plans on having Bill McCoy at the organ and Paul Leacox on drums again for New Year's dance music. If you went to her anniversary party last Friday you know that these two turn out good rhythm. Larry Wickersham will play the organ in the Mai Tai Room.

THIS SUNDAY at the Ark in Sausalito from 3 to 6 p.m. the Chris Ibanez Trio will alternate with the Dick Saltzman Trio from the Cellars and they'll do a finale together in this jazz concert. Dick will be back again at the Cellars Friday and Saturday nights through the first of the year.

MY UNDERSTANDING from a letter received from the Hollywood offices of International Industries, Inc. is that the new San Rafael International pancake house under construction near the juncture of Fourth and Second streets will open about the middle of January.

Signs are up on both streets, so you'll be able to recognize the place.

I'VE JUST LEARNED that Corky Jones of San Anselmo is new dining room manager at Sam's Anchor Cafe in Tiburon, starting today. You remember Corky—for a long time at Rubini's and for awhile at the Alta Mira Hotel. Between times she has been working in San Francisco.

AND IF YOU'RE WONDERING what happened to Rae Ward who was catering manager at Peacock Gap Country Club, she has gone back to studying at San Francisco State Teachers College. But evenings you'll find her working at Marin Joe's in Corte Madera.

Bill Coleman, manager at Peacock Gap, you may have heard, will also be leaving soon for Del Monte Lodge.

ORDINARILY I DON'T make much mention of specific private parties, lunches and banquets, because I can't cover all of them. But I feel the Society for the Preservation of Secretaries lunch at La Petite Auberge this week calls for a few words, because it illustrates what's available in downtown San Rafael at lunchtime for groups, now that the Redwood Club is closed.

Here were 50 or 60 people who took over the entire restaurant without having to travel far from their offices and were able to get back to work at a reasonable time.

Hold on. I didn't mean that their bosses (who were the hosts) had that last benefit in mind at all. Or did they?

parties are more fun at Sam's, yes!

In Tiburon, Sam's Anchor Cafe offers the private "Blue Room" for your luncheon, dinner-party or just a holiday cut-up.

Camel To Join Christmas Fete In Marin City

She will arrive tomorrow afternoon to take part in a Christmas street procession, marching with Three Wise Men on horseback and children dressed as shepherds.

St. Andrew United Presbyterian Church, sponsoring the procession, is borrowing the camel from Fleishhacker Zoo in San Francisco, said Rev. James E. Symons, pastor.

There will be other animals at the manger scene, including goats and burros, to symbolize early Christmas, Rev. Symons said. There will be a blessing of the animals, a traditional act which has been done over the centuries at Christmas time.

The march will begin at 3 p.m. at the community building and go to the church on Donohue Street.

Museum Changes Film Schedule

The usual one-hour free film program each Saturday at the Louis A. Boyd Natural Science Museum, San Rafael, will not take place on Christmas or New Year's Day, but a special program will be held Dec. 30.

Tomorrow the films shown will be "Salt," "Birds of the Sea Shore" and Ansel Adams' "Valley of Light."

On Dec. 30 the museum will show "Beaver Dam" and "Wild Shore." "Adelie Penguins of the Antarctic" and "Animals Unlimited" will be the program for Jan. 8, and "Badger's Bad Day" and "Beaver Valley" on Jan. 15.

On Jan. 22, the program will have "Black Bear Twins" and "Flowering Desert," and on Jan. 29 there will be one film, "And Miguel."

Yule Party Set

Telephone Line To Be Buried In New Tracts

Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. told the California Utilities Commission yesterday that it is prepared to place telephone lines underground in new subdivisions, and in most cases at the company's expense.

The company would not be able to bear the full cost when soil conditions and topography in a particular subdivision made the cost substantially higher than usual, company representatives reported. In such cases the subdivider or developer would be required to pay the excess.

The company also reported it would bear the cost of converting overhead telephone facilities to underground in civic, scenic "and other areas of public interest." This would be done at the same time and to the same extent that power utilities converted overhead to underground at their own expense, the company reported.

The company estimated that it would cost it about $800,000 annually to install underground facilities in new subdivisions, and about $4.1 million in 1967 and $4.5 million by 1970 for conversion projects.

Pacific Telephone reported it is already spending $4 million annually for converting facilities from overhead to underground.

Scholarships Due Two Seniors In Marin, Sonoma

The Plumbing, Heating and Cooling Contractors Assn. of Marin, Sonoma and Mendocino Counties has announced a scholarship and work guarantee program for one high school senior each in Marin and Sonoma counties.

Open to male high school seniors, the selection winner will be given $250 cash plus a guarantee of 12 months employment. The work may be used at one time or spread over four summer vacations while a student is in college.

The student will be hired by the association and loaned to shops in the area. The award will be based on attendance, mechanical ability, citizenship, initiative, appearance and scholarship, in that order of importance, according to Assn. Executive Mgr. Samuel H. DeLisle.

In Nuclear Sub

Electronics Technician 3/C Randall A. Graham, son of Mrs. Betty R. Graham, 101 Nova Albion Way, San Rafael, has been assigned to the crew of the new atomic powered submarine Kamehameha, which was commissioned Dec. 10 at the Mare Island Shipyard, Vallejo.

Marincello Brush-Off Is Denounced

Marin County Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen has taken the stand that the county cannot equivocate on Marincello and go ahead at the same time with creation of a new county department for economic development.

In a statement yesterday the supervisor said he is firmly convinced the county needs industry for added tax revenues, "But I am just as firmly convinced that we cannot take a positive position on this new county department, while at the same time equivocating on Marincello."

Supervisors this afternoon were to discuss petitions signed by more than 6,000 urging that Marincello, approved by the board last month, be reconsidered.

The community for 22,000 population planned by Thomas Frouge would have land set aside for industry.

"Marincello is a golden opportunity for the economic development of Marin," Kettenhofen said.

On Tuesday, he held up discussion of the economic development proposal until after a decision is made on the Marincello petitions.

Attorney's Gun Joke Results In His Own Death

NEW YORK (UPI) —Robert Sunshine, 30, a lawyer, showed a revolver to his companion in a Manhattan cocktail lounge yesterday.

He dumped four 38 caliber shells from the cylinder into his hand.

Then apparently thinking the gun was empty, pointed it toward his chest and asked his friend:

"Do you want to see a trick?"

Police said Sunshin pulled the trigger. The gun fired, and he collapsed, dead.

Motorist Complains Of Back After Crash

Donna B. Lanning, 37, of 223 Blackstone Drive, Marinwood, complained of neck pains after her car was struck from behind on Blackstone Drive 200 feet north of Adobestone Court, Marinwood, at 7:15 p.m. yesterday, the California Highway Patrol reported.

The patrol said Mrs. Lanning was parked in front of 217 Blackstone Drive when her car was hit by a southbound auto driven by Martin C. Freyer, 43, of 265 Johnstone Court, Marinwood. Mrs. Lanning was to see her own doctor. Freyer was unhurt.

Heavy Storm Still Raging

PHOENIX (AP)—A severe pre-winter storm stationed over the Southwest racked the area again today with more snow and rain from Los Angeles eastward to Texas.

Fog and light rain were plentiful in the Eastern half of the nation.

For the third straight day today the mercury plunged below zero in the Northern Plains.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

Schools Need Not Rely On Questionable Books

Parents attending a San Rafael Board of Education meeting this week complained of teachers propagandizing their students and of books of the "new realism" (four-letter word) variety.

The trouble with such complaints is that generally they produce one or the other of two reactions:

1. They result in a lot of hysterical name-calling by both sides, or,

2. They are ignored.

The usual answer by teachers and school administrators is to set up cries of "censorship," "witch-hunting," and interference with "academic freedom."

In the resultant hullabaloo, what should be the main issues are forgotten.

The usual reaction of school boards is to try to ignore the complaints if possible. They are messy. School board members have, in most cases, been converted to the idea that problems are best solved with as little public discussion as possible.

The issues posed by the parents' complaints, however, may go deep.

Teachers have a captive audience in their classrooms. If they use that audience for propagandizing their own beliefs, are they being true to their public trust?

Teachers insist that they are professionals. If so, they must accept the responsibility of professionals. Theirs is a particularly grave responsibility, for into their hands is placed the coming generation. Would any teacher worthy of the designation "professional" want to turn out that generation with minds all of one pattern of belief? We doubt it.

Aside from that, there is another highly practical consideration.

The high school diploma, if it means anything, should mean that a student has completed the prescribed course in whatever subjects he has taken.

If a teacher takes as much as five minutes a day from that course to expound his own political beliefs, he robs the student of the equivalent of 18 days' instruction in the course of a school year. Is this playing fair?

It would seem that here, too, professional responsibility would dictate that the teacher devote his efforts to instruction in the course to which he is assigned.

The complaint about "dirty books" gets into another matter.

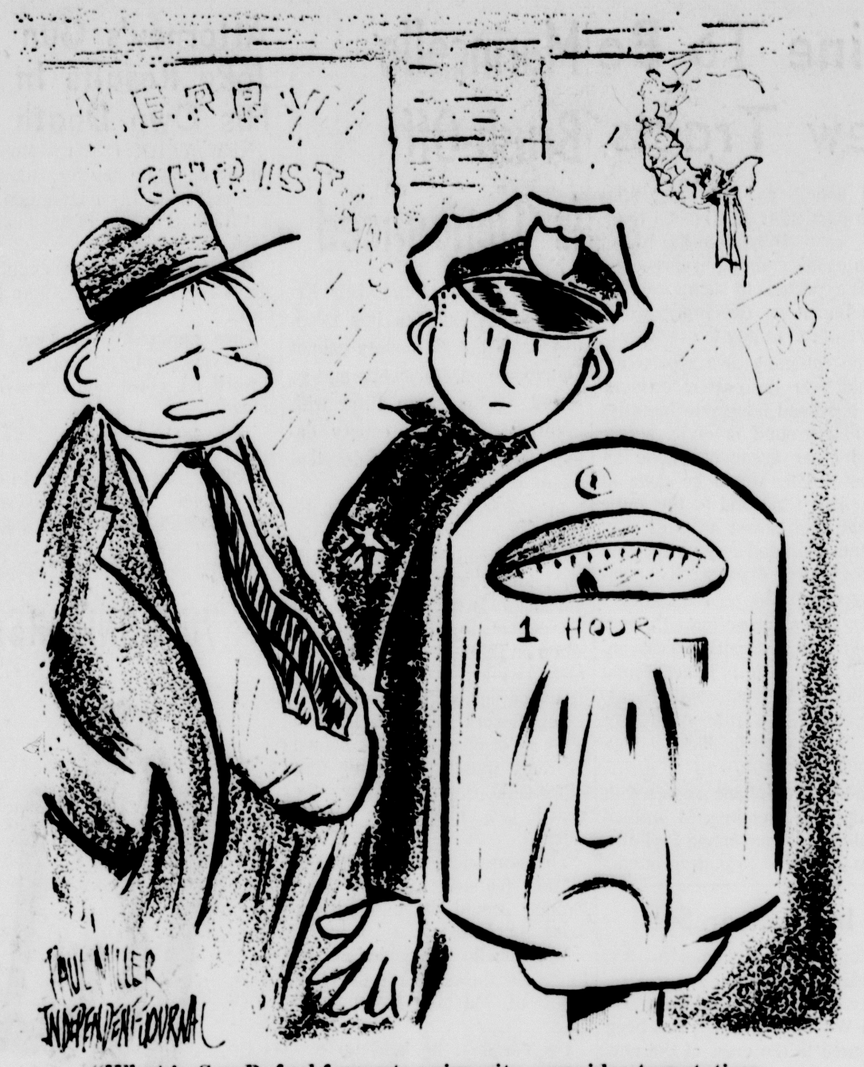
No parent should imagine that his child will never read rot, or never learn dirty words.

But is it the job of the teacher to see that he learns them?

The quality of literature is not easily judged—particularly that of current literature. But there is a vast storehouse of recognized fine literature on which to draw. It would seem there is no excuse for assigning any reading which may be questionable, even though the teacher may personally think it is great.

Jack Kerouac and Playboy magazine would seem to have scarcely earned a place among the immortals.

The parents' complaints, then, deserve investigation. If that investigation proves they were ill-founded, the stature of the schools will be enhanced. If otherwise, it would appear the teachers involved should do a bit of soul-searching.



"What in San Rafael foments animosity, provides temptation, allures dogs, squeezes nickels, and loiters?"

MARIN POLITICAL VIEWS

By WAT TAKESHITA

Another Marin resident, a Kentfield lawyer, is interested in seeking a state post—attorney general.

He is William M. Bennett, a member of the state Public Utilities Commission, who has made local headlines in the hearings to re-open the Puerto Suello railroad tunnel.

Takeshita

Marin is small in size, but when it comes to seeking political posts, it certainly isn't bashful.

Governor—William Patrick of Tiburon, the cosmetics executive, who is bucking notables like Ronald Reagan, George Christopher and Laughlin Waters for the Republican nomination.

Attorney General—Bennett, who may try for the Democratic nomination. On the Republican side, former Marin D. A. William Weissich has been mentioned off and on, but he appears uninterested.

State Senate—John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, seeks re-election. Robert D. Carrow, Novato attorney, has been mentioned as a possible candidate for Democratic nomination.

Congress—Thomas T. Storer, Democrat from Inverness Park, is definitely running for Democratic nomination to oppose incumbent Don Clausen, R-Crescent City.

THAT'S EIGHT Marin residents who are either "announced", "unannounced" or "rumored" for state and national posts.

Pretty good for a county that is 57th in area (only 525 square miles) out of 58 counties and about 22nd in population.

EVERY SO often, you get to feeling sorry for state legislators who get only $6,000 per year salary.

But when you consider some of the little "fringe benefits" they enjoy, you realize they aren't exactly starving.

For example, nine legislators drew an average of better than $1,000 each in travel fare on their November junket to Puerto Rico. Even if they bought a first class champagne flight round trip ticket, costing about $500, they still came out $500 ahead.

THIS WAS for "fare" only. In addition, each legislator got $25 per diem for each day they spent in Puerto Rico, struggling with our legislative problems.

In other words, a legislator drew about $1,000 for fare, plus $200 expenses if he stayed for eight days.

After all, a representative from California shouldn't have to go all the way to Puerto Rico to skimp on food and tips, should he?

DON JENSEN, former Marin County administrator, has won the title of "national air conservationist of the year" for his work on car smog control. Formal presentation of the award is tentatively set for next month at Washington, D.C.

Marin County supervisors by a 4-1 vote decided to hire a county administrator. Supervisor William Fusselman voting against the motion.

Editor Praised On Race Relation Views

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Congratulations on the bull's-eye observations in your Editor's Notebook for Saturday, Dec. 11, captioned "What Must We Do Next to Ease Race Tension?"

Kindly permit me to hereby offer Mrs. Stuart's and my Amen to:

"Prejudiced whites need to rid themselves of race prejudice.

"This task requires the participation of each of us individually in his own niche.

"It will not be done solely by government; it must be done privately by each of us acting individually.

"Anything less than full realization of the brotherhood of man is in reality no more than armed truce among warring factions."

Mrs. Stuart joins me in wishing you and yours the Merriest Christmas and the Happiest New Year ever.

A Way To Protest Marincello Proposal

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I recently returned my credit card to Gulf Oil Corp. with a letter protesting their stand on high density against the wishes of many citizens in this county.

If others opposed to Marincello likewise indicated their displeasure to Gulf Oil, it is just possible that they may modify their stand or influence Frouge Corporation to do so.

After all, Gulf Oil who recently came to California to sell gasoline and related products is presumably more interested in that phase of their operation and in the good will of the public to purchase those products than in the development of Marincello which is opposed by so many potential customers.

Bouquets Requested For Sanitary Firm

Editor, Independent-Journal:

There have been many times during the last three years that we have resided here when I have desired to recommend your favorable consideration to the awarding of BOUQUETS to a public service firm in this area, the Marin Sanitary Service.

At least in my opinion it deserves grateful recognition for its continuous thorough, neat and courteous service in a difficult and back-breaking endeavor to maintain high sanitary and appearance standards . . .

I feel that their service has always been and is of outstanding character, never gives any reason for the slightest complaint and instead they have always extended themselves to also pick up those extras and unexpected items of rubbish or material which normally exceeds their monthly contract charges and otherwise would necessitate their customers hauling to a private disposal dump.

Above all, they do their job and these frequent courtesies in a most willing and courteously helpful manner in a dedicated neighborly fashion with no inference of mercenary thought. Their cooperative and integrated employee collection teams are a credit to their employer and a much appreciated benefit to our communities which they serve.

Greene's Eye View Of Mao Chuckled At

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I had to chuckle over Graham Green's (sic) report on North Viet Nam that appeared on Dec. 13, 1965 (in a San Francisco newspaper). He described Ho Chi Min of North Viet Nam as "gentle."

Has there ever been a Communist leader who hasn't been called "gentle" by somebody—even after all the facts were in?

Men In Field Doing Their Part

Editor, Independent-Journal:

In all of the propaganda emanating from the V.D.C., agonizing about our boys being needlessly sacrificed in a war that is none of our business, I have yet to read any statement directly attributable to the men in the field, expressing opposition to their country's participation in the conflict, and like many people, I wondered.

However, on Thanksgiving Day, I watched a news reporter asking WOUNDED soldiers, returning from Viet Nam, what they had to be thankful for, on this day. One replied that he was thankful that the war was "over there" and not at home. (It doesn't require an expert to show us that "we're next".) See letter from A.C. Thomas, I-J Nov. 23. Another said he was thankful he had a home to come home to. There was no sign of bitterness or resentment. Perhaps they feel it was necessary for them to fight over there to protect what they have here.

Sea-going men often refer derisively to "dry land sailors." Why should these safety-zone warriors appoint themselves spokesmen for battlefield fighters?

No one who has had any close contact with the terrible reality of war, would ever advocate it, except as a means of preventing greater misery. Millions of people feel that the realization of the Communists' dream of world-wide control is a nightmare that must be prevented at ALL costs.

"Controversy itself isn't bad—it's just that when we engage in it, we lose our ability to be persuaded."

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

A NERVOUS old lady, walking as fast as she could through a questionable neighborhood, was caught in a sudden thunder shower. Pausing for shelter under the awning of what was obviously a saloon, she was suddenly terrified when a gruff voice behind her ordered. "Keep on moving, lady: I've got you covered.."

Shuddering, she looked behind her. There stood a jolly old gentleman holding a very big, and very welcome, umbrella.

PAPA BERNSTEIN confronted his son and demanded, 'What do you mean by bringing home a report card with three F's on it". Interrupted Mrs. Bernstein, "Now, Robert, you know how Junior loathes being disturbed while he's watching the Late, Late Show. Can't you wait till 3 a.m. when it goes off?"

CRITICS AT LARGE: Bernard Shaw, reviewing the debut of an over-publicized violinist, wrote, "Herr So-and-So last night left not only his contemporaries but his accompanist far behind."

An impossible - to - please agent, recalls Oscar Levant, patronized a certain Broadway restaurant regularly, and was loathed by every waiter in the place — with reason. One day a headline revealed that the agent had been caught in a crooked stock promotion and clapped into jail. "Hey, hey," rejoiced one of the waiters, "I'd like to see him send the pot roast back now!"

World Powers' Friendships Like Bunch Of Cats On Tin Roof

WASHINGTON (AP) — Friendship in the modern world is like cats on a tin roof, which is hardly a quiet way to spend an evening.

The United States has been friends with Pakistan, whose President Mohammed Ayub Khan is here talking to President Johnson, and with India, whose Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri is coming here in February to talk to Johnson.

Pakistan, thinking the odds are on its side, wants the people of Kashmir to decide in a vote whether they want to be part of Pakistan or India. India, which doesn't like the odds, wants no part of a vote.

If Johnson can settle this dispute, he's a miracle man, but he's not supposed to settle it since the United Nations hopes to. Over the years the United States has given India and Pakistan over $10 billion in aid.

At first it gave military aid to Pakistan, which built up its army, and thus was a kind of buffer to the ambitions of Red China. India, playing lofty and neutralist, didn't pay so much attention to arms.

Then the Red Chinese attacked India, which then cried for American arms, and got them. But when India and Pakistan began to fight both blamed the United States for arming the other.

The United States shut off aid to both. Pakistani mobs ripped the American flag, attacked U.S. buildings, and Pakistan began cottoning up to the Red Chinese.

BUT THOSE two good old friends, the Soviet Union and Red China, got into the India-Pakistan act, with Red China blaming the Soviets for helping India while the Russians criticized China for butting in on Pakistan's side.

Next week West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard is coming to talk to Johnson. While Britain and Germany are economic rivals, the British and the United States want German help in keeping the North Atlantic Treaty Organziation together.

RIGHT NOW it's getting a battering from French President Charles de Gaulle who doesn't want Germany to have nuclear arms, although the two countries consider themselves friends, while France builds a nuclear arsenal.

Tuesday at a NATO meeting in Paris the French and German foreign ministers got into an argument over it. But De Gaulle, running for re-election, manages to keep busy in many directions.

Interviewed on television in his political campaign, De Gaulle criticized the United States Tuesday for becoming an "interventionist power," quarreled with its policy in Viet Nam and declared, "I am not anti-American."

He said this country and France had been friends more than a century, that France would always come to America's aid, and that while America came to the aid of France in two world wars it was a little late.

BUT IF ALL this sounds like a noisy time in the West, the meowing going on between the Soviet Union and Red China, those one-time comrades, is enough to frighten the mice, if there are any mice around.

Poverty Plan Aim: Adults Or Children?

BY ROBERT S. ALLEN
AND PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON—Director Sargent Shriver is "McNamara-izing" the $1.5 billion anti-poverty program.

Techniques, procedures, computers and even personnel used by the controversial Defense Secretary to measure costs against the effectiveness of different weapons systems—such as missiles vs. bombers—are being resorted to by Shriver to evaluate the desirability of various anti-poverty projects.

As a consequence of this new backstage policy, projects rated likely to pay off bigger in the future are getting priority consideration and more funds than those offering immediate but smaller returns. For example:

HEAD START education and health projects for pre-school children are accorded more consideration and money than training unemployed adults. Similarly, Job Corps projects for teen-agers in costly residential camps have priority over less expensive non-residential Neighborhood Youth Corps measures.

To direct this cost-effectiveness system, Shriver brought in one of McNamara's top experts—Leon Gilgoff, former assistant budget director of the Air Force.

Gilgoff has set up a new agency in Shriver's far-flung organization. It is known as the Information Center Division, and already has a staff of 90 assembled from both the Pentagon and private industry. Two large computers have been installed and others in the Defense Department are available if needed.

TO QUICKLY apply cost-effectiveness to the anti-poverty program, Gilgoff has formulated certain basic "guidelines," which he explains as follows:

"The federal government has spent tens of millions of dollars on public works projects, but few poor people benefited directly or indirectly. Mainly, it's the middle class, particularly those in the construction trades, who get income from public works projects.

"We are now recommending that less emphasis be placed in the federal budget on public works, and more on anti-poverty projects."

Gilgoff also pointed out that as a result of a sample survey of national resources and expenditures, "We found very little money, both federal and private, is being spent on pre-school programs compared to funds for helping school dropouts. Our computers told us that pre-school programs would be cheaper in the long run.

STORMY POLICY—Director Shriver's resort to Secretary McNamara's computerized cost-effectiveness methods in administering the anti-poverty program has aroused furious opposition.

Representatives Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., highly vocal chairman of the Education and Labor Committee, which has jurisdiction over this program, is irately accusing Shriver of misusing the $1.5 billion voted him by Congress. Powell is threatening legislation to force Shriver to concentrate on adult training rather than projects for children.

"Adult jobs, not pre-school training, is the most urgent need to fight poverty," thunders Powell. "People need work, and that's the primary reason for this program. That's what it should be concentrating on."

VIGOROUSLY SUPPORTING Powell's viewpoint are big-city mayors, state officials and welfare authorities gravely concerned over possible new Watts-type riots as a result of a combination of unemployment, destitution, racial factors and despair. They contend these problems are urgent and immediate and must be coped with promptly and comprehensively.

"It's all right to talk about cost-effectiveness studies proving that greater benefits can be derived from long-range programs that will do the most good for young people," declared one welfare official. "But the jobless adult cannot be disregarded. That's where the dynamite is, and that's where we must devote our greatest efforts and resources. That's what I thought the anti-poverty program was for."

Gift Package Pen Seems To Solve Woes For Warrior In Viet Nam

Mrs. Margaret Dowd of Mill Valley sent a package of cookies to a soldier in Viet Nam and, as an extra, included some ball point pens on which were inscribed: "Dowd's Moving and Storage Inc. We move anything anywhere."

IT WASN'T long before she got a response in the mail from the GI saying: "Come and get me."

This year there is a Mrs. Santa Claus in Mill Valley as well as a Mister. Mrs. Claus sits in the window of Tamalpais Hardware and gives out gingerbread houses to children for decorating trees.

There is also a Saint Nicholas who lights up at night in the attic window at Mrs. Margaret Gundelfinger's house on Buena Vista Avenue.

It seems that the reason for his appearance is due to the fact that there were no Christmas lights in front of the block of stores on East Blithedale near Throckmorton, owned by Fred Palmer of Belvedere. And the reason there were no lights installed by the chamber of commerce is that there were no electric hookups in the sidewalk areas.

Palmer had the lights installed for the trees before his shops and then, noticing Mrs. Gundelfinger's 70-year-old Victorian house looming above his shops, asked if he could also light the house gable. This was done. We asked Mrs. Gundelfinger what it was like to have a Klaus in her attic and she replied, "Fine. But I thought he was going to be on the outside, not in." She advised that he becomes unlighted at 11 p.m., automatically.

TWO PLUM trees are blooming out of season on Miller Avenue and the carob tree in front of Quinn's has blossomed with all green bulbs for the season.

In Sausalito the Republican-looking elephants in the square have red ribbons around their necks and artist Enid Foster has created a display for the windows of the Tides Book Store showing the Christ child holding an atom.

Proprietor Herb Beckman says the atom was to be in the child's hand but that somehow it didn't hang on properly and the atom is now fastened to the window. This may be symbolic.

Susie Maahs has dug into her "happy bank" to donate to the Richardson Bay School Parent - Teacher Assn. program. She is one of 27 merchants to do so but it sounds easier if the bank is happy.

A Sausalito woman we know who doesn't wish her name to be used says she is going to go to Delano for Christmas. She will take her car full of warm clothing, toys, food and medicine for grape pickers who have been on strike for four months.

"I'm sick of celebrating," she explains. "I feel like celebrating Christmas in a larger way than just for myself. Quite a number of other people from Marin, including some families, are going to spend their Christmas this way—trying to bring a bit of peace to a small segment of the earth."

IT IS A special time of year and there are many Christmas stories but perhaps one of the best is that for some strange reason everyone seems to be a bit more kind.

Men Should Be Able To Work Together (Including Supervisors)

FUSSELMAN

"GEMINI ORBIT EARTH TOGETHER" . . . I am sure many of you must be having somewhat the same thoughts these days that I am having this early Thursday morning (3 a.m.) as I start to write this column.

To begin with; about 62 years ago I shook hands with Ezra Meeker, a man then much older than I am now. I talked to this patriarch in Bellingham, Wash., beside his ox-drawn covered wagon. He had just completed duplicating a trip with his oxen, which he had made as a young man, across this land of ours westward to Puyallup, Washington, which is between Tacoma and Seattle. He autographed a picture for me of himself standing beside his wagon. I am thinking this morning of the amazing technical progress we have made since then. I am also thinking of our failures in human relations since then. This is not restricted to the current Civil Rights troubles we are having, but the whole gamut of things. (worldwide) The Spanish-American War had been over just a few years and since then World War I and World War II followed. . . .then Korea and now Viet Nam.

I AM WONDERING and hoping that this amazing rendezvous and the explorations, that are bound to follow, will be paraleled with an earnest effort toward trying to understand and deal fairly with each other.

Just as the small plastic cap cover would have prevented the launching of Gemini 6 do the attempts by some supervisors to upstage their fellow members and citizens, who appear before them, prevent the progress that the electorate is entitled to. On the front page of the I-J on Tuesday this paragraph appeared, relating to a school matter before them. "(The chairman) questioned the need for a coordinator, saying the request indicated inability of personnel in the county's school districts to get together. 'Why the—can't they get together as a committee and work this out? he asked."

This can be asked of the board, itself. I know you are undoubtedly reading the same things I am about their meetings. They aren't able to finish their meetings until six or later. The other day it was 7:10. Formerly, we could finish at 4:30 most of the time and sometimes even earlier. The only material difference in the work load is that which results inevitably results from the, "Parkinson Law" (excessive paper work creates more paper work). This can also be said of orations on trivia.

I was telling some people, last evening, of an audit of the administrator's office files by the auditor-controller, which we had made in 1961, when there was a change in administrators.

One of the classics I remember was this: A man from another county had sent a typewritten letter (by a secretary) to congratulate his friend on his birthday. He was thanked with a typed letter (by a secretary) which in turn was acknowledged by another typed letter (by a secretary). As major Bowes would say, "Good evening, friends".

McCarthy To Talk

State Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, will speak to members of the Novato Chamber of Commerce at a luncheon on Jan. 6 at Nero's Restaurant, Nave Lanes. Senator McCarthy's topic is "reapportionment."

Meet New Friends: Simply Send Christmas Cards To Strangers

NEW YORK (AP) — If you are bored with your present friends, there is an easy way to make more interesting ones.

You do it with Christmas cards.

INSTEAD OF sending them to people you know — a waste of penmanship at best—you send them to total strangers.

There is little point in cluttering up postal bags with season greetings to people who make up part of the hamburger of your daily living.

You know their hypocrisies, and they know yours, and the ordeal of the commonplace has dulled your sense of mutual wonder.

To regain your sense of human adventure do this:

SCRIBBLE the following note on each:

"Dear Joe or Jack or Pete or Algernon:

"I'll never forget your kindness in lending me a helping hand when I needed it, and now that I am in a position to return the favor I just want you to know that—well, I guess I don't have to say more."

The chances are that by return mail you will get only 99 cards wishing you the best of health during the new year. The 100th person will be out of town or dead or something.

None of the 99 who respond, of course, will know you at all. But you will have piqued their interest in two ways.

They will be flattered by the thought they have done a good deed that their vanity doesn't remember, and they will cherish the idea that your undying gratitude will support them if they ever need help.

ALL PEOPLE, including those listed in "Who's Who," like the romantic illusion they have a rich uncle from Australia who may remember them in his will. This is your role—and you might as well play it to the hilt. At the next yuletide they will send a greeting card to you with a warm message. They probably will include photos of their family.

Before long you will be exchanging friendly gossipy letters with them. They will complain about their wives, their troubles with their children, their ailments. They will send you their stock market tips, and ask you to send them yours.

It doesn't have to remain a friendship by correspondence alone. If you travel about the country, you will always be a welcome guest in their home. They will wine you and dine you and think it a privilege to do so.

SOONER OR LATER, of course, a puzzled look will come across their face, and they will tactfully try to question you about that great favor they did you in the past.

You look them straight in the eye and reply:

"Well, Joe, you may have forgotten—but I'll always remember. Let's leave it at that. Shall we have another spot of your bourbon for auld lang syne—and call it a night?"

You will leave them feeling they are nobler than they knew. You will have enriched their lives. And, of course, you won't have made your own life any poorer.

You will be on a first-name basis with more talented successful people than anybody since Jim Farley was a lad.

YES, INDEED. Why send Christmas cards to the bums you already know? Send them instead to total strangers and make some new and valuable lifelong friends.

Favorite Christmas Customs Continue To Enchant Nations

Each generation is touched by the spiritual enchantment of Christmas, and each country has its own favorite Christmas legends. In England, one of the most famous is the story of the Glastonbury thorn brought to Britain by Joseph of Arimathea, where it flowered every Christmas.

In no land is Christmas more generally celebrated than in the Scandinavian countries. Here, the story of the birth of Christianity becomes intertwined with the tales of pagan Gods from an even more remote antiquity.

On Christmas Eve, every house is ablaze with candles to light the way for the lovely Kristine, the pagan diety who brings gifts to the children. It is also the custom of the land to set out loaves of the best bread so that even the birds may enjoy the Christmas festivities.

ON CHRISTMAS DAY, Scandinavian children masquerade in all manner of costumes, some are Vikings, others represent animals, and still others portray Biblical characters. Then, to the chanting of carols, the children parade through the streets of the rural villages stopping to perform at pre-selected sites where they know they will be received with hospitality and an abundance of good things to eat.

In Poland, and elsewhere in Europe, one of the most cherished Christmas legends tells of the resplendent host of angels who descend Jacob's Ladder and come to earth to join in the merrymaking and celebration of the Christ child's birth. As they pass through each village, legend has it, the angelic band delivers gifts to needy townsfolk.

In certain parts of Austria, it is the Christ Child himself who, in the stillness of Christmas Eve, comes to share the gifts of the Magi with all the children of the village.

PERE NOEL, in France, is eagerly awaited on Christmas Eve by the children. He is a very old fellow with a long silvery white beard who somehow manages to carry a tremendous pack of gifts throughout every village and hamlet. On Christmas morning, children down through the ages have been filled with delight at the sight of the wonderful gifts which were deposited on the hearth during the night.

In the mountainous villages of Peru, gaily clad natives celebrate the birth of the Savior in tropical heat. The villages that cling to the precipitous Andean cliffs ring with the laughter, music and dancing in a festival that is as gay as carnival in Rio. Peruvian children, emulating their Scandinavian counterparts, dance, sing, juggle, even balance precariously above the mist-covered ravines —all for special silver coins which have been hoarded all year long.

DURING THE 19TH Century when Queen Victoria married Prince Albert, the German custom of placing substantial gifts for the whole family under a real evergreen tree decorated with candles, was introduced to England. It met with nation-wide pleasure and soon became the traditional English way of celebrating Christmas.

BEN JAMIL holds a four-foot telephone outside his New York City store where he sells antique and reproductions of antique telephones. These telephones and phones from abroad are ringing up a multi-million dollar business for Jamil who until five years ago was selling furniture. (UPI Telephone)

Antique Phone Reproductions Ring Up Million Dollar Sales

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI)—Antique and reproductions of antique telephones are ringing up a multi-million dollar business for Ben Jamil, 32, who until five years ago was selling furniture.

It all started, Jamil said in an interview, when a seaman who liked to pick up antiques and knick-knacks as he roamed the world came into Jamil's small New York shop with, among other items for sale, a Scandinavian cradle telephone, circa 1920.

Jamil said he bought the phone, gussied it up with gold plating, and took it to one New York store famous for its housewares. Were they interested in retailing such an item? "They were," said Jamil, "and in a few weeks I was in Denmark scouring all the local telephone companies for cradle telephones."

THE SCANDINAVIAN TYPE is fancier than the traditional U.S. telephone. It has the rectangular base, but comes with a tall (six to eight inches) pronged cradle for holding the ear and mouth pieces.

THE OFF-BEAT PHONES became such a hit—"the demand was there first, we were just there when it occurred"—that Jamil quit the furniture business, organized the Continental Telephone & Radio Supply Co., Inc., and went back to Scandinavia to round up more old phones.

AFTER "we cleaned out Scandinavia," the problem was where to turn next. Japanese manufacturers were the answer. Today, Jamil said, his firm imports 12,000 to 15,000 antique phone reproductions per month from Japan, many of them sold to the U.S. consumer, some through his export company to other parts of the world.

"It's like carrying coals to Newcastle," said Jamil. "We now sell them in Scandinavia, too."

THE NUMBER of designs long since has expanded—there are about 300, Jamil said. That one Danish cradle type still, though, is the best seller. They range in price from $5.95 to custom jobs in the $400 and $500 class. One customer paid $1,100 for a phone decorated with jade and semi-precious stones.

ONE OF Jamil's early problems was overcoming telephone company resistance to installing phones which were not their own. But, as the Wall Street Journal noted recently, AT&T "is officially—if reluctantly—giving its approval to installation of any kind of phone a consumer wants. . . ."

THE GIANT PHONE company, the Journal explains, has contended that many "foreign" phones are substandard. But now, it will for a flat fee insert its own innards in the "shell" the customer supplies.

"We didn't do any lobbying," said Jamil, who has a corner on the market for the decorative phones. "The public demanded the change. The women got tired of AT&T doing their decorating."

"LYNDA BIRD Johnson has a cradle phone," said Jamil. "Mrs. John F. Kennedy bought one, vintage 1885, for the White House when she was redoing it. Zsa Zsa Gabor ordered phones covered in leopard skin for her home."

While I sat in his office he took a long distance call. It was a famous movie actress asking if he could cover a phone in iguana and get it to her by Christmas.

"I'll try," said Jamil. "It'll cost about $400."

"WE'LL COVER them in leather, ostrich, whatever the customer asks if we can find it."

Some of the designs are offbeat: a drum-shaped end table has a phone built in. Or, you can get a decorative phone on a fancy brass stand four feet tall.

THROUGH HIS SHOPPING Jamil also collected antique phones from all parts of the globe. On his desk sets a conventional AT&T telephone, and a tall, brass-decorated phone, with double ear pieces (so two could listen), made in France around 1880.

"IT'S A RARE THING," said Jamil. "A girl named Marsha Pearl . . . she was an editor for a book publishing house . . . brought it in to see if I could put a dial on it."

"I tried to buy it and kept staving her off for three years," he laughed. "She's now Mrs. Ben Jamil, we have an infant daughter, and I finally have the phone."

Church Sponsors Housing Program

The United Church of Christ has embarked on a program of sponsoring low and middle income housing with maximum use of federal financing.

A housing task force has been set up which will encourage local church groups and other organizations affiliated with the denomination to sponsor housing projects in communities where there is demonstrated need. The task force, headed by Rev. Lawrence M. Upton, N.Y., also will supply professional guidance in planning such projects.

Bright, colorful and gay Christmas figures—for mantel, coffee table, or window—can provide a warm welcome for holiday guests. And they can be made at home at virtually no expense.

Designer Conny of an aluminum company has created the delightful holiday figures—using empty plastic bottles, covered with aluminum foil, and decorations of ribbons, snips of felt or other fabric, lengths of yarn and buttons.

Of course, plastic bleach and liquid detergent containers are in every kitchen and laundry. So why not put them to good and decorative use? Have neighbors help by saving their empty bottles so you can complete an array like the one pictured.

CONNY RECOMMENDS that you first cover the bottles with regular weight, super-strength foil. She suggests that regular weight foil is ideal for most decorating jobs.

Next, hollow out a portion of a plastic foam ball so that it can be mounted on the spout of the bottle. Thus, you have added a head to the figure. For variety, cover some heads with foil; leave others without a foil covering.

Some bright-colored yarn for hair, striped ribbon tied in a bow, a one-two-three row of shiny black or red buttons, a bunch of artificial flowers and cotton, when used imaginatively, can produce real conversation-starters for your holiday gathering.

ARMS ARE MADE by crushing a length of foil about six or eight inches long. Crush a small ball at each end for a hand. A hand can be made hollow or curved for holding a candle or a wreath or a small package by turning and molding the foil. Attach to the back of the figure with glue or with pins.

MOST WHITE GLUES work fine with foil. Fabrics, construction paper and other pieces of foil will hold with this type of adhesive. Another plus: They dry clear, so are practically invisible.

For a cute, child-like appearance of the faces found on Conny's figures, place eyes and nose low—usually at the midpoint of the face or just below.

REMEMBER TO USE materials you have at hand. Gold-colored metal scouring pads are available and make wonderful "hair." And don't discard old jewelry. Strings of beads can always be used. So can single stones.

FEATURED THIS SATURDAY

A lot has been said and written of late about the need for a better understanding of and greater respect for law enforcement and its officers on the part of the general population. The San Rafael City Schools believe that the time to acquire this respect and understanding is in the citizen's early years. Consequently, the schools have launched a program aimed at bringing students and law enforcement officials closer together. It will be the subject of a report in tomorrow's Marin Magazine.

Still not finished with that Christmas gift list? Tomorrow's issue of the Marin Magazine may help you out of that hole. There are, for instance, the special gift advertisements that run in the front pages of the magazine, along with special gift suggestion stories. There are, also, the regular advertisements, offering Christmas wares. And finally there are the book reviews. The right book can be the perfect present for the hard-to-suit relative or friend, be he an adult or a child.

The poll, also distributed to interested clubs and organizations in both counties, samples family opinion on television and film fare that is offered for all ages, movie advertising and calls for suggestions from parents, announces Mrs. Douglas Godfrey of San Rafael, who is motion picture chairman for the 14th District P-TA.

The surveys are being collected for tabulation by Mrs. Godfrey and Mrs. Willard E. Vernon of San Rafael, vice president of the Motion Picture and Television Council.

Copies of the survey were also available at the Mill Valley, San Rafael and Marin County libraries.

THE SUBURBAN SCENE—

though their general itineraries were different. High point of the trip for Miss Burt was visiting the island of Hokkaido, since this was new to her. Of special interest, she said, were Sapporo, a famous ski resort, and seeing several of the Ainu people living on the island who are among the last members of a white race that is rapidly becoming extinct.

Miss Burt went to Hiroshima again, where she has been going to visit friends for 30 years, and is something of an authority on the changes which have taken place there. It, like most of the big cities in Japan, she said, is now quite modern. She also visited Maj. and Mrs. John Beck, formerly of Mill Valley, at the Tachikawa Air Force Base near Tokyo. Among other places on her itinerary were Kobe, Kyoto and Nogoya.

A COCKTAIL PARTY and dinner were held Wednesday at the Alta Mira Hotel in Sausalito by the University of Cincinnati Alumnae Assn. Honored by the Bay Area chapter were university officials en route to Los Angeles for tonight's opening game of the college invitational basketball tournament, where Cincinnati will be represented. The visitors included Dean and Mrs. Ralph Bursiek, George Smith, athletic director, and John Small, executive secretary of the alumni.

MR. AND MRS. GEORGE WHITTEN of Novato have been entertaining Mrs. Whitten's niece and brother, Peter Breau and Ralph Hunt of West Sands Lake, N. Y. They have been on the coast for two weeks and returned home Wednesday evening.

SEVERAL PARTIES are being held at the Marin Country Club Estates during the holiday season. Mr. and Mrs. Don Curran will be hosts to 84 guests at cocktail party and midnight buffet tomorrow. Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Wiechers have invited 50 of their friends in for a cocktail party preceding the Christmas Ball at the Marin Country Club Saturday evening. On Sunday, Dr. and Mrs. Charles Galt will entertain more than 30 guests at a cocktail party from 5 to 8 p.m. at their home in the Country Club Estates.

Friends, Officials Honor Former Larkspur City Aide

Mrs. Isabelle Moore, who has resigned her post as city clerk and administrative secretary for the City of Larkspur after five years, is leaving Marin this week to make her home in Portland, Ore. She has lived in Larkspur nine years.

Many tributes have been paid to her by those who were associated with her on city affairs. First she was a guest of Mayor Neil Brixon at a dinner meeting of Marin County Council of Mayors. She was praised by Mr. Brixon for her expert services to the city. At the December council meeting the council accepted her resignation and presented her with a gift.

On Friday the Street Department and the Fire Department staged a coffee for Isabelle and also presented her with a gift. Mayor Brixon made the presentation speech. But just as a large decorated cake was being served, the fire bell sounded and broke up the party.

On Sunday Mrs. Leo Daly, city treasurer and finance officer, gave a dinner party at her home to honor her colleague.

It's The Last Teaching Day For Miss Olney, Homestead

By BRUCE COLEMAN

Today was the last teaching day.

Yesterday was the last Christmas party. There were actually two, one for the morning and one for the afternoon class.

Margaret Olney, a teacher for 36 years—all but one of those years in the Mill Valley School District—is retiring.

Miss Olney, kindergarten teacher at Homestead School, said today, "I've loved every year of it."

Officially, she retires Dec. 31, but Christmas school vacation begins tomorrow. Miss Olney is retiring both for health reasons and to care for her sister, Dorothy Olney, with whom she lives in Kentfield at Acacia Road and McAllister Avenue.

Miss Olney is from a family of educators. Her late father, A. C. Olney, founded Marin Junior College (now College of Marin) and was its first president. Olney Hall at the college was named for him.

"My mother was a teacher," Miss Olney. Her sister, Dorothy, was once a librarian at College of Marin.

Miss Olney studied at University of California and San Jose State College and first taught, for one year, at Red Bluff.

She then moved back to Kentfield and got a job in the Mill Valley School District, teaching first at Homestead School, which she said was then a two-teacher school. Now there are eight teachers.

"One of my duties," she said, "was to stoke the coal furnace."

She later taught at Summit School, since torn down; Park and Alto schools, and then returned to Homestead. She has taught a total of 10 years at Homestead.

Miss Olney mentioned that one time she was attending a fire drill at Summit School. "Everybody was laughing. Then we looked up and the school was on fire. One girl fainted. In all the fire drills I attended, this was the first one where there was a fire."

The teacher taught kindergarten 34 of her 36 years, and notes that she now teaches about three times as many as when she began at Red Bluff. At Red Bluff she had 21 or 22 pupils for a half day, then did other work than teaching in the afternoon. She now has 59 pupils, divided about in half so that she has one group in the morning, another in the afternoon. Miss Olney said she has always preferred teaching kindergarten to other grades.

The Mill Valley Teachers Assn. gave Miss Olney a farewell dinner party a week ago at the Cherish Inn in Strawberry.

On retirement, Miss Olney says she plans to garden, work around her home, and take some short trips.

Old Change Ruse Works For $50 From Bank Teller

One man became $50 richer suddenly yesterday and one teller at the Redwood National Bank, 1447 Fourth Street, San Rafael, became redder of face.

According to San Rafael police, three men, aged 25 to 30 and neatly dressed, entered the bank about 12:45 p.m. and one approached teller Carol J. Anderson of 52 Octavia Street, San Rafael.

He handed her nine $5 bills and asked for a $50 bill. When she said more money was needed he gave her another $5, and was handed a $50 bill. He then pushed the $50 and the stack of $5s back at her and asked for a $100 bill, which she gave him before thinking about it.

The other men tried the same trick at other tellers' stations but were unsuccessful. All escaped, however.

Marin-Directed Nude Dance Shown Swedes

A recording of a dance show by the troupe directed by Ann Halprin of Kentfield was shown on Swedish television last night. It included a sequence with nude dancers.

The Swedish reaction was mild, United Press International reported. About 150 persons telephoned the television station after the hour-long program. Most of them protested that they had been bored by the program, apparently because the nude portion of the dance was not as sensational as they had expected.

Seven members of the Dancers' Workshop Co. of San Francisco, which Mrs. Halprin directs, slowly undressed, piled their clothing on the floor and, moving in a trance-like state, danced on a large piece of paper which they eventually tore into small pieces.

A spokesman for the television station said officials had been apprehensive about the nude sequence and finally decided to show the program late at night.

The Swedish reception was what Mrs. Halprin expected, she said today.

"People of Sweden have a very different standard of the human body — they are not shocked."

It was the same portion of the dance, "Parades and Changes," banned in Warsaw. Mrs. Halprin takes issue with the U.S. newspaper statements, saying they were exaggerated.

The television tape was made last summer when the dance troupe spent a month in Europe performing in Sweden, Finland and Poland.

The dance has been performed here, but without the nude sequence.

Youths Sign Up For Delayed Navy Hitches

Two Marin residents enlisted in the Navy this week under the "Join Now, Go Later" program which permits a 120-day delay before they are sent to San Diego for recruit training.

The enlistees were Charles J. Holman Jr., 23, of 1 Eden Roc Drive, Apt. 127, Sausalito, and Angelo Margolis, 21, son of Bonnie A. Margolis, 126 Hillside Avenue, Mill Valley.

SANTA GETS CALLS ALL OVER MARIN

They were connected to Kris Kringle at the North Pole via the telephone switchboard at Tamalpais High School. The two-day total for Southern Marin was 824 calls.

On Tuesday and Wednesday, 1,337 calls were received for Santa by the Independent-Journal switchboard, making a grand total of 2,161.

On Tuesday and Wednesday of next week, North Marin youngsters will be able to call Santa between 7 and 9 p.m. by calling the Western California Telephone Co. number.

Alcoholism Group Needs More Money

On the verge of bankruptcy, the Marin Institute on Alcoholism laid its record of treatment success before 100 people last night at the Civic Center, warning that without a substantial source of income it will begin to collapse by Jan. 1.

"We have a tremendous staff of volunteers offering their professional services to our patients. . . . But without more money, these men will have lost our facilities," said Daniel A. Meyerson, administrative director of the institute.

'TO HEAL'

"We've taken on the commitment to heal people, and that's kind of a sacred thing which we're loath to see lost. We'll go down with the ship if we can't get more money, but with the success the institute has had it seems a crime to lose it," declared Rev. Kenneth E. Anderson, vicar of San Rafael's Episcopal Church of the Redeemer, one of the volunteer case workers at the institute.

Several officials gave testimony to the success of the institute.

SAVING GREAT

Said Neil Abercrombie of the county probation department: "For any alcoholism service group to attain a 40 per cent success rate is remarkable. This institute is succeeding in at least half of its cases. The saving to the county is difficult to estimate, but it is obviously great."

County Health Officer Carolyn B. Albrecht also said a saving could come from continuation of the institute.

The institute plans to make a second plea for funds from the county to support welfare and probation department referrals, said Meyerson.

Ban Of Septic Tanks Reaffirmed

The Bay Area Water Pollution Control Board yesterday reaffirmed its ban on septic tanks in San Geronimo Valley and passed a resolution calling for a written opinion from the state attorney general on the power of the board to take such action.

A joint appeal against the ban by Marin County Board of Supervisors and Lagunitas Development Co. is pending before the State Water Quality Control Board.

Bay Area Board member Jerome B. Gilbert, who is manager of the North Marin County Water District, said the next step will await the attorney general's ruling.

San Marin Owners Change Meeting Date

From now on, the association will meet quarterly instead of monthly as in the past. The board of directors will continue to meet the third Thursday of each month and will set dates for the memership meeting, according to Claude J. Curley, treasurer.

Coed Has Play Role

Still No Clues In Stabbing

San Quentin Prison investigators were still without clues today in the stabbing deaths of John C. Zamilpa Sunday and Salvator V. Martinez Tuesday.

Associate Warden James W. L. Park said more prisoners are being questioned as a routine investigation continues.

Zamilpa, a murderer, was killed on his way from his cell to the dining hall. Martinez, a kidnaper and rapist, was stabbed in the bleachers in the recreation yard.

Teen-Age Discussion Is Due In Sausalito

A Sausalito town meeting to discuss "the teen-age question" was urged last night by Mrs. Kathleen Krajeski.

Mrs. Krajeski asked the Sausalito Recreation Commission, of which she is a member, for the meeting because, she said, youngsters have no place to go at night other than to meet in cars or to go to another town or city.

She recommended that ministers and priests lead participation in trying to provide teen-age activities and recreation, and said civic groups such as the chamber of commerce and service clubs might join the effort. Commissioners took no action, saying they will discuss this at another meeting.

It was agreed to hold a work-session to discuss a request by City Mgr. Charles A. Brown for a projected capital outlay of the commission over a five-year period. The commission discussed two proposed sites for a new playground in the south end of town, one near Third and Valley Streets, one at Third and Main Streets.

Mrs. Krajeski told the commission she is resigning, effective Feb. 1, in order to have more time with her family.

Pry Try Reported

Dr. George Goder of 50 Reed Ranch Road, Tiburon, reported to Tiburon sheriff's deputies yesterday that someone tried ot pry open the sliding dining room door of his home Tuesday or Wednesday.

Contractor Group Names Directors

Three Marin County men were successful in directors and trustee elections held last night by the Plumbing, Heating and Cooling Contractors of Marin, Sonoma and Mendocino Counties.

Directors elected to represent Marin were Russell Thompson of San Rafael and Charles D. Kyne of Fairfax. Walter Louis of San Rafael won the election as trustee of the industry fund.

The directors will elect officers Jan. 13.

Thief Takes Treasure Among The Underwear

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— A coin collection valued at $1,500 was reported missing yesterday from the home of Dr. Paul Dodd, former president of San Francisco State College.

The collection included two gold coins minted for Alexander the Great about 2,300 years ago. Dodd told police the coins had been hidden in a pair of undershorts in a dresser drawer. Nothing else was stolen, Dodd said.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Transparent Bridge Players Don't Exist As Successful Defenders

If bridge players were made of glass the game would be very different.

Opening lead — ♡ Q

West opened the queen of hearts, holding the first trick, and continued with the jack of hearts to South's king.

South led a club to dummy's queen and returned a low diamond to the king.

WEST IS OPAQUE

This is where West showed he was not made of glass.

He played a low diamond at the same speed as the other players — not too quickly and not too slowly.

South naturally assumed that East had the ace of diamonds. He therefore led a low diamond and tried a finesse with dummy's ten.

East won with the jack of diamonds and returned his last heart to dummy's ace.

Now when declarer led another diamond he was flabbergasted to discover that West had the ace.

WOULD MAKE CONTRACT

South would make the contract easily if West took the first diamond trick with the ace.

West would have no further entry to the hearts, so South would be in no danger even if he later lost a trick to the jack of diamonds.

South would have an equally easy time if West made it clear that he was "refusing" the first diamond trick.

South would continue with a diamond to dummy's queen thus making sure of at least nine tricks.

It isn't always enough to play low when declarer tries to knock out your entry to a long suit.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Life-Extending Miracles Pose New Questions For Moralists

VAN DELLEN

Yesterday's triumphs are today's problems. New discoveries lead to ethical, moral, and philosophical questions. Many physicians are asking themselves what these innovations have done to, not for, the people. Are they prolonging life or prolonging death?

The invention of the artificial kidney serves as a good example. The younger individual who is healthy, except for diseased kidneys, is able to live a normal life by having his waste products filtered out through an artificial kidney once or twice a week. Shall we treat in the same way the elderly man who has a similar kidney problem but who also suffers from senility and serious heart trouble? Most medics advise against prolonging the death of this uremic oldster, but they do not want to be the judge in these cases.

SEVERAL HUNDRED kidney transplantations have been done, and with improvement in technical skill, the survival time of the recipient increases. Those obtaining a kidney from a relative stand a 75 per cent chance of living more than a year. The body usually reacts to foreign organ substitutes by forming antibodies against them. These rejection factors can be blocked by the use of mercaptopurine or radiating the spleen.

There is no ethical issue for the donor in these cases. He is extremly generous to sacrifice one of his healthy kidneys to prolong the life of a close relative. Some may argue that it is foolish considering the risk to the giver and the relatively short period that the transplanted organ will survive.

The recipient, on the other hand, has the will to live and is faced with the problem of accepting something that money cannot buy even though the chance of success is small. Nowadays too few of us are disciplined to face death with dignity when the time comes.

The same problems will arise when surgeons are able to transplant hearts. Who will choose which dying cardiac patient will get the new heart? We are closer to this type of surgery than many believe.

EARLY RISING

Mrs. T. writes: Is it better for a woman who has given birth to get out of bed a day or two later or stay in bed for 10 to 14 days?

REPLY

The evidence is all in favor of early ambulation. This helps to maintain strength and prevent the development of blood clots in the veins.

STONES FROM INACTIVITY

F. B. writes: Can kidney stones be the result of inactivity due to leg amputation?

REPLY

Yes. During prolonged rest from any cause, calcium tends to leave the bones and pass out through the kidneys. An over-abundance of this material encourages crystals to form and stones to develop.

DIET IN EPILEPSY

P. R. writes: Is it better for a person with epilepsy not to eat sweets?

REPLY

Diet has little to do with epilepsy. Years ago the ketogenic diet was popular. It included foods high in fat to promote body acidity.

License Plate Mess Blamed On Inmates

BOSTON (AP) — Some Massachusetts motorists have received red 1964 auto plates instead of green 1966 plates, pairs of plates with different sets of numbers and plates with numbers printed out of alignment.

Motor vehicle registrar Richard E. McLaughlin blamed the mix-up on "frolicsome inmates" at Walpole State Prison, where the auto plates are made.

Marincello Density On Planner Agenda

The West Marin Master Plan, deletion of interim zoning, Marincello and density for planned community zones are all slated for discussion by the Marin County Planning Commission Monday.

The meeting will begin at 9 a.m. at the Civic Center.

Amendments to the Marincello Master Plan are the third matter on the agenda. Study of access through or near the Bunker Hill Road, removal of multiple dwellings proposed in the Tennessee Valley portion of the plan, and covenants or restrictions that would assure development according to plan are the amendments asked by the board of supervisors when it approved the plan Nov. 12.

Number four on the agenda is a proposal that density in a planned community zone be set by existing master plans covering the land or adjacent lands. Commissioners have discussed the posibility of bonus density for developers with quality plans.

At 2 p.m. the commission is to discuss deletion of interim zones which cover the rural area of the county. The change to zones under the comprehensive zoning ordinance would place the county under one ordinance. Property owners have protested that the change would also place more restrictions on their land.

Also on the agenda at 2 p.m. is a continued hearing on the West Marin Master Plan. Density proposed in the plan on a slope of land formula will be the main point of discussion.

Item 21 on the agenda is a proposed change from agricultural and light industrial zones to heavy industrial zone for land surrounding the county airport at Novato. This change was requested by the board of supervisors.

Yule Car Theft Season Warning Given By CHP

Because Christmas shoppers make many short stops and are therefore reluctant to bother to park their cars, auto theft usually increases during the Christmas season, Lt. William H. Porter of the Corte Madera office of the California Highway Patrol warned yesterday.

He issued a plea for drivers to lock their cars, remove keys from ignitions, park in well-traveled and lighted locations and to write down the license and serial number of the car, along with a list of dents and unusual features and accessories, to help with quick identification in case of a theft.

More than three-fifths of the cars stolen in California this year were either unlocked or had the key in the ignition, Porter said.

Grand Bahama is having a boom. Population has jumped 40 per cent over last year, and 200,000 tourists, more than double a year ago, have visited there this year.

ALONG MARIN'S SPORTS TRAIL

I-J Sports Editor

Kezar Powder Rooms Dangerous; A Nice Place To Visit, But . . .

BATTLE CRY: I enjoyed a hearty chuckle out of a recent Sports Illustrated myth that rated San Francisco's professional football fans as the politest in the National League.

The writer must have meant the players. Or he wrote the article in the comfy of his den while watching 49er Highlights of 1963.

POLITE FANS? in San Francisco? The author apparently has never visited the men's powder rooms at Kezar. I can't speak for the ladies' otty-pay, for a complete stranger in paradise am I, but the gents' ohhny-jay gets rougher than an intra-squad game of mumbly-peg at San Quentin. Why, it's like a Hell's Angels rock'n'roll contest in a phone booth. More elbows and knees than bargain days at Macy's basement.

IN THE first place, San Francisco pro grid fans cannot read. They go IN the door marked "exit" and OUT the door marked "enter." In between is wild: every man for himself, and the hell with women and children first, just get me outta here!

Then there is the danger of just trying to walk past the antiquated an-cays. You can be strolling along, minding your own business, when suddenly—whoosh—a wave of human anxiety will sweep you into the chamber of horrors. If you make the complete cycle you get a battle star for your VFW ribbon.

THE MOST dangerous times are just before the opening kickoff, during timeouts, at halftime (especially then) and immediately after the final gun. If it happens before the game, you're in big trouble, Bunkie, because it is difficult navigating down the River of No Return while carrying a Coke bag, program, blanket, bag of sandwiches, transistor and your wife. Don't you dare ask me how I know!

The thing to do is wait until the game starts, then make a mad dash for it. I did this once when we were playing the Colts, but some fool player crossed me up and called time out. There I was, trapped. When I got back to my seat we were playing the Packers. Which wouldn't have been too bad except they were playing in Green Bay.

ANOTHER TIME just before a game I had to see a man about a music lesson and, naturally, waited in line for about 10 minutes until I discovered it led to the telephone booth. I don't know who was more surprised, me or the operator. I sang Three Coins in the Fountain and she gave me change. This was one case where the line was REALLY busy.

Also I must tell you about a friend of mine, Robert Hunter of Los Angeles, who visited Kezar for the first time this season. Just about kickoff time he whispered to me that he was going to powder his nose and would be right back.

THREE DAYS later I received the following telegram:

"DEAR JIM: Kezar biffy nice place to visit, but I wouldn't want to live here. Just got elected national chairman of Grand Old Potty. Having wonderful time, wish you were here."

Someone, you see, had called time out.

IN CONCLUSION, with the 49er-Packer finale coming up Sunday, I feel compelled to warn you ladies that if your husband doesn't come home Sunday night, don't call the local bistro. Call the San Francisco Parks and Recreation Department and ask them to please search the outmoded and incommodious commodes. Maybe they'll be able to flush him out.

I KNOW, because I was there. Where do you think I collected all my cornography? The handwriting is on the wall, Bunkie.

SEASON'S GREETING: Vacation will tear me away from this column for the rest of the year, so I won't be seeing you until Jan. 3, 1966. Meantime, have a Joyous Christmas. And as for New Year's, have one on me.

49ers Have An Old Score To Settle With Green Bay

The San Francisco 49ers have a chance to settle an old score with Green Bay in general and Paul Hornung in particular this Sunday at Kezar Stadium.

A win by the 49ers (7-6) could force the Packers into a playoff for the Western Division title.

Green Bay is 10-3. Baltimore is 9-3-1 but seems doomed to defeat against Los Angeles tomorrow since the Colts' quarterbacks are all hurt. But red-hot Chicago (9-4) probably would tie the Packers if the latter lost to San Francisco.

Hornung, the Packers' controversial Golden Boy, has had his ups and downs but many of his ups have come against the Prospectors. In 11 games against them, he has scored 110 points, —more than a seventh of his lifetime total. He scored 22 in a 1959 battle at Kezar Stadium and 23 in Green Bay the next season. It was 13-0 at Kezar that year and Hornung scored them all.

Big Ken Willard pulled up with a slightly muscle pull in 49er drills yesterday but coach Jack Christiansen said Willard would be ready to go Sunday.

Jerry Mertens, hobbled since the Dallas game, is coming back to right wing on defense with Kermit Alexander returning to safety and rookie George Donnelly going back on the bench.

Meanwhile, split end Dave Parks was the only 49er to land on the UPI all-pro team. Willard made the second team.

Honorable mention spots went to tackle Len Rohde, guard John Thomas, quarterback John Brodie, and flanker Bernie Casey on the offense and end Clark Miller, tackle Charlie Kreuger, lineback er Matt Hazeltine, and halfback Jim Johnson on the defense.

Forty Niners fans had complaints only about Johnson and Kreuger whom they felt deserved sports somewhere on the first two teams.

FOUR MARIN GRIDDERS WIN ALL-NORCAL VOTE

Four Marin Athletic League gridders have received all-star recognition in the San Francisco Chronicle's 1965 All-Northern California selections which were announced yesterday.

Drake fullback Dean Lazzarini was named second team back on the All-North Cal squad and San Rafael tackle John Balzan was selected on the fourth team.

Novato tailback Dick Otis, along with Lazzarini and Balzan, was named on the All-North Coast first team and tackle Gary Wittenmeier of Marin Catholic was picked second team on that regional squad.

Novato Loses In Tourney

I-J Special Report

ANDERSON — Novato High School's basketball team was as cold as ice in the opening game of the Anderson Invitational Tournament last night and fell to Shasta High School, 60-40.

Novato will meet Red Bluff tonight in a consolation game. Red Bluff lost to Yreka 50-29 in another first round game last night.

The Hornets had a 6-6 tie with Shasta halfway in the first quarter and that was as close as things ever were. By the time the first quarter was over, Shasta was in front 15-12, and then outscored Novato 17-8 in the second stanza to take a 32-20 halftime lead. At the three quarter mark it was 46-28.

Novato didn't have anybody in double figures as Hornets missed shot after shot. The Marin Athletic League representative to the tourney made only 16 of 56 shots from the floor for 28.6 per cent. Novato made good on only 8 of 16 shots from the free throw line. Shasta made 45 per cent of its field goal attempts and 70 per cent of its free throws.

Lodi Zubko led Shasta with 16 points, followed by Coby Roberts with 14 and Nolan Abraham with 10. Ev Fritz topped Novato's scorers with nine points. Shasta also beat Novato on the boards, outrebounding the Hornets 49-32.

Scoring summary:

| | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Novato | 12 | 8 | 8 | 12 | 40 |
| Shasta | 15 | 17 | 14 | 14 | 60 |

Feature of tonight's Marin County basketball program is a doubleheader slated for the Redwood High School gym in Larkspur.

Redwood and Drake cage teams, two of the best in the Marin Athletic League this season, will take on Lincoln and Washington, the two best teams in the San Francisco AAA League. The games will be a mighty fine guide on how the MCAL compares with the best in the City League.

Tonight, Drake and Lincoln clash at 7:30, followed by a Redwood-Washington scrap at 9 o'clock. Tomorrow night the teams will change partners, Drake taking on Washington at 7:30 and Redwood hosting Lincoln at 9.

In the only other home game today, Terra Linda hosts Analy in a 4 p.m. engagement. Marin Catholic is at Cubberley High in Palo Alto, 7 p.m., Tamalpais is at Petaluma, 5:30, and Novato is still playing in the Anderson Invitational in Shasta County.

Gillman Isn't Worried

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Coach Sid Gillman said today that the San Diego Chargers are not worried about what appears to be a disastrous showing in signing draft picks.

The American Football League's Western Division champs by yesterday had lost their first six draft picks and Nos. 8 and 9 to the rival National Football League. They have signed only No. 10 of the top ten.

NFL signings of the top three San Diego choices were announced yesterday.

10TH CHOICE

The Chargers have signed their No. 10 choice, Danny Pride, a Tennessee A & I linebacker. The unsigned No. 7 selection is James Tolbert, an end from Lincoln University.

"We don't make a strenuous effort to sign our draft choices every year," said Gillman, who doubles as general manager. "We've had some fine drafts in the past, and they'll hear from us in the future.

"Remember, we'll be moving into the new stadium for the 1967 season. All I can say about next year is watch out!"

Chargers Lose Most Top Draft Choices

By MIKE RATHET

National Football League teams, throwing a 1-2-3 combination from coast to coast, have beaten the American League's San Diego Chargers to their top three draft choices—Don Davis, Nick Rassas and Milt Morin.

Within an hour yesterday the NFL had pulled off the rapid-fire coup this way:

—Davis, a 255-pound defensive tackle from Los Angeles State, was signed in Los Angeles by the New York Giants, who had selected him as their No. 2 pick.

—Rassas, an All-America defensive back at Notre Dame, signed in Atlanta with the NFL's new Falcons, who had made him a second-round selection.

—Morin, a 6-foot-4, 245-pound receiver from the University of Massachusetts, signed in New York with the Cleveland Browns, who had tapped him as their No. 1 choice.

No salary figures were announced but all were believed to be in the six-figure class.

The signings continued the NFL's raid on the San Diego club, added to Atlanta's impressive collection of talent and gave the NFL another boost over the AFL in the number of premier signings.

NFL teams previously had picked off the Chargers' fourth choice, halfback Charles Brown of Syracuse; their fifth choice, Miami halfback Russ Smith, and their eighth selection, linebacker Doug Buffone of Louisville. Brown and Buffone signed with Chicago while Smith went with Atlanta.

The Falcons now have signed five of their first six selections, including the big one—Texas linebacker Tommy Nobis. In addition, they also have signed two of Rassas' Notre Dame teammates, receiver Phil Sheridan and halfback Bill Wolski.

Morin was the 11th of 16 first-round selections to be corraled by the NFL, which has lost only one top choice. Three other No. 1 picks are in bowl games, one player—Illinois' Jim Grabowski—remains unsigned. The AFL's New York Jets signed Oklahoma linebacker Carl McAdams, St. Louis' top choice.

The AFL, on the other hand, has signed five of its 10 first-round picks and lost three to the NFL. Grabowski and Mississippi halfback Mike Dennis still have not been signed.

Picks: Packers To Win Championship

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP) — Green Bay should wrap up the Western Conference title Sunday on the final day of the season if the Packers can generate the same smashing power they showed in beating Baltimore last Sunday.

The battered Colts figure to have their hands full tomorrow against the revived Los Angeles Rams in the Coliseum. Chicago can be expected to pull out all the stops against Minnesota with Gale Sayers going for the scoring title and the Bears still clinging to a hope of a tie for first.

It's the last time around for the Hand-picker. Last week's 8-3 record made it 60-30-1 in the NFL, 28-15-5 in the AFL and 88-45-6 for the season.

Let's try once more: (All games Sunday unless otherwise noted):

NFL

Los Angeles 21, Baltimore 14, Saturday — with Gary Cuozzo out of action, Tom Matte or Ed Brown must carry the load in this nationally televised game over CBS. Colts desperately need this one but must go with inexperienced passer or vet who never has worked with receivers.

Roman Gabriel and Tommy McDonald red hot combo for Rams on three-game win streak. Colts won Oct. 24 game 35-20 on great last quarter by John Unitas. Rams favored.

Green Bay 21, San Francisco 14 — Paul Hornung and Jim Taylor looked like one-two punch of old against Colts and Bart Starr was on beam. Solid Packer defense beat 49ers 27-10 in mid-October but it must be at top level to handle John Brodie-Dave Parks battery. San Francisco offense in high gear but their defense hasn't stopped many. Packers favored.

Washington 28, Pittsburgh 10 — Redskins are trying safety Paul Krause at split end with Pat Richter out and are benching Charley Taylor for George Hugley. Steelers in tough shape have lost six in a row and had nine passes intercepted last week by Eagles. Washington romped 31-3 Nov. 21 and should repeat. Redskins favored.

Chicago 42, Minnesota 21 — All out for the races. Gale Sayers scored six last week and ripped the Vikings for four TDs the first time they saw him Oct. 17 in 45-37 Chicago win. Vikings snapped out of it against Lions but their defense is in for another long afternoon. Bears favored.

New York 28, Dallas 24 — This is for second place and a trip to the Palyoff Bowl at Miami. Giants go if they win or tie. Cowboys must win to get the sun tan. Giants different club from group that bowed in Dallas opened 31-2. Homer Jones gives New York long ball threat plus solid running by Tucker Frederickson and Ernie Koy. Dallas will probably have Don Perkins back but they must do it by air with Bob Hayes the big gun. New York favored.

Cleveland 28, St. Louis 14 — Charley Johnson underwent shoulder operation this week so beat-up Cards must go with Buddy Humphrey. Browns had their letdown in Los Angeles and should be tuning up for Jan. 2 title game. Jim Brown needs TDs to catch up with Sayers. Cleveland favored despite 49-13 beating by St. Louis, Sept. 26.

Philadelphia 17, Detroit 14 — Eagles have more punch, but Lions' rugged defense will make it real tight. Don't be surprised if underdog Detroit scores upset but the home team deserves a slight edge if it can keep Alex Karras and Roger Brown off Norm Snead's back.

AFL

Boston 28, Houston 21 Saturday — George Blanda threw three TDs in Oilers' Sept. 19 victory 31-10, but Pats are moving in stretch and Houston is staggering. If Jets lose to Buffalo, this could be for second place in the East. It's on national television from Boston over NBC. Boston favored.

Buffalo 37, New York 21 — Bills have beaten Jets once in regular season and twice in exhibitions and must stay sharp to be ready for Dec. 26 title game at San Diego. Jets hopeful Matt Snell's ankle will be solid enough to let him play. Buffalo favored.

Oakland 21, San Diego 14 — Chargers without Keith Lincoln, but Paul Lowe needs only 11 yards to top league rushing record. Oakland was in race until last week and Al Davis would like to get even for Sept. 19 defeat by Chargers 17-6. San Diego favored.

Kansas City 31, Denver 21 — Denver will go with Jacky Lee at quarterback, hoping to reverse earlier 31-23 defeat.

Rams Favored To Bury Baltimore

By BOB MYERS

LOS ANGELES (AP)— The Baltimore Colts place all their chips on the table and the Los Angeles Rams hope to rake them in when these National Football League rivals meet in Memorial Coliseum tomorrow.

It's the climactic battle of the 1965 season for the Colts, badly crippled by the loss of their famed and feared quarterback, Johnny Unitas, and also their second string signal caller, Gary Cuozzo.

It is also something of a climax for the celler - bound Rams, who have boomed along to three consecutive victories and suddenly loom as a large factor in the hectic race in the NFL western conference.

The Rams are favored by 6½ points—a tribute to their rejuvenation and, in reverse, the absence of Mr. Unitas. Johnny U. will watch the game from the Colts' bench, his injured knee still in a cast.

As additional insurance Baltimore claimed on waivers from the Pittsburgh Steelers a 12-year NFL veteran quarterback, Ed Brown.

The title picture is this:

If Baltimore wins and Green Bay loses to San Francisco at San Francisco Sunday, Baltimore picks up the chips and faces the eastern division winner, Cleveland, Jan. 2.

If Green Bay wins, the Packers win the division title.

If the Chicago Bears defeat Minnesota at Chicago, and both Green Bay and Baltimore lose, Chicago and Green Bay tie for the title.

Confusing?

Well, so has been the race in the league's wild western section.

The Rams lost eight straight games and in the last defeat also lost their regular quarterback, Bill Munson, via a leg injury.

Alternate Roman Gabriel went into service and Los Angeles knocked off in order Green Bay, St. Louis and Cleveland.

No one can really say why the Rams lost eight in a row but Gabriel, and such backs as Dick Bass, Ben Wilson, Lester Josephson and Willie Brown and the offensive line suddenly jelled.

The defense boasts the best record against rushing in the league, thanks to the massive front four, David Jones, Merlin Olsen, Lamar Lundy and Roosevelt Grier.

The Rams have made no secret they have a score to settle with the Colts. At Baltimore Oct. 24 the Rams led, 20-14, in the fourth quarter.

But Unitas united the Colts and they won, 35-20.

Loser, also, of $1,000 was the Rams' coach, Harland Svare, who, well aware of the consequences and fine from Commissioner Pete Rozelle, waxed critical of the officiating.

Baltimore obviously is at a disadvantage in this rematch. Matte, a veteran halfback, has been converted almost overnight into a quarterback, a position in which he has called seven plays as a pro.

Matte quarterbacked at Ohio State. But that was five years ago and the quarterback requirements of Coach Woody Hayes are somewhat different than pro ball, like night and day.

Matte, Lenny Moore, Jimmy Orr, Raymond Berry and the Colts' offense, and their admittedly strong defensive platoon, have a big job ahead.

NEW YORK (AP) — Oakland center Jim Otto, who has been on the players' all-star team every year the American Football League has been in existence, made it for the sixth time today.

Another repeater was Kansas City's Jerry Mays — but at a different position. Mays, who was selected as a defensive tackle last year, was selected this time for his play as a defensive end.

Buffalo's Eastern Division champions placed seven players on the team, picked by the players in the league. San Diego's Western Division champions were next with four. Players selected automatically are eligible for the AFL All-Star Bowl at Houston, Jan. 15.

TENNESSEE FAVORED IN BLUEBONNET TV BOWL

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — "We are expecting a 38-37 game and expect to score the 38," said Glenn Dobbs, coach of Tulsa, on the Bluebonnet Bowl game with Tennessee scheduled tomorrow.

Doug Dickey, coach of Tennessee, wasn't that strong but he observed that no one had held Tulsa to less than two touchdowns and "I figure we will need 15 points at the least."

But he wasn't as positive about his team doing the most scoring, although he did not forecast defeat.

Thus, the battle lines were drawn today for the seventh annual Bluebonnet Bowl in which the favorite never has won.

Tennessee is the favorite here by seven points.

Both coaches have injuries to key men to worry them but Dickey said, "Let's not even talk about injuries — we are playing the game with what we have, there is no point in discussing what might have been."

Dobbs said his massive tackle, Willie Townes, who was ailing with a charley horse, wouldn't start but would play some, perhaps a lot. Townes was the outstanding lineman of last year when Tulsa beat Mississippi 14-7.

"Willie is resting," Dobbs grinned. "I think he will be out there to block a pass or two. He does it so easy."

A crowd of 60,000, barring bad weather, is predicted for the game set for Rice University Stadium at 11:15 a.m., PST.

The game matches the mightiest passing combination in the country — Bill Anderson to Howard Twilley — against one of the nation's point-stingiest teams until it met UCLA in the last game of the season. Then the Vols went all out offensively and wound up the season in style with a 37-34 victory.

Namath Wins Top Honor For Rookies

By MIKE RATHET

NEW YORK (AP) — "That's real nice," said Joe Namath when he was informed that he had been selected Rookie of the Year in the American Football League.

"You must have run out of candidates."

And so, using the defense mechanism — the quick retort — that he has employed in accepting praise throughout the season while trying to avoid appearing immodest, the likeable $400,000 quarterback of the New York Jets accepted his latest honors.

Namath was selected yesterday by an Associated Press panel of 24 sports writers — three from each league city — and was a landslide winner with 18 votes to three for the runner-up, Denver linebacker John Bramlett.

Only three others received votes, running back Wendell Hayes of Denver and defensive back Kent McCloughan and linebacker Gus Otto, both of Oakland.

Half-Mantle Still Worth Full Salary

NEW YORK (AP) — Even if he plays only half time, Yankee super-star Mickey Mantle will continue to collect $100,000 a year from the New York club, says General Manager Ralph Houk.

"I can't see ever cutting Mantle after what he's been to baseball," said Houk yesterday after indicating several of the former American League champions would have their salaries slashed.

"As long as he plays he will receive the same money. Fellows like that, no matter what you pay them, somewhere along the line they have been underpaid. You make it up to them toward the end."

Houk said Mantle's career could be prolonged if he is given rest periods and had his spots picked for him.

"I'd like to see him play for three more years, and I believe we can do it by picking spots from him to play," said Houk. "Mickey just has to realize he can't play every day. If he realizes that, he can do a better job when he does play."

The 34-year-old switch hitter, plagued by injuries, slumped to 19 homers, 46 runs batted in and .255 in 122 games.

In 1964, Mantle had one of his better years, hitting .303, with 35 homers and 111 RBI.

Marin Man Named To Racing Post

Appointment of Lee Darragh as full-time public relations director for Golden Gate Fields and Tanforan Racing Association was announced yesterday by General Manager Bob Gunderson.

Darragh, who lives in Mill Valley, entered the public relations field after graduating from the University of Pittsburg in 1954.

During the past year and a half Darragh has been employed as head of Public Relations and Advertising for the Draper Companies in San Francisco.

Documentary For Worst Gridder?

It was the usual thing of that kind: Mike Garrett, momentarily fumbling the ball in the end zone, and then running through the entire Stanford or Cal or Penn State team (or somebody, you get confused on documentaries); Mike Garrett, dancing through the USC line, demonstrating terrific peripheral vision or peripheral footwork or something; Mike Garrett getting the Heisman Trophy. And so on.

It shows Mike doing everything but passing freshman English or graduating. And that's fine with me. Because Mike Garrett just happens to be not only a fine athlete but a finer human being.

BUT I wonder sometimes why these documentaries don't zero in on an athlete who's untypical in another direction, the all-purpose "Who's he?" of college ball, the guy who gets in the record book only for "yards lost from scrimmage" or "fumbles" or "passes had intercepted." The number on his back is zero in honor of his lifetime touchdowns, and, if you made his life story in a movie, it would be a part for Joe E. Brown, not Jim.

AS THE house lights dim, a football field comes fuzzily into focus and a team in gold uniforms with $ signs on their helmets comes shakily into view—shakily because they are getting belted all over the field by their opposition, Coalminers' Tech of Pennsylvania. This is Croesus University, the oldest institution of higher learning in the Ivy League, 44 future bond salesmen with a sprinkling of youngsters who will be high draft choices of Madison Ave. Their leader is Reggie Van Rensselaer, the only player on either team who sleeps on monogrammed sheets and plays with an engraved football. His cleats are from Tiffany's and he is most famous for leaning across the line of scrimmage once against Coalminers' Tech and inquiring honestly, "Tell me—what is coal?"

THE NARRATOR proudly identifies him. "Ladies and gentlemen, Channel Zero proudly presents a half-hour of the highlights in the life of a man who has been unanimously acclaimed the worst football player in the history of the game—a man who has won every honor for ineptitude known to the sport—150 pounds of cowardice and indecision, Mr. Inconsistency.

"It was coach Duffy Danehy himself who said of Reggie, 'If it weren't for Reggie Van Rensselaer, Croesus would be just another football team. If it weren't for Reggie, they would have scored a first down or made the line of scrimmage or possibly even scored some points'."

"OBSERVE HOW Reggie takes the ball from the center. You Will notice he stands 27 yards behind the line of scrimmage. This is an innovation the coach put in because Reggie cannot catch a ball from the center on the fly and he was constantly hit on the nose with it.

"Notice how Reggie neatly ignores his interference and cuts the wrong way with the ball. This is not trickiness, this is near-sightedness. You have heard of 'peripheral vision?' Well, Reggie can't even see straight ahead.

"NOTICE THE technique in fumbling. Lots of guys fumble when hit by a tackler. Reggie fumbles when hit with the ball—or a shaft of sunlight. He has the surest hands in the league. He is sure to fumble everything thrown straight at him, handed to him, above his head or below his knees. He is the most versatile fumbler in the history of the game. The water boy even has to hold his cup for him.

"Notice here how he is looking for an opening. He is running backward so as to get a better perspective on it. Now observe how deftly he steps into his own end zone and gets tackled for a safety and two points for the opposition. This is the thing Reggie does better than any athlete who ever lived. He is the leading scorer on four of the teams which played him this year. In fact, the only points Croesus scored in his career were safeties. They rolled up 78 points last year—two at a time. He made every all-opponents' team in the conference simply because he was their high scorer when he played them.

"HE IS THE complete football player, a triple threat man. He is a threat to his own team no matter what he does. He can lose yardage—and the ball—on a pass, a punt or a run. As coach Vince Lombardi recommends, he 'runs to daylight.' Daylight, of course, is always the opposite way from the line of scrimmage and that's where Reggie runs. The object of the game is to get the ball in the end zone and score. Reggie does this more often than Jim Brown. The fact it is his own end zone, he considers a quibble.

"Reggie will not be a high draft choice of the pros. He is, in fact, going into the stock market. He will, of course, be an expert at selling short."

WARRIOR VS. BALL HAWK

San Francisco Warrior Nate Thurmond (42) failed to get rebound as St. Louis Hawks' Zelmo Beaty stole ball during game in Oakland Auditorium Wednesday night. Warriors won game and will return to their home court at S.F. Civic Auditorium tonight against the same Hawks starting at 8:30 o'clock. (UPI Telephoto)

Richey Gains In Tennis Rankings

NEW YORK (AP) — Cliff Richey, of the tennis playing family from Dallas, made the biggest jump in the new men's ranking list.

The young Texan zoomed from 11th to third, rating just behind Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., and Arthur Ashe of Los Angeles in the list released yesterday by the ranking committee of the U.S. Lawn Tennis Assn.

Ralston retained his No. 1 position although Ashe, the college champion, has been the hottest American on the courts of late. Rankings, however, are based on 1965 performances.

Mrs. Billie Jean Moffitt King, a recent bride, replaced Cliff's sister, Nancy, as the No. 1 female player in the women's rankings released two weeks ago. Mrs. King is from Long Beach, Calif.

Others in the men's top ten include: 4, Chuck McKinley, Port Washington, N.Y. 5, Charles Pasarell, San Juan, Puerto Rico. 6, Hamilton Richardson, Dallas. 7, Mike Belkin, Miami Beach. 8, Martin Riessen, Evanston, Ill. 9, Ron Holmberg, Baytown, Tex. 10, Tom Edlefsen, Los Angeles.

Riessen and Clark Graebner, of Beechwood, Ohio, were ranked first in doubles. McKinley and Ralston, the top tandem a year ago, were ranked second.

Seals Host Shorthanded Maple Leafs

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Although the fourth-place San Francisco Seals are 20 points back of Western Hockey League leading Victoria, it's the Maple Leafs who are worrying as they come in for a two-game series starting tonight.

Recalls by the parent Toronto team in the National Hockey League and other squad reductions have left the Leafs with only three defensemen.

Veteran Leaf center Eddie Litzenberger has gone to Rochester of the American Hockey League in a deal predicated upon the return to Victoria of Larry Keenan, who missed the first 16 games because of a operation.

The Seals actually have not rolled over on the ice for the Leafs this season, tying them twice in three games. Those are the only ties in an 18-4-2 record for the Leafs, whose four losses all have been on the road. The Seals are 8-11-2 with 18 points, five behind third-place Vancouver.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

LOS ANGELES — Andy Gonzalez, 139½, Pittsburgh, outpointed Bernie Magallanes, 141, Los Angeles, 8; Zeke Perez, 149, Denver, Colo., and Frank Jennings, 149, Compton, Calif., 8, draw.
